Gen. Gonzalez, Former Presidential Candidate, Arrested in Monterey

Report That Order Came From Pres. Huerta—Immediate Trial

MEXICO CITY, July 15.—Gen. Pablo Gonzalez, former candidate for the presidency and alleged leader of the abortive revolution in the state of Nuevo Leon, whose capture was reported today, will be placed on trial immediately, according to official announcement. The government has appointed Gen. Francisco Coss of Saltillo, Enrique Estrada of Zacatecas and Joaquin Amaro of Torreon as members of the court, according to the newspaper Excelsior.

Gen. Gonzalez's whereabouts were discovered last night, but he resisted arrest, claiming those who sought to apprehend him did not carry warrants for their action. The house where he was lodging was searched all night, officials in the meantime obtaining a warrant to take him into custody. One version of the incident states he was found hiding in the cellar of the house this morning.

WARNED AGAINST COAL CONFISCATION

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Railroads of the country were warned today by the interstate commerce commission to refrain from confiscating coal consigned to government departments and to common carriers and to other public utilities. No indication of what action would be taken to put an end to the practice was given by the commission.

THANKS, VERY MUCH!

We have received a signed communication which is too good to be lost and which we print in part:

"I have been much taken by the every day reading of your bank advertisements and this piece seemed so good and so apt that I thought that if you published it, that it would hit some young men just right. You see it seems to hit them at the right angle. Hoping you will see the matter in the same light I do, I am

Thankfully yours,

WHO GETS THE GIRL?

"Mary is good to look at, cheerful, wholesome, full of life. Being human she loves flowers, chocolates, music, dancing and pretty clothes. She likes to go places."

"Because she is the kind of girl that will make an ideal wife Mary has a heart as well as a head. She knows what she wants and she knows what a husband ought to be. To him she will look for support, protection, provision."

"Consequently the man who wins Mary will be the man who wins money in the bank. Not because she values money above manhood; far from it. But because money in the bank, put there out of a fellow's earnings, is the surest proof of manhood, of dependable character, of ability to manage. That money says: 'Here is a man that knows where he is going. He will have these dollars for use whenever he needs them. He will have funds to invest to make more money. He is a business man. He will prosper. You can trust him with your future.'"

"That is the man for Mary. That is the sort of man that every wise girl will pick out. For married life isn't all ice cream sodas, House and furniture, food and clothes. You can't live without them, and the young fellow who wants to marry but has lacked the wisdom to provide ahead is doomed to be a poor provider."

"Young man, are you prepared to be the husband of the girl you love?"

TELEPHONES OUT OF COMMISSION

Between 2000 and 2500 Telephones Disabled by Yesterday's Storm

Will Take Some Time to Get Service Back to Normal

BETWEEN 2000 and 2500 telephones were out of commission in Lowell and its vicinity today as a result of yesterday's electrical storm. Over 800 lines are affected. Every available man in the employ of the local station of the New England Telephone & Telegraph company has been pressed into service in the "trouble" gang that is seeking to repair the damages occasioned by the downpour and attendant thunder and lightning. According to General Manager Charles J. Leathers, four or five days will be required to get the wires back into normal working condition. Toll lines were only slightly affected and are working today very nearly as usual.

The storm, according to Mr. Leathers, was the most severe in its effects on the telephone service of any that has visited this section since 1906. He states that its destructive energy was almost wholly confined to the urban area of Lowell and that the surrounding towns suffered but little from it.

There are about 14,000 lines under the control of the local telephone exchange. These comprise not only the wires in Lowell, but also those in Tyngsboro, Chelmsford, Billerica, Burlington, Wilmington and Tewksbury. The average number of calls going through the office is 140,000 a day and these are handled by 138 operators. Looking after the apparatus that makes the general talker possible is a man's job in normal times, but, it was stated by Manager Leathers to a Sun reporter this morning, it has been a somewhat more difficult thing to do than usual lately on account of the humidity in the atmosphere.

CAMBRIDGE, July 16.—The first of the trials which will determine the complexion of the United States track and field team at the Olympic games were held today in the Harvard stadium. With the junior national championship meeting of 15 events as a curtain-raiser, the preliminary heats of the combined Olympic tryouts and national senior championships were advanced by the Olympic committee from the program of tomorrow to late afternoon today. Trials for the big games were held in all running events short of the mile and brought into action the greatest field of sprinters ever gathered in this country. AMERICAN SHOT IN BATTLE

Chicago Y. M. C. A. Worker Was With Polish Army Near Minsk

Killed While Loading Supplies—Capt. Cooper, Air Service, Missing

WARSAW, July 15 (By Associated Press).—One American has been killed and another is missing in the battle between the Poles and the Russian Bolsheviks in the region of Minsk, according to reports from the front. Alexander Uczewek of Chicago, a Y. M. C. A. worker, with the Polish army, was shot and killed by a Bolshevik attired in a Polish uniform, and Capt. Merion Cooper of Jacksonville, Fla., has been missing four days since starting on an airplane reconnaissance. Uczewek was loading American supplies to be taken to the rear when he was killed. Capt. Cooper, a member of the Kosciuszko squadron, was recently mentioned as the successor of Major Cedric Fauntleroy as commander of that famous body of aviators. Members of the squadron believe Capt. Cooper is safe, as most of his flights have been above open country and he may have been forced to land within Polish lines.

FIRE DESTROYS CHURCH IN WEST CHELMSFORD

The West Chelmsford Methodist church located a short distance from Nabasset pond was burned to the ground early this morning and several homes in the immediate vicinity of the church were threatened with destruction, but were saved by members of the local fire department. It is believed the fire was started by a cigarette butt carelessly thrown in the wood shed in the rear of the building last night in the course of a lawn party.

The blaze in the wood shed was discovered by an engineer on a freight train at about 3:30 o'clock and he sent out a warning. William Miller and Elmer Trull, residents of the district rushed to the church and after Continued to Page 11

FEW OF FORTY-EIGHTERS STILL PERSISTENT

CHICAGO, July 16.—Formation of another new party was considered here this morning by members of the committee of 48 who dissented from the decision of their convention, which adjourned last night without naming a national ticket. Among those disagreeing with the majority conclusion to launch no new party at this time and going into conference on the question were Allen McCurdy, secretary of the committee of 48 and keynote speaker at the opening of its convention here last week, and Judge Wray of Nebraska.

One of the points of disagreement between the group meeting this morning and the line of action adopted by the convention yesterday was the refusal of the convention to endorse or condemn the new farmer-labor party. Mr. McCurdy had taken a vigorous attitude in opposition to the platform of the farmer-labor party.

This morning's conference marks the third bolt of the week, non-partisan league delegates to the committee of 48 from South Dakota first abandoning it for the labor party convention, members of the committee of 48 later quitting the farmer-labor party and today's group finding itself out of accord with the last action of the forty-eighters.

Lowell Man Charged With Larceny of Auto Held for Superior Court.

Narcisse Plourde, pleading not guilty to a complaint charging him with drunkenness and operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, was found guilty in police court this morning before Judge Enright and ordered to pay a fine of $10 for drunkenness and to serve one month in the house of correction on the second count. He appealed and furnished $300 bail for superior court. Officers Ruffer and Foggia made the arrest at 9 o'clock one evening about two weeks ago at Rock and Willie streets. Made Public Today

The names of the 25 young women who attained the highest ranks at the annual examination for teachers given at the Lowell high school a few weeks ago by officials of the Worcester school department were made public at a special meeting of the school committee held this noon at city hall. These 25 young women were elected permanent substitutes to be appointed as the needs of the department require. Young, assistant superintendent of the Worcester schools. They remained sealed until today's meeting.

COWS GET "KICK" OUT OF MOONSHINE

DURHAM, N. C., July 16.—John King, a farmer, living near this city, last night found 2 of his cows lying on the ground of their pasture in a stupor, apparently suffering from some strange malady. A veterinarian was called, and after examination, pronounced both animals "heavily" drunk. A search for the cause led to the discovery of a big "moonshine" still in a secluded corner of the pasture. The cows had eaten a quantity of the mash used by the illicit whiskey manufacturers.

Germany Seeks Explanation of Certain Articles in Allied Note on Terms of Coal Deliveries

Ultimatum Favored in Principle, Say Berlin Delegates, But Stipulation That Ruhr Valley Will Be Occupied Unless Fuel Amount Aggregates Six Million Tons by Oct. 15, Rumored to Be Stumbling Block to Complete Acceptance.

SPA, Belgium, July 15.—(By Associated Press).—The German delegates at the conference here have agreed in principle with the terms submitted to them by the allies as to Germany's deliveries of coal, but will ask for the explanation of certain articles in the allied note. They made this announcement just before entering into conference with the allied ministers this afternoon.

The German delegation at the conference here sent word to the supreme council this morning that the German reply would not be ready before 6 o'clock this afternoon.

The reply was due at 11 o'clock this morning. From what could be learned, the thing that was standing in the way of acceptance by the Germans of the allied terms was the clause providing for occupation of the Ruhr valley unless the coal deliveries reached a total of six million tons by October 15.

Dr. Walter Simons, the German foreign minister, told his colleagues when they met to confer over the allied conditions that this subject had not been mentioned during his conversation with Premier Lloyd George and Millerand yesterday, when a verbal agreement was virtually reached. The Germans it appears, were greatly annoyed to find it in the text of the terms handed them in the note of last night.

POLICEMEN AMBUSHED

One Killed When Patrol is Attacked Near Lanesborough, Ireland

DUBLIN, July 15.—A police patrol was ambushed near Lanesborough last night, one officer being killed instantly by the first volley. His companion, who was wounded, returned the fire of his assailants until his ammunition was exhausted, using the body of his dead companion as a breastwork.

The West Meath county council has ordered all court houses in the county closed and the government officials evicted. It has directed the Irish republican army to prevent magistrates and other government officers entering these buildings in future, asserting that the Sinn Fein courts have superseded these functionaries.

BELFAST, Ireland, July 16.—The district council of Moira, in the Ulster county of Down, today rejected the appeal of the Larkin release committee that it join in efforts to obtain the release of James Larkin, head of the Transport Workers' union, who recently was convicted in the United States of criminal anarchy and sentenced to from five to 10 years' imprisonment.

The council passed a resolution declaring Larkin's conviction just and righteous and the sentence no more severe than his conduct earned him. A copy of the resolution will be sent to the United States government.

Bolt Goes From Roof to Cellar—Children Have Narrow Escape

Six children had a narrow escape yesterday noon when, during the electrical storm, a bolt entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Beaudry in Stewart avenue, Kenwood, Dracut. One of them, Wanda Basick, aged about 14 years, was stunned, but soon revived and today she is none the worse for her experience. The potato chip factory of William Hebert at 223 Avon street was struck by lightning yesterday noon. One of the employees of the plant, Peter Carreter, who was at work at the time, was lifted from his feet and thrown outside through the door, but escaped with but a few scratches. The other two men were stunned but unhurt. The bolt struck the foundation of the two-story wooden building and after circling around the cellar worked its way through the floor to the first story, throwing over a very large iron kettle filled with boiling lard. The foundation of the building was badly damaged and the walls of the first floor were shattered in places.

His message: "On the eve of the anniversary of the glorious American victory at Chateau Thierry it is a great pleasure for me to send to the American Legion Weekly a token of the high admiration this heroic stand kindled in my heart and to renew tribute of our everlasting gratitude for the heroes who fell on this fifteenth of July, 1918, for the common cause."

Are Women Naturally Despondent?

A prominent writer so claims. Women are constituted with a delicate organism and in nine cases out of ten mental depression may be attributed to an abnormal condition of the system, which expresses itself in nervousness, sleeplessness, backaches, headaches, causing constant misery and as a result despondency. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a simple remedy made from roots and herbs, is the one great remedy for this condition. It goes to the root of the trouble and overcomes despondency.—Adv.

MOORE AS COX MANAGER

His Convention Battle Recommends Ohio Man to Party Leaders

BY MAX STERN.
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—The greatest little fighter in the United States.

This is the reputation held and once more lived up to by Hon. Edmund H. Moore, known to his friends as "Ed," and to the democratic convention as the man who skippered the ship of Governor Cox through the stormiest waters that have ruffled the democratic party since the Baltimore convention in 1912.

"Well," he sighed as he sat at breakfast the morning after the nomination opening a stack of congratulatory telegrams, "it sure was a hard fight. We haven't any fingernails left. We were hanging on so long with 'em. Everything is looking fine. The administration forces which fought us are in the finest spirits. Just had a visit from Tom Love, and we're all pulling together for the great victory in November."

For Moore thrives on a fight against odds. At the age of 31 in 1898 he was carried on the shoulders of his fellow citizens of Youngstown, Ohio, after being elected democratic mayor in a republican city, an achievement he repeated again in four years. Incidentally, while Ed was being mayor of Youngstown, his father, also an old democratic war horse, was mayor of Canfield.

He started out at the age of 17 to teach school, and at the age of 21 was admitted to the bar. When Bryan arose as prophet of free silver Moore espoused his cause and managed the Bryan campaign for his county. In 1912 he was Gov. Harmon's manager. In 1910 he was Sen. Pomeroy's right hand, and he has twice successfully managed the Cox for governor campaign.

His political genius is so recognized by the leaders of the party that while there were two ex-governors of Ohio, both over 70, in the Ohio delegation, everyone deferred to Moore. He seemed ubiquitous among the delegations on the floor during the long battle of ballots, and the way he nursed the Cox strength from 134 votes in the first to victory in the 11th ballot, was a revelation to even the old timers.

Moore has refused several important political posts. He prefers his own profession in the law. But when his party needed him as organizer in a hot campaign, he has never failed. His loyalty, good nature and general likableness, coupled with a genuine belief in the liberal ideals of Ohio's governor, lead the party leaders here to believe that he will not refuse to carry the fight for Cox to the people of the nation in the coming months.

QUAINT FROCK REMINDS ONE OF LONG AGO

New York's Fashion Authority
NEW YORK, July 16.—Very likely you have a picture somewhere in the family of a great-grandmother when she was a girl, all dressed up in a frock quite like this one—white dotted Swiss trimmed with narrow black valencienne lace insertion, a shirred tucker, a pointed basque laced with narrow velvet ribbon and short sleeves.

A New York designer made it for Juliette Scott, the Fashions' star, and the idea of it has created quite a sensation so that "Daguerreotype" frocks promise to develop into a fad. As for the black lace, it is always quaint used with white but the designers today are not stopping at black but making use of dyes to introduce colored effects in similar ways.

Also Stops All Itching of Eczema Almost Immediately

"I felt it my duty to write you a letter of thanks for your wonderful Peterson's Ointment. I had a running sore on my left leg for one year. I began to use Peterson's Ointment three weeks ago and now it is healed. I'd rather get a letter like this, says Peterson of Buffalo, than have John D. Rockefeller give me a thousand dollars. It does me a lot of good to be able to be of use to my fellow man. For years I have been selling through druggists a large box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT for 25 cents. The healing power in this ointment is marvelous. Eczema goes in a few days. Old sores heal up like magic; piles that other remedies do not seem to even relieve are speedily conquered. It stops itching in five minutes and for roads and burns it is simply wonderful. Much orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv."

and from which a great food supply of high importance is drawn, is doomed to extinction unless the consumption of salmon can be balanced by artificial propagation. And efforts in that direction have thus far fallen short of success.

Prof. John N. Cobb, director of the College of Fisheries of the University of Washington and formerly the representative of the United States bureau of fisheries in Alaska, says that salmon will commercially be in the class with the buffalo unless some thing intervenes.

Dies After Spawning

"Salmon are peculiarly exposed to the peril of extinction," Prof. Cobb explained, "because the bulk of this fish is taken during the spawning runs. The adult fish, after growing to maturity in the open sea, ascends fresh water rivers to spawn at the age of four years, and after spawning, dies. Fishermen and packers are well aware of the unrestricted catching of salmon would presently put them out of business, but hatchery projects and protection periods have been more than offset by the expansion of the fishing industry in response to market demand."

The pack of salmon reached its high mark during the war. Last year, the output of all canneries on the Pacific, including those in Japan, British Columbia and Siberia, was $540,514 cases. Americans produced 6,630,347 cases of this amount. A case contains 15 one-pound cans.

Salmon Mystery Fish

In all the rivers of the entire Pacific coast of North America, the mysterious life-cycles of the five species of salmon are completed under varying conditions. But whatever the spawning habit of a given species in any water, the taking of each salmon means the destruction of a large quantity of spawn. The taking of salmon is forbidden during specified days of each week to permit a percentage to reach the spawning beds and in addition the hatcheries plant millions of spawn each season.

But man is cutting into nature's reserves faster than he is replenishing them.

It is predicted that within ten years an abrupt slump in the catch may put an end to the industry.

Simple Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it; then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and itching of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Adv.

I took RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women, four years ago, before my marriage, as at the time I was suffering from general debility. Eight boxes of RED PILLS were sufficient, as under their influence, I began to pick up nicely and soon was enjoying the best of health.

Two months ago I was made very anaemic by a long sickness. I still remembered RED PILLS, however, and as soon as I was out of bed, although still suffering and very weak, I started to take them again. I can safely say that it is due to the excellent results which I obtained from their use that I am to-day strong and well.—Mrs. H. Allard, 67 Brook Street, Woonsocket, R.I.

Women who are suffering from Anaemia have pains in the back and sides, have little appetite, and their stomach is unable to digest the food they eat.

The least effort, or the least work which they are called upon to do quickly exhausts them, and they are unable to look after their daily duties without suffering much pain and misery.

One generally meets women suffering from Anaemia amongst those who have to work too hard, mothers of large families, who have not given themselves the necessary care, all girls suffering from poverty of blood. Anaemia is a hard disease, and very common amongst women.

RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women give strength and purify the blood. They help anaemic sufferers and rid them of the usual headaches, and pains which as a rule accompany Anaemia.

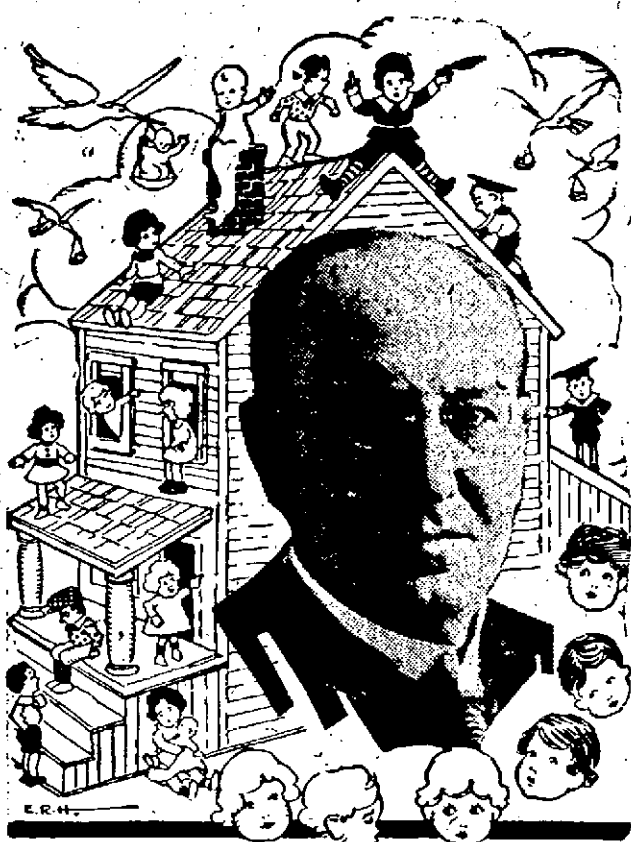

RED PILLS are sold in boxes of 50 pills, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes, $2.50. If they are not at your merchant's they will be sent to you by mail on receipt of price.—Franco American Chemical Company Limited, 212 Milk Street, Boston.

I was a victim of anaemia. During eight years I had been gradually losing strength, and was beginning to think I would never enjoy good health, as I was completely run-down. I had palpitations and flutterings of the heart, could scarcely eat any food and suffered from constipation. These symptoms, together with constant pains in the sides, back and stomach made my life very miserable, and at times even impeded my respiration.

I was advised by one of my neighbors to try RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women. This woman praised them so highly that I in turn became confident and have been using them for the past two months. I find it hard to express my gratitude for the good they have done me.—Mrs. Theophile Brien, 79 Division St., Central Falls, R.I.

If You Haven't Any Children You
Needn't Come Around, Fulkerson's Motto

WALTER P. FULKERSON

N.E.A. Staff Special
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 15.—"May his tribe increase!"

This is the substance of hundreds of letters of praise received by Walter P. Fulkerson, banker, since his announcement a few days ago that he would build houses for people with children; that only those who had children could rent his homes; that newlyweds who had no child at the end of a year must give way to those in whose home the happy laughter of little children rang.

Fulkerson has received from 300 to 200 letters from Maine to California praising him as a pilot who is blazing forth the dawn of a better day for children.

And his office in the bank of Buchanan county, of which he is president, is the scene of a continuous stream of visitors who want a house—a home where children will be welcome, where they may bring up their kiddies in a decent community and start them in life's struggle at least not with the handicap so many are now forced to bear through baulishment to homes none would live in, except as a last resort.

Fulkerson is simply a plain, straight-forward American business man who wants to do his bit. For

NEW YORK. If you are feeling rundown, weak, nervous, tired in the morning, and generally ailing, these are the symptoms that should warn you to take care of your health.

Four persons in every ten are needing more phosphorus in their bodies.
When you see thin and fretful people;
or those who are anemic, pale, frail, oft dependent or lacking in energy, you may look for the need of certain elements that make for a strong constitution.

Some people, after relying upon preparations composed chiefly of salts, quinine, drastic drugs, iron, calomel, cod-liver oil, etc., wonder why they did no benefit. That is easily explained by the fact that such persons need the phosphoric element, which is a most potent essential to health and contained in BITRO-PHOSPHATE, the famous health preparation. Now obtainable everywhere.

The right thing for you to do is

WORST FLYING WEATHER OF HIS CAREER

TOKIO, July 15.—Lieut. Ferrarin, one of the two famous Italian aviators who flew from Rome to Tokio, encountered such rough air conditions while crossing the length of Korea that they made him seasick. The tempest met in the Hakone mountains was unparalleled.

"In my entire flying experience," he said, "I had never before met with such conditions. The air was so disturbed over Korea that the machine pitched like a small boat in a heavy swell, and for the first time in my life I knew what it was to be seasick. As soon as I reached the straits, where an escort of Japanese destroyers was waiting for me, the air conditions improved and the rest of my flight to Tokio, except for the storm in the Hakone, was made in ideal weather."

One of the most difficult parts of his flight to Tokio, he explained, was between Rangoon and Bangkok where very heavy fogs were encountered, making it difficult to keep on the course. Between Hanoi and Hanoi, Lieut. Ferrarin was forced to follow a train for about three hours in order to keep on the right course.

"The most exciting part of my trip occurred in Asia Minor," he said, "about 100 miles from Aleppo I was subjected to heavy machine gun fire by the Arab rebels. Again in Baluchistan, when I was forced to land on account of minor engine trouble, I was captured by the natives, imprisoned and not allowed to leave until I succeeded in establishing my identity.
They thought I was a British aviator, but when they learned I was an Italian,
I was liberated."

Years he has been known in St. Joe as a "community builder."

I didn't know what I started when I made my announcement," he said. "I'd been thinking a long time about the way landlords place a premium on childlessness. I never could see anything wrong in children. I have two mighty fine children myself. Their mother is dead.

"I've been in school board work for a long time—guess because I'm rather good-natured and like dealing in problems of the children. When other business men begged off with the excuse they were too busy, they always turned to me. Then, subconsciously, I suppose, what Theodore Roosevelt preached on race suicide helped plant the idea.

Fulkerson explained that he had read in a local paper, an advertisement of homes for rent with these two words in big type: "NO CHILDREN."

"Next day I talked with a local newspaper man," said Fulkerson. "Why, that ad is an insult to all children. I told him. What have children done to deserve such sweeping condemnation?
I told him I believed I would build a bunch of houses in one of our best residential districts for no one but families with children. That was the announcement."

Fulkerson took me out in his car to view the houses he is building. They are in an attractive district just off
St. Joe's "Lover's Lane," that Eugene
Field longer for and made famous.

Each will cost about $550, exclusive of lot. They will rent for from $40 to $50. The houses—he plans to build 35—will face a beautiful park. A fine school is nearby. The houses will be real homes in every sense of the word—gardens, room for a tennis court, etc.

"The other system's all wrong. It forces families to turn to race suicide.
If others here and in every city will follow me I will feel I have been amply rewarded."

When the stock visits one of Fulkson's houses, that month's rent is to be returned.

A Sure Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Adv.

PATROLMAN SEEKS REIMBURSEMENT

Mayer Perry D. Thompson gave a hearing in his reception room at city hall this forenoon to Patrolman Michael O'Connell on his petition for reimbursement for time lost as the result of an accident alleged to have been suffered while he was on duty in South Lowell on April 7, 1919.

Several witnesses testified at the hearing including Supt. Redmond Welch of the police department, Sergt. Thomas McClaughry, Patrolman Owen J. Tansey, Constable Ezra E. Mansur and Patrolman O'Connell. The alleged accident was caused by Patrolman O'Connell's falling into a well near the home of Peter Gray in Woburn street, South Lowell, on the date in question when in company with Sergt. McClaughry and Patrolman Tansey he went to the Gray property to protect Constable Mansur from anticipated assault. The testimony brought out at this morning's hearing indicated that Patrolman O'Connell had been instructed to go to the rear of the house to call a truckman to remove belongings of Mr. Gray and in doing so stepped into the well which was concealed by wire netting. He suffered serious injury to his leg and clothing and was incapacitated for 23 days.

The mayor took the matter under advisement and will give his decision in a week or so.

TENANTS FACE BIG
INCREASE IN RENT

Tenants of the Eldred building in Merrimack street, one of the largest office buildings in the city, have just been notified by the new owners, Charles and James Brown of Providence and Lawrence, of an increase in rent effective August 15 ranging from 100 to 125 per cent.

The building has only recently passed into the hands of the new owners and the increase, which will go into effect next month, will be the second within a year, the other owners having increased the rental fees during the past winter.

Some of the small offices where the rent has been $20 per month, will pay $44 beginning August 15. Other offices where the rent has been $24 will call for a $35 monthly payment under the new rates. The previous rate amounted to about 25 per cent. As far as can be learned, only one office, that of a prominent law firm, is exempt from the August increase, as its tenants succeeded in securing an extended option at the old rates when the new owners took over the building.

FOUGHT FOR FIVE HOURS AT MONTEREY

BROWNVILLE, Tex., July 16.—Rebels under Gen. Grimes Villareal, who attacked Monterey Wednesday morning, fought for five hours before they were repulsed, according to details reaching here.

The attacking body numbered about 200 men.

The first fighting occurred at the Golfo railroad station, where a trainload of federal soldiers, with their women and children, were caught asleep and killed.

Telephones Out

blows on the telephone service, regardless of whether or not there are electrical storms. Often on a morning at this time of year, as many as 500 people will take down their receivers to call "central" and find that there is no response from the other end of the line. This does not indicate that the hello girl is asleep, but that there is trouble caused by too much moisture in the air. The normal number of cases that go to the "trouble desk" each day, at this time of the year, is at least 200. Last Saturday, this number was multiplied several fold and very nearly a new record was established.

The way in which General Humidity causes trouble, as explained by Manager Leathers, is by affecting the carbon protectors that are installed on every line to prevent destructive currents from getting into a house over the line either from crosses with high tension light or power wires or from currents in the air during storms.

These protectors, that are commonly located in cellars, are made up of two pieces of carbon with a piece of mica, 1-500 of an inch in thickness between them. Normally, the telephone current passes around this protector. A heavy current, however, causes the pieces of carbon to come into contact and the current is thereby grounded. The same thing happens when the carbons absorb an abnormal quantity of moisture from the atmosphere.

Several Kinds of Protectors

There are two sets of carbon protectors on every line, one in the central station and the other in the home. There are also several other protectors on every line. These include a heating-coil protector in the central plant and fuse protectors on the poles and in the houses. The carbon protectors are installed for the purpose of catching and cutting out what are called "sneak" currents that might get past the fusable plugs.

The damages resulting from yesterday's storm were not confined to either particular kind of protector. In some cases, fuses were burned out and in others the carbon protectors went by the board. The only way in which the nature of the trouble can be corrected is by a careful inspection of each line.

For the purpose of making repairs the city is divided into districts and a gang of men is placed in each district with instructions to go carefully and thoroughly over the section assigned to them and clean up every case of interference with the service in their particular territory. This morning 13 men were out in the "trouble" gang that is working under the supervision of Wire Chief Wilfred R. Johnson.

"It will not be possible," said Manager Leathers this morning, "to send men especially to look after individual instances where telephones are out of commission. To do so would necessitate keeping men flying about the city from one point to another with the result that much time and effort would be wasted and the clean-up of the whole situation greatly delayed. Therefore individual telephone users whose instruments may be out of commission for a few days should understand that, while it is impossible to give immediate attention to their cases, their lines will be reached and put into condition for service again as soon as possible.

Locating Trouble

It is not believed that the number of telephones affected by yesterday's storm will be fully known for several days. It frequently happens that one of the fuse protectors is partially melted by the lightning current while enough of it remains intact to permit of conversation being carried on for a time. The connection, however, is so fragile that a sudden jar to the house or other slight causes may break it altogether.

It is good policy whenever a subscriber finds his telephone out of commission to notify the central office, either over a neighbor's line, by mail or a personal call, although the chances are that the trouble will have already become known to the central station employees.

Whenever any of the protectors on the lines are put out of use a ground is established and as a consequence a diminutive electric lamp on the switchboard in front of the operator starts burning. This normally indicates that someone at the other end of the line has sent in a call. If no one responds to the operator's "hello," it is assumed that there is a ground on the line and it is immediately switched into the "trouble" section of the switchboard, and the force detailed to look after breaks in service starts an investigation.

It occasionally happens that the source of the trouble is located in the central station in connection with the wires that connect up the relays. Although the local plant is well-ventilated, and fans are kept in operation to insure a draught of air, it sometimes happens at this time of the year moisture passes through the rubber coating and results in the establishment of a connection between the two wires of a circuit.

Go Up With the Thermometer

The good old summer time is likely to produce occasions of serious stress at the local exchange, whether or not there is heavy humidity and electrical storms, according to Manager Leathers. In very hot weather the number of telephone calls usually increases as the thermometer mounts upward. The same rule applies to very cold days in winter. When a hot wave arrives people are inclined to stay in their own homes and do their calling and ordering of supplies over the wire. This has sometimes sent the number of calls on a hot day in Lowell up to the 200,000 mark and higher. Hello girls have frequently tolled at the boards trying to co-ordinate the 14,000 channels through which the talk was flowing until they have dropped in their places from sheer exhaustion.

"I wish to thank The Sun for its sweep headline in yesterday's paper announcing that 800 telephone lines had been put out of commission by the storm," said Manager Leathers this off.

morning. "It saved me a world of trouble by getting to the public the fact that our service had been crippled and the reason for it. But for The Sun I should have had a world of trouble of my own answering complaints from people whose wire service had been cut off."

PLEADS FOR JITNEY REGULATIONS

A continuation of major bus jitney service in competition with the street railways of Massachusetts cannot long exist without "disaster to one or both," according to an opinion of the state department of public utilities rendered in the annual report just issued.

The advent of the motor bus form of jitney represents a greater increased "menace" to the street railways, continues the report, which states that if jitney competition were entirely eliminated there "is every reason to believe" that the street railways alone would be able to render cheaper and better service than the street railways and jitneys now furnish together.

The report advances the theory that the failure of Massachusetts to keep pace with the rest of the country in subjecting jitneys to reasonable and proper regulations is responsible for the jitney problem in this state assuming a more acute phase than in any other part of the country.

"It is significant that practically all of the states and cities where the volume of jitney business has been large in the past, have found it necessary to adopt stringent regulations, which have resulted in decreasing the number of jitneys to a point where their operation no longer constituted a serious menace to existing transportation agencies or to the public. The 1918 statute represents an attempt, in part at least, to bring out policy into line with legislative precedents in other states."

The commission finds that a "candid investigation" of the conditions of jitney operation wherever it has been tried is bound to lead to the conclusion that while jitney service may supplement or destroy the street railway, it cannot take its place. Our present street railway systems are the product of years of organization and represent the investment of millions of capital in forms which are not readily adaptable for other uses.

Although the commission admits that if jitneys can furnish a cheaper, more uniform, adequate, reliable and responsible service than the street railway, "it would be folly to attempt to stay the tide of progress," it maintains that if a better service can be furnished by the street railways and if "as the available evidence indicates" the street railway cannot survive under a policy of unrestricted jitney competition, it is "plain that the general public interest demands proper regulation of retaining the existing transportation service."

PERPETUAL CARE AND SINKING FUNDS
In reply to the forecasted opposition of members of the local cemetery commission to the use of $150,000 worth of perpetual care funds for the liquidation of sinking fund loans of the city which became due this year, Mayor Perry D. Thompson wishes to emphasize the fact that the suggestion to meet the depreciation of sinking fund securities in this way is not a plan advocated by him, but rather coming from the office of the state director of accounts, Theodore N. Waddell.

"I fear that the impression has gained ground," the mayor said today, "that I personally am strongly advocating the use of the perpetual care funds to assist in the liquidation of sinking fund loans which became due this year. That is not true; the matter was brought to my attention, and I simply went to Mr. Waddell to see if he had any remedy to offer. The suggestion regarding the perpetual care funds was one of several he offered, and I merely acted in the capacity of messenger in bringing it to the attention of the cemetery commissioners."

COMPANY WILL DO AWAY WITH HORSES
The street railway company plans to do away with all horses used in connection with track and freight work. Manager Lees stated today that the company has a one and a half ton truck on duty now for freight work between Lowell and Lawrence or Haverhill and another smaller truck of the enclosed style for the men of the track department. A new line motor truck is now ready for duty anywhere in the city and a similar two-ton truck is on the way to the Middlesex street car barns. With the introduction of these trucks there are now only two horses out of the original six doing

Gassed Soldier's Wonderful Letter
Woburn, Mass., July 9, 1920.
I returned home recently after serving nearly five years with the British army during the World War. During this period I served in the Dardanelles, Egypt, France, Belgium and No. Russia; had seventeen wounds and was gassed; and when I arrived home I was suffering from stomach trouble very badly which was caused by the gas. I tried everything I could think of, consulted physicians and a specialist, but no results. I happened to see an advertisement in the daily papers about Sister Mary's Compound and that their representative would be at Houghton & Dutton's store in Boston. I went there and saw the representative and he advised me to try Sister Mary's Compound, which I did. I cannot say that it has wholly cured me as I am only on the third bottle, but this I can say, that I certainly do feel much better; can eat lots of things that I had to previously refuse, and know that it will not take three more bottles of this wonderful compound before I am entirely better. Am coming along grand, and I owe it all to Sister Mary's Compound, and will certainly recommend it to those whom I know are suffering with stomach trouble.

duty for the railway company, three horses having been sold at auction last Thursday.

A man in New York who has been making something like $20 a day by just yelling for it has been stopped by the police. His method has been to ring the bell of one tenement after another in an apartment house and yell up the dumbwaiter shaft that he wanted $2.16, or $3.17, or some other convincing sum, for the laundry, sometimes getting the exact amount and sometimes a $5 bill to be changed.

NO LEADERS FOR ZIONIST GROUP
LONDON, July 16 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—The work of the Zionist world conference here has been virtually suspended because of the difficulty the leaders are experiencing in creating a new executive committee. The situation is considerably aggravated by the refusal of Justice Louis D. Brandeis, head of the American Zionist delegation, to accept any office.

Sir Alfred Mond, the noted British financier, also finds himself unable to accept office because the British premier will not release him from his duties with the cabinet.

The Zionist conference will not meet again in regular session until next Monday.

Cinder Stars at Stadium

West, Murchison and Hayes of the East and Lee Carey of the navy among them.

For the half mile run also quality ran high in Eby of the East, Don Scott of the army, Meehan, Campbell and Jole Ray of the Middle West. Ray has set himself the task of running both the half mile and the mile, with special effort incidental to the latter event to set a new record for 1500 metres.

It was expected that a new world's mark would be made for the 140 yard hurdles event, in which Meakin of the east, former record holder, Desch of the east, who equalled his mark and Norton of the coast, who bettered it, were to meet in this afternoon's trials with Watt, the eastern intercollegiate star, and Smart and Loomis of the middle west.

The junior events, ordinarily the object of close competition and interest, because of the team championship trophy and the individual titles, were overshadowed by the Olympic trials, which brought the country's fastest speedsters into action. Nevertheless, entrants in several of the events were regarded as having the qualities of Olympic contenders and it was expected that the junior games would graduate several athletes into the senior events of tomorrow.

The stadium track, always fast, was in excellent condition today after a week of grooming, without use. Overhead, clear skies and a quartering breeze gave almost perfect weather conditions.

It was decided this morning that athletes selected for the Olympic team who live in the vicinity of Philadelphia and Boston will be allowed to work out there under the direction of coaches between the time of selection and departure. All others chosen will report to Head Coach Jack Munkley at Fort Stocum, N. Y., which will be the official rendezvous for the sailing, now set for July 26. The coach announced that a special course of training will be given at Travers island to all athletes whom he believes to be in need of more work. Selections, it was indicated, will be made on Sunday from the report of the nominating committee, which will meet Saturday night.

Autoist Fined and Sentenced

The car from a former employer of this city and went to Laconia, N. H., where he was known as Paul Grey. The police of that town recovered the car a short time ago and notified the Lowell department. A warrant for the arrest of McKenzie was then issued and served by Sergt. McCloughrey.

Breaking and Entering
John B. Curtis and Edwin D. Shea, two Cambridge youths who were found guilty of breaking, entering and larceny from three pumps in Billerica a few weeks ago were called today to enter an appeal from the sentences to the Massachusetts reformatory which were imposed. They were ordered under $500 for superior court.

Found Not Guilty
Samuel Schwartz, charged with assault and battery on Philip Vagenheim was discharged upon a finding of not guilty. Both are tenants of the same yard on Chelmsford street. The complainant testified that Schwartz ordered his daughter but of her own yard because she was noisy and that when he tried to learn the cause of the trouble he was pushed up against a wall, receiving considerable scratching on his arm. The court found that Vagenheim was pushed aside by Schwartz's son who separated the two men from fighting.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

Munchie Mouse was serving the cheese-cakes to Tingaling, Nancy and Nick, and the Magical Mushroom, when a speaking-tube in the wall blew a shrill blast.

Munchie laid down the plate he was piling up with goodies and went to answer it.

"Hello," he called. "Yes, this is the janitor. Who? Oh, yes, Mrs. Squirrel. All right, just a minute, I'll call Mrs. Mouse."

"It's you," wanted, Mathilda," he said, coming back. "It's Mrs. Squirrel."

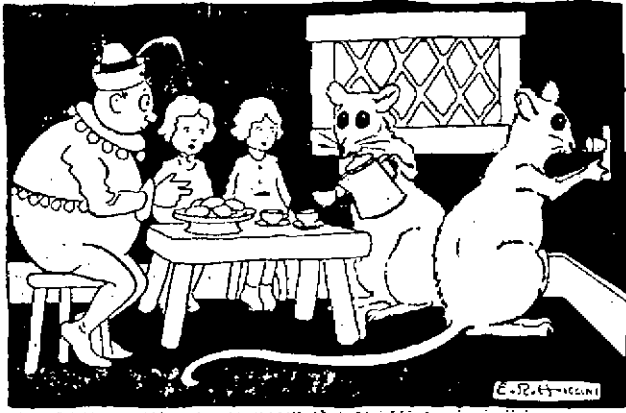

So Mathilda stopped pouring the

And Mrs. Munchie returned to her coffee-pouring.

Munchie had just served Nancy's plate and was beginning on Nick's when the whistle blew again. So over he went.

And Mr. Munchie Mouse returned to coffee and went to the speaking-tube. "Why, Mrs. Squirrel, you didn't have any yellow and orange and green handkerchief in the wash this week, I'm sure," she declared after she had listened a minute to Mrs. Squirrel's complaint. "There was a white and red and red and blue table-cover, and a pink and lemon-colored roller-towel, and a dahlia and gooseberry-colored chair tidy, but no handkerchief like you say. What's that? You've just found it! Mr. Squirrel using it for a shoe cloth! My, My! Oh, that's all right, Mrs. Squirrel, no harm done."

"Hopping huckleberries!" exclaimed the fairyman. "Don't they ever give you a rest?"

SUN SPOTS TO BLAME FOR JAZZ WEATHER

BY GENE AHERN

Scientists claim that spots on the sun are responsible for the jazz weather we get on Sundays and vacations. Other scientists say the sun spots cause all the bawdy stunts that flourish in the summer, beginning with June, the month of marriages, and ending up with divorces in September.

So it's the sun spots, eh, that makes 'em get that way?

From now on it will be ham gravy for us to understand why himbos will cavort around on a tennis oven at 103 in the shadows, and wear a handkerchief around their brow to keep the headache from scrambling. These same kookoos will guffaw with glee at a movie of a Hopi Indian unwinding himself loose from a family jawfest by dancing at high noon.

Also the sun spots explain why we go camping, risk our anatomy on a roller coaster, go on picnics, do high diving in knee water, bathe on the sand, wear flon flaming shirts and neckties, take snapshots, send vacation postcards, and say, "well, is it hot enough for you?" and buy used flivvers. Scientists' comeback is that in the winter the sun spots are out of range, and give us a chance to recuperate, and get back to parking level ideas in our thought garage during the winter scenario. Although some birds don't get over the effects of the summer sun spots, and insist on playing winter golf.

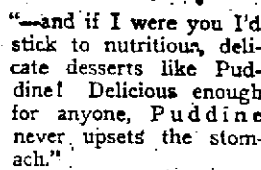

In some instances it takes quite awhile for the summer sun spots to puncture the daffy casing, as in the case of six-day bike racers and rascals who don't burst out until the frost period.

SUPPOSED REPUTABLE CITIZENS INVOLVED

EAST CAMBRIDGE, July 16.—Men who are looked upon as being reputable in business, and who are regarded as respected citizens in their communities, will have their names linked with those of motor thieves and receivers as a result of the investigation which Dist. Atty. Nathan A. Tuttle of Middlesex county will have made by two of his assistants.

The present inquiry is an outgrowth of the prosecution which sent Samuel Harris, the kingpin of the now defunct illicit syndicate, to jail, and several lesser lights to state prison.

Asst. Dist. Atty. G. Stanley Harvey is under orders to conduct a rigid investigation and then prosecute relentlessly in order to clean up some of the old work of the former Harris syndicate. The Middlesex county prosecutors declare that this investigation has nothing whatever to do with discrediting Herman L. Barney might have made to Asst. Dist. Atty. Henry D.

Adams, the cup yacht skipper, did not seem unduly chagrined over the accident that robbed him of a fine chance of victory.

Nat. Herreshoff, designer and builder of the Resolute, made a careful inspection of the 70 footer and superintended the repairs on board. Herreshoff had no comment to make on the performance of the Shamrock IV. Sailors on the Resolute declared the Lipton challenger cannot lift the cup, pointing out that in the 15-mile beat to windward yesterday in light airs in which the Lipton sloop is supposed to show to best advantage, the American racing machine beat the Englishman, boat for boat without any advantage that might have come from a time allowance of 8 minutes, 40 seconds, which Resolute is allowed over a 30-mile course. The Shamrock's crew were happy today aboard their tender Killarney, while Sir Thomas Lipton beamed on visitors who called to congratulate him on board his steam yacht the Victoria.

The accident to Resolute, coming on top of three other major mishaps earlier in the season—the loss of the mast off New Haven, the breaking of the jaws of the gaff and the carrying away of a topmast off Newport—had a tendency to shake the faith in the ability of the Herreshoff creation to hold together until the end of the season.

It was shown, however, in yesterday's race that the Resolute exhibited better weather qualities and that in the light airs she is several minutes faster up the breeze than Shamrock IV, although it was on just such a point of sailing and under just such conditions that the challenger was supposed to be superior.

The two yachts have yet to test their relative abilities down the breeze or broad off under large reaching sails. This is expected to come tomorrow in a 30-mile race over a triangular course.

It was also anticipated today that Designer Nicholson and Capt. Burton of Shamrock IV, would endeavor to obtain a re-measurement of the challenger in the hope of still further reducing the handicap time allowance, since it has been explained that the challenger is using much smaller club top-sail than was included in the original measurement of New York yacht club officials.

UNKNOWN MAN KILLED BY GUN SHOTS

NEW YORK, July 16.—An unidentified, well dressed man, who was found with five gunshot wounds in his body here early today, died as he was being hurried to a hospital. Miss Loretta Leroy, who took the man to the hospital in her limousine, told the police she found him in a dying condition and had him placed in her car by her chauffeur, Wilson Jackson, and an Italian, Pasquale Dinare.

After the slain man was taken into the hospital, a revolver was found in Miss Leroy's automobile, and she and her two companions were held by the police.

Belief was expressed by the police, however, that the victim was shot by a shotgun, because of the size of the wounds. Two shotguns were later found by the police in the basement of the house in front of which the man was picked up, and one of the weapons gave evidence of having been just discharged and reloaded. Five large holes also were found in the slain man's straw hat, indicating he had tried to shield himself when the weapon was discharged.

BELFAST HEARS OF SHAMROCK'S VICTORY

BELFAST, July 16.—News that the Shamrock IV, had won the first race against the Resolute in the series for the America's cup was received amid joyous scenes at Bangor Down last night, because in the event of the ultimate victory of Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht, future races will occur here. Large crowds there for the regatta being held during the present week awaited reports of the result of the race with intense interest.

HARDING'S SPEECH TO SOUND KEYNOTE

MARION, Ohio, July 16.—Senator Harding kept hard at work today on his speech of accepting the republican nomination for president. Although the address is not to be delivered until next Thursday, he kept his callers' list at a minimum and devoted virtually all of his time to the manuscript in the hope of completing it by tomorrow night.

As an interpretation of the Chicago platform, the acceptance speech is expected to be the real keynote of the republican campaign. The candidate, therefore, is taking great care to make certain that it touches comprehensively on all the important issues and lays a broad basis for the party's fight for popular support.

He expressed confidence yesterday that the republican platform would be found progressive enough to command the support of both the farming and laboring classes.

Lightning Hits House

Thomas Beaudry, and the Bassick girl, who was called in by the Beaudry children when the dark clouds made their appearance. Mr. and Mrs. Beaudry were both at work in a local mill, the latter having started to work yesterday morning.

While the children were seated in the kitchen watching the progress of the storm, there was a loud report and the house shook. Then the children saw a ball of fire circling around them in the kitchen, disappearing in the dining room. A portion of the kitchen floor was ripped up, the linoleum in the dining room was badly torn, while the hard wood floor was ripped up for a space of several inches. As far as could be learned the bolt struck the chimney and worked its way into the kitchen, tearing a portion of the wall in one of the bedrooms upstairs. It also raised havoc in the cellar, practically demolishing the stairs and knocking several bricks out of the bottom of the chimney. The house rocked and in some portions of the building the woodwork was torn and split.

The little Bassick girl, who was the nearest to the chimney when the bolt struck, was knocked down and stunned, and the others were badly frightened, but uninjured. The Beaudry home, which is being erected by Mr. Beaudry during his spare moments, is not quite finished in the interior, but the work had reached a point so that the place was quite comfortable. It is estimated that the damage caused by lightning will reach several hundred dollars.

FINDING POSITIONS FOR EX-SERVICE MEN

(Special to The Sun.)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 16.—Approximately 2500 ex-service men secured positions during the past year through the public employment offices conducted by the state, figures given out by the department of labor and industries indicate.

In contrast to this, the tabulation shows, there were about 2800 former army and navy men who applied for work but who are not listed as having landed on a job.

The variation is explained as follows:

"The small number of positions secured by service men, as compared with the number of men sent to places, shows what a difficult task it was to place many of them in permanent positions.

"Many of them had seen active service and lived in the open for nearly two years, and a number who had taken an indoor position in good faith found the confinement intolerable, and felt that they must work out of doors 'or suffocate,' as some expressed it. In many instances they summarily left their places of employment without even informing their employers why they had done so, believing that it would be almost impossible to explain their seemingly abnormal state of mind. Consequently, these employers were disinclined to employ other ex-service men.

"When conversing with other men as to the position they desired, some of them did not hesitate to say that they expected to secure a better position than that held by them before they entered the service, and that they considered themselves of especial consideration on account of their service to the country. This view was only natural, and, indeed, the men were to be commended for their desire to improve their status in industry. They failed, however, to bear in mind that although their war experiences had given them a broader vision of life, yet such experience could not be applied in any practical way to the business of earning a livelihood.

"From time to time it was reported that some employers had refused to re-employ men who left their employ for military or naval service. This may have been true in a few instances, but it was generally found that there was a ready response from employers when requested to hire returned service men, and that where one refused to do so there were scores willing to employ them." HOYT.

TOO VALUABLE

Premier Wants to Resign But President Says "No"

PEKING, July 16.—A striking example of the office seeking the man, or rather pursuing him, is afforded by the present cabinet situation. Premier Chin Yun-peng, who became leader of the "Chihli" political faction after the death of former President Feng Kuo-chang, wants to resign his post, but the president won't let him.

The ostensible reason of his desire to quit is the difficulty the government finds in financing itself. The real reason is said to be found in a contest which is in progress between the "Chihli" and "Anfu" factions, the latter being the post of premier.

For the third time the premier has tendered his resignation and three times the president has refused to accept it, offering in lieu a leave of absence, each resignation bringing forth a new extension of the leave. In the meantime Admiral Sah Cheng-peng, minister of the navy, is reluctantly filling the post of premier.

Much political maneuvering is going on under the surface and at the moment it is regarded as probable that Chin Yun-peng will eventually resume his post possibly with some changes in the ministries upon which he is said to be insisting.

ADJOURN WITHOUT PLANK OR CANDIDATES

CHICAGO, July 16.—Members of the committee of 48 who Wednesday bolted the fusion movement of the farmer-labor party last night, after a day of futile wrangling, adjourned with no arrangement made to put a separate presidential ticket in the field.

Adjournment was taken over the protest of a minority group and was only accomplished when the committee leaders turned out the lights and ordered the owners to clear the hall.

Prior to adjournment the leaders presented a report providing for the continuation of the organization in each state. The report was adopted. It makes no provision for a national ticket, but does provide that another national convention may be called at some future date.

Parley P. Christensen of Salt Lake City, presidential nominee of the farmer-labor party, threw the dying 45 convention into an uproar by sending to it a message characterizing its actions as "foolish."

"Regardless of the action taken at this meeting, however foolish," Christensen's message said, "I am the candidate of the farmer-labor party and will continue in the race."

Three of the minority groups originally subscribing to the fusion movement were represented in today's meeting. Besides a part of the forty-eighters, leaders of the world war veterans' and people's party joined the bolt.

Of all the groups which joined the new party convention Tuesday, the only well-organized faction is left in the farmer-labor ranks, and that is the former labor party. The dominant farmer group in the amalgamation, members of the non-partisan league, stayed to the last, but their organization has repudiated the movement, refused to amalgamate, and has endorsed Senator Robert M. La Follette for president.

The single tax party, the first to withdraw, nominated its own ticket Tuesday night, and adopted a 40-word platform.

To The Retail Merchants Of Lowell

Will You FIGHT?

You have been called profiteers, robbers and what not by the public. Because YOU are the man the public deals with and NOT the makers and middlemen, the blame for the high cost of living is falling on YOUR shoulders. This is not fair. It is grossly unjust. But it is a FACT. And no wonder the public thinks you are guilty when you meekly accept the charge instead of FIGHTING it. Will you co-operate with us and other public-spirited merchants and help smash outrageously high prices, and prove that YOUR store, even now, while prices are still rising, can sell dependable goods at low prices? What if you do lose your profit and part of the cost of your goods? What if you do have to pay higher prices when you buy again? Isn't it worth MORE to you to be known as one who did YOUR part to smash high prices? We are in this fight to a finish with our 300 stores all over the U. S. A. Will you come in?

To the Determined Womenfolks Of Lowell

It takes TWO to make a bargain. There are already many retail merchants who are trying to help pierce the bubble of high prices by giving you unheard of values. But unless you CO-OPERATE with these merchants you will have to bear the brunt of it all yourselves. We have taken an active part in this movement. We have closed our eyes to cost, value and profit. We are doing MORE than our share, but we do it GLADLY, because the public has responded enthusiastically. Now we are going to cap the climax of value-giving by beginning tomorrow a

ALLEGED TRICKERY

man Commercial Houses

CHRISTIANIA, July 14.—Norwegian business men have protested to the Berlin government against alleged trickery of German commercial concerns whose failure to deliver to Norwegians goods bought and paid for started official and unofficial inquiries which led the Norwegians to believe the delinquencies were deliberate.

Commercial intercourse between Norway and Germany had been steadily increasing, due to the low exchange rate on German money, until recently when a number of Norwegian concerns were notified by the Germans with whom they had placed large orders that the merchandise could not be delivered because "the government had placed special export taxes which prohibited exportation at the prices at which the goods had been sold."

The Germans are said to have demanded additional sums ranging from 50 to 100 per cent of the prices they had quoted before they would fulfill their contracts.

The Norwegians frequently were compelled to pay the additional sums, having contracted to sell elsewhere the German products. However, complaints that Germans were using this method to evade the unfavorable rate of exchange became so frequent that Norwegian commercial organizations made official representations to Berlin, and it is said the Berlin government issued a statement that official cognizance would be taken of sharp practices by German business men in their international dealings. The government denied the export taxes complained of had been levied, or that other restrictions had been placed on export trade.

Newspapers here for several weeks have carried editorial criticisms of German business methods since the war, and several trade papers have declared the Germans eventually must feel keenly the effect of "commercial trickery" they are alleged to have practiced.

There also is widespread complaint against German life insurance companies operating in Norway and the Norwegian foreign office has been petitioned to protect policy holders who, it is charged, have been paid in marks when the policies call for payment in kroner. Hundreds of thousands of German life insurance policies are held here, especially among farmers.

In this connection it is pointed out that whereas 45,000 kroner, an average life insurance policy, before the war equalled $6,000 marks, the rate of exchange now made such a policy worth 375,000 marks.

THE SNOWDROP'S PRETTY LEGEND

Friendship in adversity, consolation and hope is the significance of the snowdrop in the language of flowers.

To Comfort Eve
The legend of how the snowdrop came to earth follows:

When Adam and Eve were driven from Paradise, Eve, overcome with sorrow and regret, wept bitterly. The Father was touched with pity and sent an angel to comfort her. While the angel was speaking to Eve, a snowflake fell upon her hand. Suddenly it was transformed into a delicate white flower. The angel bade Eve be of good cheer, and said "Let this flower be a symbol of the sunshine and summer that will come again." When the angel left, thousands of beautiful drooping blossoms sprang up where he had been standing.

Snowdrop Revived Hope
Another interesting tale is told about the snowdrop as a symbol of hope and consolation. During the Crimean war, the allied forces, while encamped before Sebastopol, were suffering severe privations and were very discouraged because of the extremely cold and long winter. One day, an excited trumpeter rushed into a tent, several snowdrops in his hands. The men were overjoyed by the appearance of these hardy flowers of spring and their hope and courage revived.

FARMERS' WEEK AT MASS. AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE FROM
JULY 26 TO 30, INCLUSIVE

A summer farmers' week at the Massachusetts Agricultural college has become a fixed habit. Farmers' week always used to be held during the winter months until a few years ago when the idea of staging the meeting during the summer was suggested. Since then the summer farmers' week has become a habit, and a good one.

There are two good reasons why this is so. In the first place the roads are good and in the second place there is something to see, and that after all is the important thing. It is so important, in fact, that the farmers' week this year will be based upon the theory that people want to see things. There will be lots to see and lots of opportunity of seeing them. Every day at 10 a. m. and again at 3 p. m. there will be trips under the guidance of some one familiar with things at the college, to some point or points of interest over the campus and college farms. No matter what a farmer may be growing or is interested in, he will be able to actually see these things under cultivation and can ask as many questions as he likes.

Monday night will be given over to the young people chiefly. There will be lots to interest the junior extension youngsters and they will have a fine time. Tuesday will be Hampshire Poultry day and will also include program for sheep and horse men. Wednesday the dairymen will be in their glory and along with them the State Poultry association will start its convention. Thursday the fruit growers will get together and also the swine breeders. Then, too, the poultry convention will still be going. On Friday tobacco and onions will be the main topic of discussion together with feed cattle in their relation to the tobacco and onions industry.

Woven all through this interesting program is an immense amount of material of interest to women, programmed under the direction of the home economics department at the college.

The whole thing is complete; there will be something going all the time of interest to every member of the family from the kiddies down to their grandfathers and grandmothers, not only during the daytime but also in the evenings when interesting programs will be given including movies and addresses by prominent people.

Of course, such an excellent program as this will bring a big crowd to Amherst and just at present living conditions there are much as they are anywhere else. So the thing to do is to write to the college at once asking for a program and also sending a request that room reservation be made.

NEW YORK, July 16.—Slowly, and surely, New York's east side is beginning to awaken to the fact that no real prosperity has come as the result of high wages.

The high cost of living, the mad tendency of even the thrifty East Siders to spend easily earned money for extravagant clothes and pleasures, and the already felt pinch of the slowing down in domestic trade orders have all combined to bring to a halt the short-lived belief of these

Had Their Flyer

"Wages are high," they have argued with themselves. "They can't go down. We will have our flyer and then settle down."

They have had their flyer. They have worn silk shirts, fur coats, and much finery. But now the silk shirts and fur coats are nearly worn out, wages are no higher than they were a year ago and the cost of living, if anything, has gone up.

The East Side of today is not appreciably any different than it was five years ago. Much costly food is displayed, but malnutrition cases are just as many at the clinics. High rents are being paid but housing conditions, if anything, are worse.

LACK OF MORALS
IN BORDER STATES

MEXICO CITY, July 16.—Conditions in the northern border states of Mexico were characterized as immoral and disorderly by Roberto V. Pesqueira, financial agent for the Mexican government in the United States, in a statement he has just issued to the Mexican newspapers. Senor Pesqueira said the inscription which appears on signposts along the roads leading to Tijuana, Lower California, "To Mexico—the road to hell," was accurate. For a few years no one had been able to work with security in Chihuahua and, he added, "that in Juarez, as in Lower California, formerly there was an unbroken rapine in all its forms. One single example would suffice to show the immorality that exists there. The gambling concession produced $11,500 monthly to the government, and the same concessionaires today are offering to pay $50,000 monthly for the same privilege."

Senor Pesqueira charged that Mexican laborers who crossed the line were being "villainously exploited" by labor agents, with the aid of the Mexican authorities. He likewise attacked the alleged practice of some American merchants who furnish office supplies to Mexican officials, of making "out invoices for double the right amount."

"This fact shows the robbery that is being systematically committed against the national treasury and illustrates to what point official corruption has reached," Senator Pesqueira commented.

FOREIGN SUGAR
COMING TO U. S.

TOKIO, July 16.—Owing to scarcity of sugar in America large quantities of Formosan and Java crop are being exported to the United States by the Japanese refining concerns. During March and April about 10,000 tons of Java sugar were sold to foreign merchants and a further supply of nearly 60,000 tons of Formosan and Java sugar have been contracted for by the American merchants. The goods are to be delivered at New York, Seattle, San Francisco and other ports.

SAYS RUSSIAN EMPRESS AND CHILDREN BURNED

PARIS, July 16.—The Russian empress and her children were burned alive after the execution of Emperor Nicholas at Ekaterinburg. It is alleged in statements attributed to Alexei Dolrovtz, formerly courier to the empress, published here today. Dolrovtz said he made vain attempts to save his mistress and her children.

The empress and the children, Dolrovtz declared, were taken to a wood near Ekaterinburg. Brush wood was gathered and a huge fire made, into which the royal victims were forced. Every time they sought to get out of the flames Dolrovtz said, they were driven back at the point of the bayonet.

Tatiana, the empress' second daughter, fled from the pyre three times and eventually fell pierced through by a bayonet. The empress and Alexei heir to the throne, clasped in close embrace, walked almost automatically into the flames and disappeared in a whirl of smoke, according to Dolrovtz.

LOWELL PICNICKERS ESCAPED STORM

The store clerks at the various beaches yesterday, were not as hard hit by the storm as were the people of Lowell who remained at home. At Revere, there was nothing but a sprinkle at noon, but in the evening, about 7 o'clock, after all had their fill of pleasure and were getting ready to start homeward, a storm broke over the seashore. Just at this time, most of the picnickers happened to be under cover having luncheon or awaiting the homeward call.

The Bon Marche employees had the time of their lives at Nantasket beach. There was something doing every minute. The success of the affair was due to Manager Gilmore, Advertising Manager Walker and Frank Sullivan, Mr. Walker being particularly active.

The clerks of all the stores declared that yesterday's outing was the best ever and they all look forward to a repetition of its pleasures next year.

(Signed) MITCHELL.

MEN OF LOWELL—Give ear to this unusual event, with high prices surging over the land, and invading every avenue of trade, I am forced to take heroic action to make this sale the bargain event it has always been in the past nine years.

With the approach of the tailor's dull month of August, my problem is to keep my force as busy as possible. With that end in view, I figure to give more for the money than any man can reasonably expect any place in this city.

Wholeheartedly and with firm resolve, I sacrifice profits for this annual event. Regardless of Advancing Prices, irrespective of market conditions. This July sale must maintain its past reputation at all costs.

ROOSEVELT BACK IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy and democratic vice-presidential nominee, arrived in Washington today from his home in New York. He went direct to his office at the navy department relieving Admiral Coozit, chief of naval operations, who has been acting secretary during the absence of Secretary Daniels and Mr. Roosevelt.

Mr. Roosevelt will attend the conference Sunday between President Wilson and Governor Cox at the White House and will return to Dayton with the governor Sunday night for the meeting of the national committee Monday and Tuesday. He said plans would be made at this meeting for the speaking tours of the democratic candidates.

"In the north and northwest about 75 per cent of the newspapers are republican owned and controlled," said Mr. Roosevelt. "I feel that the best way we can overcome this handicap is to get out into these states. I also feel that the people are entitled to see the men they are asked to vote for."

"Will Governor Cox and yourself divide the country between you, one going east and the other west?" Mr. Roosevelt was asked.

"That has not been decided, but I should think it might be a good guess," the nominee replied.

Mr. Roosevelt said he would begin so speaking tour immediately after the notification ceremony. The date for this event has not been set, but Mr. Roosevelt believes it will take place at his home at Hyde Park, N. Y., either Aug. 7 or 8.

LITHUANIANS TO OCCUPY VILNA

WARSAW, July 15. By Associated Press.—Polish governmental authorities have agreed with the Lithuanians for the occupation of Vilna by Lithuanian troops, and this step will soon be taken, according to information received in military quarters. The surrender of Vilna to the Lithuanians was conceded by the soviet government of Russia some time ago, in negotiations between the two countries.

Fire Destroys Church

gaining an entrance through one of the windows, rang the church bell, calling the West-Chelmsford fire department to the premises. As soon as Chief Fletcher arrived he sent an emergency call to Chief Saunders of the local department with the result that District Engine 6 was sent out, but when it arrived it was handicapped by the lack of water, and the blaze had made such progress that they concentrated their efforts on adjoining property and succeeded in preventing the spread of the fire. The church building, which was erected about 33 years ago and which was of wood construction, was completely destroyed, while none of the contents were saved.

church, the occasion being a lawn party under the auspices of some church society and the young and old folks enjoyed themselves until close to 11 o'clock. As soon as the party broke up some of the young women in charge of the affair brought back the chairs and settees of the church which had been taken out for the sale, into the building and after locking the doors went to their homes. At that time there was no sign of fire. The pastor of the church is Rev. John H. Parker.

PLAN DANCE HALL IN HOWE BUILDING

Bayard T. De Mallie, who recently took control of the Howe building, has been granted a permit to make alterations on the upper floor of the structure preparatory to opening a public dance hall in the former quarters of the local Lithuanian divisions. The permit calls for the removal of three partitions and the placing of three rods on the roof timbers. John H. Johnson is to do the work and the estimated cost is $500.

U. S. OFFICERS WATCH BORDER OPERATIONS

LAREDO, Tex., July 16.—Speculation was rife here today as to the next move of a force of rebels which yesterday attacked Nuevo Laredo, the Mexican town opposite Laredo, and was driven off with casualties.

Since their repulse, no word had been received here as to the whereabouts of the band, said to number about 200 men, but local observers thought another attack would not be attempted.

American army officials were watching the situation closely. Reinforcements for the units here were reported en route to Laredo. Unofficially it was said eight or ten federal soldiers and one or more rebels had been killed.

The rebel band is understood to be under command of Ricardo Gonzalez, former general of the federal army and a nephew of General Pablo Gonzalez.

RUSSIANS GAIN IN NORTHERN SECTOR

LONDON, July 16.—Continued successes of the Bolsheviks in their operations against the Poles along the northern sector of the front is announced in Thursday's official statement from Moscow, received by wireless today. The communique says:

"South of the river Vistula, in the Vilna region, we defeated the resisting enemy along the entire front. Our advance is continuing energetically."

(A special despatch from Kovno, received in London Thursday night, reported the occupation of Vilna by the Bolsheviks. This has not been officially confirmed, but Karsky advices today say the Poles have agreed with the Lithuanians for occupation of Vilna by Lithuanian troops. The signing of a peace treaty between Lithuanians and Soviet Russia was reported on July 15.)

George Priest of Belfast, Me., has just found in his garden, resting lightly between two hills of potatoes, a gold-mounted fountain pen that he lost last summer. Although it had been buried when the ground was hoed last fall and plowed and harrowed this spring, having evidently been brought to the surface during this summer's hoeing of the potatoes, it was in perfect condition for immediate use.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Amasa H. Grover and Miss Harriet E. Borland of Chelmsford Centre were married yesterday by Rev. N. W. Matthews at the parsonage, 15 Ellsworth street. The couple were attended by Mr. Ransom C. Grover and Miss Edith G. Pope.

Brown-Mulligan
Mr. Thomas J. Brown and Miss Rosella Mulligan were married Wednesday evening at the immaculate Conception rectory, the ceremony being performed by the pastor, Rev. Lawrence F. Tighe, O.M.I. The bride wore tulle with white picture hat and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Alice Flanders, was attired in blue. George with hat to match and carried pink roses. The best man was Mr. Jack Lawson. At the close of the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Anna Mulligan, 35 Bartlett st. The happy couple left on the 9:12 o'clock train for Boston, Providence, R. I. and New York and after August 1 they will make their home in Philadelphia.

Quinn-Moran

The wedding of Mr. Joseph F. Quinn and Miss Albina C. Moran took place Wednesday afternoon at St. Michael's rectory, the officiating clergyman being the pastor, Rev. John J. Shaw. The bride was attired in a gown of white georgette over duchess satin and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and sweet peas. The best man was a brother of the groom, Mr. Peter H. Quinn. After the ceremony a reception was held for immediate relatives at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Annie Quinn and later the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Old Orchard, Me. and upon their return they will make their home at 656 Bridge street.

TREATY OF SAINT GERMAIN RATIFIED

PARIS, July 16.—The exchange of ratifications of the treaty of St. Germain, which established peace between the allies and Austria, took place this morning in the clock room at the foreign office. Jules Cambon presided over the ceremony.

Afterwards, M. Heris, representing Czechoslovakia, signed the agreement for the protection of minorities within the former territory of the Austro-Hungarian empire.

Charged With Disloyal Aims

was aroused by Gen. Gonzalez's refusal to denounce publicly the uprisings led by several military leaders in Nuevo Leon, the general claiming the rebellion chiefs were his personal friends. A despatch to the Herald says that supporters of Gen. Gonzalez protest against the government holding him in solitary confinement, and claim this is in violation of the provisions of the constitution of 1907. Legal action by which he can be protected is contemplated. It is understood, however, that a draft of a plan of revolution, providing for the ousting of all government departments, functioning at present, was found in the pocket of Gen. Carlos Garcia, chief of staff to Gen. Gonzalez, according to a message from Gen. Trevino, chief of operations in Nuevo Leon, to Gen. P. Elias Calles, secretary of war, says the Herald. The project calls for the appointment of a new provisional president by congress when three-fourths of the states and Mexico City are controlled by the new regime. Frequent reference is made to the supreme chief of the revolution, but no name was mentioned in the draft. It is said.

SEEK DETAILS OF GONZALEZ'S ARREST

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., July 16.—Amplification of official reports that General Pablo Gonzalez, former candidate for the Mexican presidency, had been arrested in Monterey at the order of Provisional President De la Huerta on the ground that Gonzalez was the "intellectual director" of an alleged disloyal movement, was being sought by local Mexican consular officials today.

General Gonzalez has been a prominent figure in Mexican military affairs for several years. In the revolt against President Porfirio Diaz he took an active part and later was a military leader under provisional President Madero. He joined General Carranza in the latter's revolt against President Huerta.

Several months ago he became an active candidate to succeed President Carranza. When the recent victorious revolt against President Carranza began gaining momentum, General Gonzalez threw his forces with those of General Alvaro Obregon. In the political maneuvering which followed the fall of the Carranza regime, General Gonzalez announced the withdrawal of his candidacy.

The present charges against the general, according to President De la Huerta's communication are based upon his alleged activity in the military plans of several officers suspected of disloyalty. An attack on Monterey Wednesday and yesterday's unsuccessful efforts by General Ricardo Gonzalez to capture Nuevo Laredo, are mentioned in the statement, which says:

"From sufficient data now in my possession, I have reached the conclusion that the intellectual director of this movement is the general of division, Pablo Gonzalez."

Mrs. William P. Burton

BY DEAN SNYDER

A woman's genius may be the guiding hand that is to weave the destinies of the Shamrock IV.

She is Mrs. W. P. Burton, wife of the

skipper who is to be at the wheel of the challenger during the sailing struggle off Sandy Hook.

Mrs. Burton, an experienced and skilled skipper herself, often has been at the helm during the trials of the emerald green yacht.

"The sloop was a bit stiff when we first launched her, but she just needs a lot of sailing," says Mrs. Burton. "Today the Shamrock is tuned up so that she responds to every ounce of breeze. She sails best in a 7 or 10 knot wind."

"Oh, yes," says the woman skipper, "I greatly admire the Resolute. Her beautiful lines and curves naturally appeal to a woman. Your American designers do not neglect to build a graceful looking craft. I call your cup defender the sailing white bird of paradise."

"Our Shamrock isn't what you Americans call pretty. I've heard some of you remark that she is the ugliest of any boat Lipton has sent over."

"She was built with enormous sail spread, and we expect to win with power," she says.

Mrs. Burton is like all English people—that is, she is very diplomatic and prefers to chat about the nice points of the Resolute rather than discuss the Lipton craft.

When sailing she wears a navy blue middie and sometimes it is stained with the salt water spray. She doesn't mind having her hair wind-blown in the least when she's yachting.

At the hotels she is a motherly looking woman and regards the mothering

MEN COMMUTE DAILY TO WORK IN AIRPLANES

NEW YORK, July 16.—About 100 business men scattered throughout the United States more or less regularly fly in airplanes between their homes in the country, at the mountains or the shore to their city offices, according to an estimate of the Manufacturers Aircraft association. The number of itinerant aerial "taxi-drivers" who carry passengers on short but remunerative flights is placed at some 300.

"There is a steadily increasing demand for aircraft of the commercial type," says a report made to the association. "But, contrary to some published reports, the demand does not equal the supply. Factories now in operation in the United States could construct ten times the number of aircraft which optimists estimate would be required this year."

A trip throughout the country taken by representatives of the association revealed some interesting uses to which aircraft are being put. "In Seattle during the tourist season," the investigation reported, "a passenger airplane makes daily runs over and around Mount Rainier, flying at 20,000 feet, some 5,000 feet above the mountain."

"At the Santa Barbara seaside resort a flying boat is in daily operation over the channel, two of its most interesting passengers during the early part of this year having been the King and Queen of Belgium. Regular flights are being conducted over Southern California with a baby blimp."

"There is considerable agitation for an extension of the aerial forest patrol of California, which has been instrumental in protecting life and property from fire loss. The California Rice Growers' association, which last year established a service patterned after the forest patrol over 16,000 acres of rice lands, has enlarged this service to guard double that acreage.

SHOCKED BY LIVE ELECTRIC WIRE

As a result of being shocked by a live electric wire lying across the fence of the Bartlett school yard early last evening, Edward Vallerand, 12, of 21 Oliver street, is at the Lowell General hospital suffering from burns. He is not on the dangerous list, however. He and some companions were playing in the vicinity of the school yard when the wire fell. Vallerand, it is said, caught hold of it and was thrown to the ground. He was taken to his home and then to the hospital.

SALES TAX DRIVE BY FLYING SQUADRON

BOSTON, July 16.—Four weeks of the special sales tax drive by the "flying squadron" of internal revenue deputies from the office of Collector John J. Mitchell have resulted in uncovering nearly $70,000 additional taxes in Boston alone, and several thousands more from other cities in the state.

Violations of various forms of tax were found in the investigations, but the greatest number of offenders were found to be smaller shopkeepers, who failed to secure or to return the proper amount of tax on ice cream and soft drinks.

Since the opening week of the campaign when one violation was found which would yield more than $20,000 additional to the government, and another of $5000 was uncovered, no very large amounts have been reported by the investigators, but from another part of the state came among other reports, a return of $1600 additional tax on a proprietor of a theatre.

"In the first four weeks of the campaign," said Collector Mitchell, discussing the activities of the deputies, "at least 1000 places in Boston alone have been visited by investigators and more than $65,000 additional taxes discovered."

"This drive is for the purpose of getting all of the delinquents on soda, ice cream, dance theatre jewelry and similar taxes payable every month. The canvass will include all soda fountains, drug stores, department stores, candy stores, cigar stores, hotels, restaurants, lunch rooms, club houses, fruit stores and even excursion boats."

"Stores selling toilet and medicinal preparations will be included and it is found that stamps have not been properly fixed to the taxable articles sold the amount of tax due will be determined as closely as possible and the dealer will be required to purchase and destroy sufficient stamps to cover the tax."

"In cases where records have not been kept as required and which results in the taxpayer being unable to supply the information required by investigating officers a penalty of five per cent and interest will be imposed, but a willful violation will mean prosecution."

This special sales tax drive is being conducted by the internal revenue bureau with 12 principal cities of the country as headquarters of "flying squadrons" which operate in adjoining districts in conjunction with the field forces working in their respective territories. In Boston the "drive" is being conducted by Assistant Supervisor H. L. Cather of Washington, who has charge of the general campaign in New England, and Assistant Supervisor F. H. O'Brien. The outside deputies of Collector Mitchell's field force are being directed by Chief Deputy Edward L. Murphy of Boston and are operating throughout the state under the same zone system that was organized for the income tax campaign.

THE LOWELL SUN

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor
SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.
Member of the Associated Press

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

The war-time advice, "can all you can and then can some more," still holds good with the surplus garden, produce and fruit that is beginning to ripen on the bushes and trees around Lowell.

Anyway, it is a relief to know that the suffragists will not be able to point to Japan as an example of how far behind some other parts of the world America is in granting the franchise to women.

Yes, the Germans yield in the face of superior force, but in no other way. If they had the backing of Russia against the allies, they would probably show resistance even if it brought on another world war.

When a prisoner serving a life sentence escapes and is caught, the court is somewhat embarrassed in not being able to add to the length of his sentence nor to prescribe the electric chair. In the cases of Barney, Ward and Dintzner, three long timers who escaped from state prison, their short spell of freedom was dearly purchased.

The death of a 12-year-old girl at St. John's hospital, as a result of injuries received in being struck by an auto, emphasizes anew the necessity for increasing vigilance on the part of parents in keeping their children out of the streets since crossing some of the city's thoroughfares has become more or less of a hazard even for adults.

Those who may think they would like to have their newspapers published by the government—as advocated by Brother Bryan—might make note of the fact that the copy of Uncle Sam's leading daily, the Congressional Record—for June 21 has just reached The Sun office with 168 pages of its usual gallop of the dull reading matter.

Another rise in the price of anthracite coal, this time $1.00 per ton, is one of the results of exporting the domestic supply and of tying up the railroads. It is reported that the president is giving his attention to the coal question. Verily, it is high time that he interfered to stop the plunder of the people. His intervention comes too late to prevent the people from having to pay double what they should pay for their supply of fuel.

BROKEN GLASS

Throwing a bottle on the streets and leaving the broken glass to be a source of danger to passing autos and even pedestrians was the offense for which a man was fined $35 in a Hingham court the other day. The offense of throwing broken glass on the streets in this city is not uncommon and it frequently cuts auto tires. Milkmen are the principal offenders and next to them come the men who attend to the arc lights. The latter quite often throw their broken glass upon the street with as much carelessness as if there existed no law prohibiting such a dangerous practice. This is a matter to which the police will have to give their attention.

TAXES AND PRICES

The Internal Revenue office of this state boasts of the large collections made for the fiscal year, ending June 30. The total amounted to $350,925,233, or more than a million dollars for every business day in the year. This is but a small part of the total amount paid in taxes and if to the latter be added the vast amounts extorted from the people in the increased price of food and coal due to exportation of the domestic supply, the total would be simply amazing. The increase in the price of coal hits every household and every industry. At a time when in the ordinary course of events, prices should begin to come down, it appears as a result of the coal situation, the increased rates and the higher wages on the railroads, prices are likely to go up in the fall rather than come down.

THE CHICAGO FIASCO

What some hoped and others feared might cut some figure as a third party in the full campaign has gone to smash at Chicago. It is true that the Socialists and the socialist labor party have gone through the motions of adopting a platform and naming presidential candidates, but in reality the efforts of both elements are still in opposition so that the ticket will not get their support. They set out to cut deeply into the other two parties.

There is no indication that anything of the kind will occur. The whole movement has petered out and the "Farmer-Labor" party will get no more votes than were cast for the various nominal third parties that have had a place on the ballot at national elections in past years.

The opposing elements in the 18ers are already out against the ticket named and fully three-fourths of the radicals represented at Chicago will oppose the so-called fusion party. That is really a disappointment for the republican leaders who looked to this third party movement to aid them by drawing support from the democratic ticket.

SAVING THE BABIES

The Red Cross, the Lowell Guild and the local board of health are making an effort to reduce the infant mortality here during the present summer; but their efforts will be unavailing unless they have the co-operation of the parents. It is alleged that the infant mortality in the district bounded by Dutton, Moody and Pawtucket streets, shows the highest rate in the city. This is due, in all probability, to the fact that in that district there are more babies than in any other.

But in either case, the appeal of these life-saving agencies, should be heeded by the parents. In many cases young mothers fail to nurse their babies believing that artificial food will serve instead of that provided by Nature. In that they make a mistake that costs many lives. There are so many kinds of baby food on the market that it is difficult to decide which, if any, will best suit the baby. As a rule modified cow's milk properly prepared and kept fresh, is the best substitute for mother's milk. In its chemical constituents it is the nearest approach to mother's milk that can be provided.

Many mothers greatly need instruction as to the proper feeding and care of babies. This instruction, the nurses engaged in this work, will be glad to provide if they are given the opportunity. The services of the various agencies which are conducting the baby clinics and trying to help save the lives of young babies should be appreciated. They should have the cordial co-operation of parents throughout the city. In fact the parents should be very grateful to receive such valuable assistance free of charge. It has never been offered so abundantly in the past.

THE FOURTH ESTATE

"There sits the fourth estate that in the future will participate in the ruling of this realm," said Benjamin Disraeli, as he pointed to the press gallery of the English house of commons, to which newspaper reporters had recently been admitted for the first time. The other three estates to which he referred were presumably the king, lords and commons.

That Disraeli's words were prophetic, we all know. More than any other single force, newspapers have come to shape the political opinions and bring irresistible pressure to bear upon the policies and processes of governments, particularly among English speaking nations.

It is strange, though, that up to the present time, newspaper men, as individuals, have preferred to remain very largely hidden behind the scenes of the great stage of the world's affairs, and bring their influence to bear through the columns of their publications. In this country there have been a few exceptions to the rule that leaders in the newspaper profession have not sought important public posts. There is the classic exception of Horace Greeley, of course, who, it is commonly believed, died as the result of disappointment at not having realized his dream of becoming president. Charles D. Johnson, in a way, was a power in the press during the Civil war as assistant secretary of war. Roosevelt was a newspaper man if not a grant that his connection as a newspaper editor for a short time of a weekly publication entitles him to that designation. The fourth day of next March, however, Disraeli's prophecy will be realized more fully than ever before when a newspaper editor—either Cox or Harding—is inducted into the office of president—a position of greater power than that of any other ruler on earth.

MAKING GOOD CITIZENS

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes used to say that if you wanted to make a good citizen, you must begin with his great-grandparents. There is something to be said for this point of view for we are all doubtless more or less the products, in character and ways of thinking, of what our ancestors have been. It is becoming recognized more and more every day, however, that it is more to environment—especially the environment of youth—than to heredity that we must look for the causes that create character and personality.

Miss Louise French of New York, who is now in Lowell for a short time engaged in systematizing the activities of the city's playgrounds, sums up one phase of the matter of environment when she says, "If a boy who is obliged to spend a good part of his waking hours playing in an alley, throws a stone through a store window and gets haled into the juvenile court as a delinquent, it does not necessarily follow that the boy is a bad boy. It does show that he has become the natural product of his environment."

The realization has gradually come home to people that the best way to make good citizens is not to attempt to change grown-ups who have already acquired mental twists and characteristics that are only altered—if they are ever altered at all—with the greatest difficulty, but to begin with the children.

It is along the lines of attempting to provide good citizens for the future that the city is now keeping open seven public playgrounds with a corps of 23 young women supervisors and instructors. It is unfortunate that more money is not available for the support of these and the opening of other needed playgrounds. We have reason, however, to feel gratitude for those that we already have for they are doing a work that is certain to prove of greatest value both in the Lowell today and of the future.

WITHIN PARTY LINES

It is quite common to hear women say, "When I get a chance to vote I do not propose to join a party—I intend to become an independent and cast my ballot for the best man that is nominated." That may be the best policy for the newly enfranchised women voters to pursue until they get their political bearings so to speak; but thereafter, they will undoubtedly find the democratic party the most inviting and progressive.

Of the necessity of party organization, however, there can be no question. It is not possible to conceive of the government of the nation being carried on without the existence of parties. If voters did not divide under the names "democrats" and "republicans," they would certainly divide along some other, and perhaps less desirable lines of cleavage.

People who call themselves democrats and republicans are those who think more or less alike on political subjects. There may be items in the programs of their respective parties to which they do not give full approval; but they continue to work within and for their parties because on the whole the parties hold out the promise of bringing about the realization of political ideals in which they do believe.

The voter who casts his ballot for a democratic candidate for governor and a republican candidate for the legislature, because he thinks each one is the "best man" for the job, is really helping to bring about a government by playing in power two forces that are not necessary work more or less in the same groove.

The sensible woman, who expects soon to cast her first ballot, will study the history of the two leading parties and endeavor to ascertain for what principles each professes to stand. Roughly, it may be said, such an endeavor will find that the democratic party has been and is the party of progress and improvement, the party of the common people, while the republican party, for a third of a century, has been a party with its policies during the Civil war as an assistant secretary of war. Roosevelt was a newspaper man if not a grant that his connection as a newspaper editor for a short time of a weekly publication entitles him to that designation. The fourth day of next March, however, Disraeli's prophecy will be

MAN ABOUT TOWN

There is a silver lining to every cloud. People who have spent hours of hard labor in their gardens "picking" potato bugs rejoice to find that the storm of yesterday noon drowned more bugs than they could "pick" in a whole day.

The members of the Girls' Community club having announced their intention of accepting gifts of flowers and vegetables to be distributed to the hospitals or to the needy people of the congested districts, the first contribution received came from the garden of Otto Hockmeyer although he is in Europe.

I am informed that some of the women who go to Lakeview are likely to be notified that they will have to decamp if they persist in appearing in such bareness of dress. Recently, it appears, this resort has been frequented by some young women whose conduct has shocked the decent people who go there. Their boldness has already been complained of and their visits are likely to be less frequent in the future.

There are only two things lacking at the new municipal bath house, Supt. John W. Kernan of the park department tells me, to make its equipment complete. One is a telephone and the other a pulmotor. Supt. Kernan hopes to make arrangements with the police department or with City Physician Michael A. Tighe for the use of the pulmotor now at the police station in Market street, but the installation of the telephone is up to the telephone company, he says. The park commission was promised when the bath house was first opened this year that there would be telephone connections. Mr. Kernan says, and part of the equipment is already in place but as yet no connections have been made. On many occasions the presence of a telephone at the new building would have saved various officials and attendants trips up or down town and, of course, it would be invaluable in case of a serious accident. I suppose the telephone company is delayed by the pressure of other work from completing the connections at the bath house, but from Supt.

Kernan's statement it is clearly evident that a little speed would be gratefully appreciated.

Amid the get-rich-quick spirit that is in the air, I remember the story of a man who suddenly tumbled into great wealth. He was the town bum in a Massachusetts village. He was ignorant, ragged, unkempt all the time, and drunk when he could get the price. One day he disappeared. A couple of months later he turned up clad in purple and the linen and with unlimited money to spend. He bought the village hotel and spent a large sum rebuilding it on a scale far beyond the possibility of its ever paying. He furnished it with the choicest rugs, china and solid silverware. Then he went to Providence and started spending money like a whole shipload of drunken sailors. It was all day in the day time and there was no night for "Doc" Jones—although that isn't his name. He did his best to keep the breweries and distilleries working overtime by buying drinks for himself and those who followed in his train. A favorite trick, repeated sometimes 20 times a day, was to buy a bottle of champagne at $3.50, take a single drink out of it and leave the nearly filled bottle standing on the bar. He gambled, he bought race horses. At one time he had four breach of promise suits pending against him in the courts. Then he sued a leading Worcester man for $400,000 alleged to be due on promissory notes. During the trial of the case it was brought out that the Worcester man had already paid "Doc" Jones $600,000 and that this had been spent in less than two years. Moral: If you haven't the stuff in you to enjoy life without riches, you probably haven't it in you to enjoy life if wealthy.

SEEN AND HEARD

"The man who in this world can keep the whiteness of his soul is not likely to lose it in any other."

Last December when the steamer Elthe ran ashore on the coast of Newfoundland with 92 passengers, including a new-born infant, in immediate danger of death in the heavy sea, Reuben Decker of Bonlie Bay called his dog and putting the end of a rope in his mouth started him to swim to the wrecked ship. The dog, holding the rope fast, plunged into the heavy sea, and after struggling for more than an hour reached the steamer. With the line aboard the passengers were sent ashore in a breeches buoy, the baby carried in a mailbag. Now the dog has a silver collar, the gift of a number of humane societies of Philadelphia.

Just As Well

A rich old man refused to loan $5 to a friend.
"I did not expect that of you," said the latter bitterly, "and I will never forgive you for your refusal."
"Of course you won't my dear fellow," said the other. "But if I loaned you the money you wouldn't have repaid me, and we should have quarrelled about that, so it's as well to eat the row over at once! Good morning!"

Waa He Sore?

A golf player was returning from the links when he was halted by a woman living on the top floor of a very high building. After much deliberation as to whether he should leave his loaded bag downstairs or take it up with him, he decided on the former and totted up numerous flights of stairs.

When he reached the top the woman said:
"Won't you?"
"Won't I what?" asked the golfer.
"Why take Tommy away in your bag if he is not a good boy?"

The Modest Poet

It is just 63 years ago today, July 16, 1857, that Pierre Jean de Béranger, the great French poet, died. He was a truly great man and he worked his way up from the bottom through every hardship known to genius. You he retained his modesty, even when honors came thick and fast and those who laughed at him at first were hesitating to pay homage to his work. "I am not of the belief that my poems are immortal," he said. "We'll know more about that later on." So, here's to a great poet who was modest. We understand he has had no successor, in genius or modesty.

Happiness

Just below the Peak of Head-top,
(Be it bald, or black, or red-top)
Is an interesting country which you struggle to possess;
It's a lowland, or a highland,
Or an iridescent island;
It's a fountain on the mountain and its name is Happiness.

Just above the Cape of Too-tip,
(Be it pointed, broad, or low-tip)
Is the region you are seeking,
Vaguely vast, or dimly small,
Shining somewhere deep within you is its mystery to win you;
And its riddle in its magic to compel you to its call.

Yet you may not hope to find it
Creep-or-crawling up behind it,
Nor to buy it, or supply it in the

You may lose it by exploring,
Northern-polling, foreign-shoring;
You may stake it and locate it in the Kingdom of Yourself!

"SIMPLY SCANDALOUS" HULL FOLKS SAY

BOSTON, July 16—Girls, some 25 or 30 of them, from parts unknown, who, complainants to the Hull police say, have been strolling nonchalantly through Hull in nothing but sweaters, who go in bathing during the daytime in the upper half of men's bathing suits only, and during the night in their pajamas and nighties, are being sought by Sergeant Edward Butler for "indecent exposure."

The sergeant has been assigned to the case. For several days now complaints have been rife in Hull. But yesterday matters reached the breaking point. Accordingly Mrs. William Mace, proprietress of the Lake View Park Inn, put it up to the Hull police.

Whitman's pond, she testified, is the favorite haunt of the "improperly clothed" bathers. She alleged that the girls coming from Westwood Grove, where they are summering, plunge into the pond in bathing uniforms utterly inadequate. Besides the inadequacy of their bathing suits the complainant alleged that their frolics are simply horrid.

For a case in point, Mrs. Mace mentioned that of a very young woman who marched from Westwood Grove to Lovell's corner in Hull attired in a sailor's white uniform—looking something like the navy poster: "I wish I were a man." She covered the mile distance between the two points as though it were nothing at all and seemed to enjoy the attention she was attracting.

and in anything, the complaints aver that seemed handy, the girls—whole flocks of them—are wont to mingle in the waters of the pond, splashing each other and by their conduct accentuating the evil of their attire.

Sergeant Butler started out to find the "I wish I were a man girl" but failed to discover her. However, the Hull police are on the lookout.

DENIES PROPAGANDA IN LAWRENCE SCHOOLS

LAWRENCE, July 16—In a 46-page typewritten report submitted to the members of the school committee and made public yesterday, Superintendent of Schools Bernard M. Sheridan, answering charges filed with Mayor William J. White last April by members of John McBride branch, Friends of Irish Freedom, and which allege that British propaganda is rampant in the public schools here, declares that "firm in the belief that the charges presented are groundless," those "to whom the parents of American children have entrusted their education point to their record for devotion to peace and in war to the cause of thorough scholarship and the highest ideals of American democracy," and "ask and expect the full, helpful and discriminating confidence of the community which they are proud to serve."

The charges filed with the mayor and referred by him to the school committee, which in turn turned them over to Superintendent Sheridan for investigation, alleged in substance that the public schools here are used as a medium for the spread of British propaganda and of propaganda in favor of the league of nations, and a list of text books and periodicals used in the schools were quoted from to substantiate this claim.

"Because I have felt the importance of assembling an abundance of testimony that no kind of propaganda exists in the schools, the report is necessarily a long one," says Superintendent Sheridan. Each charge is then discussed at length and in a summary it is pointed out that the national security league, alleged to be a medium for the propaganda, "has had absolutely no connection with the schools since July 1, 1919," and that the only connection they ever had with the organization was "through the Lowell Normal school." On the matter of text books the report says that "sentences had been lifted from their context and thus made to convey a meaning that served the purpose of the critics," but that in every instance a reading of the full context destroys any suspicion of bias.

SAYS ACTION EFFECTS TRAFFIC FROM LOWELL

WOBURN, July 16.—William J. Murphy, president of the Woburn Carmen's union, protested yesterday against the announced intention of the Bay State trustees to reduce the number of cars operating about Woburn. This action will throw 35 or 40 men out of employment.

The districts to be affected are: Between Woburn and Winthrop square, Medford; between Woburn and North Woburn; and between Woburn and Billerica. Under the new schedule cars will be run on the half-hour instead of the quarter-hour basis. A feature of the new plan is that Woburn cars will be run only to Winthrop square, Medford, instead of to Sullivan square, as at present, forcing a change of cars at Medford to the Elevated.

The changes are to become effective July 22, and also on that date a one-man car will be operated between Woburn and North Woburn, the first to appear in this district.

In his protest Murphy said: "The Bay State company issues financial statements of a deficit in the Chelsea division, but does not tell the public here that the Woburn division is one of the best paying of the whole service. No excuse exists for cutting the service in this city. The road is hardly able to handle the traffic that now comes into Woburn from Billerica and points north."

Charles Murray, who lends the Amsterdam avenue gate of Trinity cemetery on Washington Heights, N. Y., is on the job every day, winter and summer, although he is 103 years old.

Plum Island Beach

The United Shoe Machinery Band—30 men strong—will lead the way to Plum Island Beach Sunday afternoon. A specially selected program will be presented at the Pavilion, commencing at 3 o'clock and continuing with a brief intermission until 5 p. m.

The music of this magnificent band will be as free to all as the music of the surf on the incoming tides.

Have You Ever Seen Plum Island?

Plum Island lies just off the North Shore, extending for nine miles along the Coast from Ipswich to Newburyport. It is completely surrounded by salt water, being bounded by the Plum Island River, Ipswich Bay, Merrimack Bay and the Atlantic Ocean.

The Island is connected at its northerly end with the town of Newbury, by the Plum Island Turnpike, and a bridge over the River. Electric cars from Market Square, Newburyport, run straight to the Island, and the Company's office. A good dirt road, called Ocean Avenue, leads direct from the Boston State Road to the Island.

We are developing this Island as a place for high-class seashore homes; where people may escape the wicked heat of the cities, and forget the swelter of daily toil. Here you may boat, bathe and fish and revel in the luxury of ocean breezes, gorgeous sunsets, and all the wholesome enjoyments which Nature so lavishly bestows.

More than three hundred families are now living on the Island as owners not only of their cottages, but the ground as well, on which they stand.

The Plum Island Beach Company

is developing as a fine high-class seashore resort, the northerly end of the Island. The company is building a new boulevard one mile and three quarters long through the Island; and has for sale along its course, some five hundred house lots. Every lot is either on the ocean front, or has a good view of the water, and is within a few minutes' walk of the beach.

Give your family what they deserve, a summer home at the seashore, and at the same time build up your own health so as to better fit yourself to cope with your daily work.

COME, ENJOY IT WITH THE HUNDREDS WHO ARE DOING SO

The prices at present are $500 for inside lots and $1000 for ocean front lots. They may be purchased on very easy terms, or if CASH is paid, a TEN PER CENT DISCOUNT will be allowed.

Business Dull in Jacksonburg But Presidential Candidate Helps Some

BY ALFRED SEGAL
N.E.A. Staff Special

JACKSONBURG, O., July 15.—Jacksonburg is passing away. Its two hotels are gone. Its thriving pork industry has departed. Its population has dwindled to 50, or thereabouts. The tragedy of its passing is like that of a thousand other American villages. Its children have gone away to the cities to "see life," to make money, to work in factories and in offices, to practice medicine and law, to teach, and to marry.

But the other day its favorite son, Jimmy Cox, came back as a candidate for president of the United States!

Big Jim in Old Home

And he stopped at the house of Agnes Margerum (now Breitenbecher) with whom he went to school and who lives just across the road from the house in which he was born.

"Call again, Mr. Cox," said Agnes Margerum.

"None of that, Agnes," said Jim Cox, raising a reproving hand. "I am not Mr. Cox here."

"Jim," she answered softly and though her eyes were a bit flamed with tears they could see as plainly as anything down through the years when she and Jimmy were the leading actors in "The Hoosier Schoolmaster" that was given for the benefit of the school. Jimmy playing the part of "Mr. Pierson," the one-legged veteran while she was "Mrs. Pierson."

Jacksonburg today is a little cluster of houses on a road, six miles from Middletown and at the far end stands the house in which Cox was born. And Alf Thomas, Cox's cousin, points out the very room on the first floor front where the candidate for president first raised his voice, crying shrilly.

Alf Thomas works on Cox's farm and his shoes are caked with soil. And so, before he approaches the room, he takes off his shoes and enters in his stocking feet, lest he scratch the polished hardwood floors with which Cox has replaced the old rough timbers.

Room He Was Born In

"This is the very room," says Alf reverently. "The very room he was born in."

It's like a shrine to Alf; the scene of a great miracle. He is awed by the wonder of this: That the little boy he husked corn with on this very farm some 40 years ago should have come up from the soil to contest for the rulership of the republic.

He looks across the broad acres and beyond the years to the place and the time he and Jimmy—a barefoot child scarcely past 12—drugged together in the field under the hot summer's sun.

It was work, work, work, from morning to night and never a complaint from the boy, he says. Up at day-break and at work till dusk! That was the endless program for Jimmy Cox and Alf Thomas, with no vacations.

And on Sunday mornings to church

Alf Thomas (lower left), cousin of Presidential Nominee Cox, who worked with Cox in the fields when they were both boys, can tell the history of the home where Cox was born in Jacksonburg, O. (Upper center). Mrs. Agnes Margerum Breitenbecher (left) was a schoolmate of Cox. Picture on the right is of Cox when he was three years old. The ledger of the main store in Jacksonburg still contains a charge entry against James Cox, made in 1885 (lower right).

to dust the pews, and sweep out and, in the winter time, to start the fire, for Jimmy Cox was janitor of the United Brethren Congregation.

(Please read this carefully, young fellow—you who complain when your mother calls you to run an errand that will interfere with your ball game.)

to the room that was Jimmy's bedroom. But it's much changed now and, indeed, the whole house is changed, except for the great fireplace in the room that was the kitchen where Jimmy Cox popped corn and except for the mantel in the room that he was born in.

He has spent much to improve the house, but these cherished things have remained untouched. With antique furniture (the bedsteads are great four-posted affairs) and with antique pictures and antique chinaware and kettles and andirons, he has kept there the spirit and the style of the time in which his grandfather, Gilbert Cox, built the house.

trait of Cox's grandmother and on another wall a likeness of Jimmy Cox himself at three.

"Knowing the democratic candidate to be an excellent man, I cannot do otherwise than vote for him," explains Alf Thomas, as he puts his shoes back on, for he is now out again in the field where he and Jimmy used to work till the sun set and Jimmy's eyes were heavy with sleep.

Like Old Reader Story

And perhaps Agnes Margerum remembers the old story in McGuffey's reader in which the old mother waits for the return of her favorite boy who has gone to far countries to win fame and fortune.

Then when she is on her deathbed, he comes back rich and famous and she dies content because her eyes have seen the glory of her dreams fulfilled.

That's Jacksonburg

Hither come the pilgrims now to view the tiny, forgotten hamlet where a presidential candidate was born; and they call on Agnes Margerum, she who now is Mrs. Breitenbecher, and who went to school with Jimmy Cox, to ask her what sort of a boy he was and what he looked like and was he smart at school.

Cox Was Inquisitive Boy

"We were in the same room in school," she says. And then she goes on to tell how he was always at the head of his class; and how he was ever asking the teacher questions when others were saying nothing; and how he would pore over Venable's School History of the United States and read about the presidents and the Civil war which was then still a new story; and how after school he would often call on an old soldier to consult with him about the battles and to argue disputed points.

"He's a forward kind of a boy," the veteran once said to a relative of Jimmy.

"You don't understand that boy," replied Jimmy's relative. "He's just set on learning."

And Agnes Margerum Breitenbecher says it's wonderful, truly, that in its declining years, Jacksonburg should win national renown because of this boy who was born here and became a place of pilgrimage to which come those who still love the tradition of the home-spun old-fashioned America that grew its great men on farms.

Then, after they have spoken to her and inspected the house Jimmy Cox was born in, these pilgrims wander down the road to James Shafer's general store to chat with Shafer about those Jimmy days.

Shafer is an authority on Jimmy. To his store the boy would come to buy groceries for his mother and to stop and listen to debates that went on around the cracker barrel or the stove, and occasionally to venture a question; or to listen to ghost stories that old-

Buy Options On German Marks Good for Six Months

The fact that German money is selling at a small fraction of its normal value should convince even the most skeptical that purchases now offer a wonderful opportunity for large profits. Exchange experts predict a sharp advance within the next few months.

100,000 MARKS CAN BE CONTROLLED FOR $400.00

Buying options limits your risk as the original cost constitutes your entire liability. The cost of an option involves the use of about one-sixth as much money as would be required to buy marks outright. Should the marks held on option advance to only one-half normal value the returns on $50.00 would be over $700.00.

Send remittance, stating number of marks you wish to option at above rates. We urge prompt action as exchange fluctuates rapidly. Send for explanatory circular.

timers told, until, as Shafer says, Jimmy was afraid to go home alone.

And there are items that show that on Feb. 12, 1885, Jimmy bought a pen for a cent; and on April 26, he bought glue for 20 cents. Here are the very items:

Then the visitor goes to the church where Cox was janitor and wanders back into the churchyard where his grandparents rest and scans the faded epitaphs on their tombstones, the one inscribed to his grandmother, reading thus:

EIGHTEEN COUNTRIES IN OLYMPIC GAMES

ANTWERP, July 15.—Entry lists for the athletic contests in the Olympia which closed yesterday and were issued today by the executive committee show only 15 countries will participate. Acceptances, however, were expected from several others including France, Norway, Australia, New Zealand and Japan, but their lists have not arrived, either because of mail or cable delays or clerical errors. China, British India, Jugoslavia and Mexico also failed to appear in the list.

It is the general opinion in Olympic circles that the rule calling for the closing of the entries one month before the events take place will not be too closely enforced, as clerical errors have been frequent and it is known that mails, particularly those from the Far East, have been greatly delayed.

The nations listed for the athletic contests are Canada, Chile, Egypt, Lebanon, Spain, the United States, Finland, England, Greece, Holland, Italy, Luxembourg, Poland, South Africa, Sweden, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia and Estonia. Lists of individual competitors are not yet available.

Entries for the fencing, tennis, classical and modern pentathlon, rowing, day and the entry list for cycling events, which closed last week, was made available. Fourteen countries will compete in the modern pentathlon, 15 in rowing, seven in the classic pentathlon, 12 in Greece-Roman wrestling, 11 in catch-as-catch-can wrestling and 13 in rowing.

Although the Olympic committee will not close for two weeks, not a single contestant has been listed and it appears this sport, like golf, may be dropped from the program. A revised list in the target archery competition shows Belgium, the United States, Great Britain and Holland among the entries.

Belgium and Holland have been added to the trap shooting lists, which were announced a few days ago. Greece has been added to the lists for the trap and target shooting events.

Boxing entries which were made available last week showed competitors from the United States, France, Holland, Italy, Norway, South Africa and Switzerland. Belgium and Great Britain were not listed.

Standings in the various events were as follows: In the 100-yard dash, Tom Braden of the New York American led, with a time of 17.2 seconds. In the 200-yard dash, Braden again led, with a time of 35.2 seconds.

In the 400-yard dash, Braden again led, with a time of 1:10.2. In the 800-yard dash, Braden again led, with a time of 2:20.2. In the 1600-yard dash, Braden again led, with a time of 4:40.2.

In the 3200-yard dash, Braden again led, with a time of 9:20.2. In the 6400-yard dash, Braden again led, with a time of 18:40.2. In the 12800-yard dash, Braden again led, with a time of 37:20.2.

In the 25600-yard dash, Braden again led, with a time of 74:40.2. In the 51200-yard dash, Braden again led, with a time of 149:20.2. In the 102400-yard dash, Braden again led, with a time of 298:40.2.

In the 204800-yard dash, Braden again led, with a time of 597:20.2. In the 409600-yard dash, Braden again led, with a time of 1194:40.2. In the 819200-yard dash, Braden again led, with a time of 2389:20.2.

In the 1638400-yard dash, Braden again led, with a time of 4778:40.2. In the 3276800-yard dash, Braden again led, with a time of 9557:20.2. In the 6553600-yard dash, Braden again led, with a time of 19114:40.2.

In the 13107200-yard dash, Braden again led, with a time of 38228:40.2. In the 26214400-yard dash, Braden again led, with a time of 76457:20.2. In the 52428800-yard dash, Braden again led, with a time of 152914:40.2.

NOT MY WAY OF WINNING, PETER COLEY TAKES SAYS SIR THOMAS $3000 TROT STAKE

ABOARD STEAM YACHT VICTORIA (by wireless to the Associated Press). July 16.—A victory that was not earned is the way Sir Thomas Lipton, owner of the challenger, summed up yesterday's race.

"I am exceedingly sorry that Shamrock won through a fluke," he said, "and I would much prefer not to accept the race. I am convinced by my friends, however, that such a course would not be for the best interests of yachting and that it would tend to discredit yachting as a strenuous contest. I lost a race myself," he added, "through a fluke—the breaking of a sail—and I know that the American yachtsman sympathized with me. I can say positively that I am a staunch supporter of the yachting contest."

Lipton was a bad day for a race, with bad weather and a bad start. He was not only disappointed but also angry. He was not only disappointed but also angry. He was not only disappointed but also angry.

Billie Burke Believes That Proper Food is Most Important Thing

BY BILLIE BURKE
(Mrs. Florence Ziegfeld, Jr.)

NEW YORK, July 15.—After all the pleasures and joys in the world are sifted down and the chaff thrown away there remains but one—that of having and caring for a baby. In all the gamut of human emotions there is none that compares with the joy of watching your own child grow in mind and body.

I am not one of those people who believe in sticking steadfastly to iron-clad rules for children—no matter what the result of those rules may be.

Every child is different and every child's constitution needs a variation from general rules for the bringing up of children. But I do believe, that when a child is watched and regulated for it adopted they should be kept rigorously.

My own Patricia, who is now 2½ years old, has departed in many ways from the rules laid down by some of the famous specialists for feeding, dressing and caring for a child, but I have kept her straight on her schedule once I adopted them.

Need Certain Foods

Feeding, to my mind, is by far the most important thing in the raising of a child. Many mothers make the terrible mistake of giving the baby things it ought not to have, justifying themselves by saying, "It doesn't hurt the baby." Of course, this is wrong, for the wrong food given a baby may wear on its stomach until it finally breaks down later in life.

Again there are certain things that a baby must have, although that certain food may seem bad for it. Patricia, for instance, refused to eat eggs and when we insisted on feeding them to her, broke out with a rash. We stopped the eggs but later took them up again and now she eats them regularly. Babies very seldom like vegetables, of course, but they must be taught to eat them. Very often the things babies like least are best for them and vice versa.

Complete Science

But in the main it is useless for me to try to give anyone rules for feeding a baby, for that is a complete science and the case of every baby is different. I can only warn every mother to obey strictly the doctor unless her mother intuition tells her unmistakably that he is wrong about the baby's feeding.

And as for candy, it has always been my opinion that if a baby does not know the taste of candy it will never be bothered by not having it. Patricia is being raised in ignorance of candy and we hope to keep her that way.

BOLSHEVIK PRISONERS TAKEN BY POLIS

CHARGES PLOT TO KEEP STATE "WET"

NEWARK, N. J., July 16.—Samuel Wilson, assistant superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league of New Jersey in a statement forwarded today to Attorney General McCran, Supreme Court Justice Swaves, county judges and prosecutors, charged that a tacit agreement exists between county authorities and saloon and race track men to keep New Jersey "wet."

Mr. Wilson asserted that the Volstead act was openly violated in Essex, Passaic, Union, Atlantic and Hudson counties, where, he declared, "there is a conspiracy to foster the liquor traffic." He said he had furnished federal authorities with names of cafes and saloon keepers from whom he had obtained liquor.

"There is no conscious effort being made to enforce the Volstead act," he added, "due to the desire of politicians to obtain big campaign funds from liquor and gambling interests."

MEXICO CITY, July 15.—Gen. Pablo Gonzalez, former candidate for the presidency and alleged leader of the abortive revolution in the state of Nuevo Leon, whose capture was reported today, will be placed on trial immediately, according to official announcement. The government has appointed Gens. Francisco Coss of Saltillo, Enrique Estrada of Zacatecas and Joaquin Amaro of Torreon as members of the court, according to the newspaper Excelsior.

Gen. Gonzalez's whereabouts were discovered last night, but he resisted arrest, claiming those who sought to apprehend him did not carry warrants for their action. The house where he was lodging was watched all night, officials in the meantime obtaining a warrant to take him into custody. One version of the incident states he was found hiding in the cellar of the house this morning.

Mrs. Harry Ostroff of 522 Westford street was painfully burned about the hands and head this morning shortly after 8 o'clock when she attempted to extinguish a fire at her home, caused by a kerosene oil stove. But because money in the bank, put there out of a fellow's earnings, is the surest proof of manhood, of dependable character, of ability to manage. That money says: 'Here is a man that knows where he is going. He will have these dollars for use whenever he needs them. He will have funds to invest to make more money. He is a business man. He will prosper. You can trust him with your future.'

"That is the man for Mary. That is the sort of man that every wise girl will pick out. For married life isn't all ice cream sodas, House and furniture.

TELEPHONES OUT OF COMMISSION

Will Take Some Time to Get Service Back to Normal

Between 2000 and 2500 telephones were out of commission in Lowell and its vicinity today as a result of yesterday's electrical storm. Over 300 lines are affected. Every available man in the employ of the local station of the New England Telephone & Telegraph company has been pressed into service in the "trouble" gang that is seeking to repair the damages occasioned by the downpour and attendant thunder and lightning. According to General Manager Charles J. Leathers, four or five days will be required to get the wires back into normal working condition. Toll lines were only slightly affected and are working today very nearly as usual.

The storm, according to Mr. Leathers, was the most severe in its effects on the telephone service of any that has visited this section since 1906. He states that its destructive energy was almost wholly confined to the urban area of Lowell and that the surrounding towns suffered but little from it.

There are about 14,000 lines under the control of the local telephone exchange. These comprise not only the wires in Lowell, but also those in Tyngsboro, Chelmsford, Billerica, Burlington, Wilmington and Tewksbury. The average number of calls going through the office is 140,000 a day and these are handled by 135 operators. Looking after the apparatus that makes the general talker possible is a man's job in normal times, but it was stated by Manager Leathers to a Sun reporter this morning it has been a somewhat more difficult thing to do than usual lately on account of the humidity in the atmosphere.

Germany Seeks Explanation of Certain Articles in Allied Note on Terms of Coal Deliveries

Ultimatum Favored in Principle, Say Berlin Delegates, But Stipulation That Ruhr Valley Will Be Occupied Unless Fuel Amount Aggregates Six Million Tons by Oct. 15, Rumored to be Stumbling Block to Complete Acceptance.

SPA, Belgium, July 15.—(By Associated Press)—The German delegates at the conference here have agreed in principle with the terms submitted to them by the allies as to Germany's deliveries of coal, but will ask for the explanation of certain articles in the allied note. They made this announcement just before entering into conference with the allied ministers this afternoon.

The German delegation at the conference here sent word to the supreme council this morning that the German reply would not be ready before 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The reply was due at 11 o'clock this morning.

From what could be learned, the thing that was standing in the way of acceptance by the Germans of the allied terms was the clause providing for occupation of the Ruhr valley unless the coal deliveries reached a total of six million tons by October 15.

Dr. Walter Simons, the German foreign minister, told his colleagues when they met to confer over the allied conditions that this subject had not been mentioned during his conversation with Premiers Lloyd George and Millerand yesterday, when a verbal agreement was virtually reached. The Germans it appears, were greatly annoyed to find it in the text of the terms handed them in the note of last night.

Bolt Goes From Roof to Cellar—Children Have Narrow Escape

Six children had a narrow escape yesterday noon when, during the electrical storm, a bolt entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Beaudry in Stewart Avenue, Kenwood. The interior of the building was badly damaged, but fortunately the children were unharmed. One of them, Wanda Bazwick, aged about 14 years, was stunned, but soon revived and today she is none the worse for her experience. The neighbors consider it a miracle that some of the children were not killed, for the bolt circled around the little frantic group in the kitchen, leaving a trail of debris behind and disappeared in the cellar via the dining room floor.

The children who were in the house when the storm broke out were: Madeline, Lucy, Alice, Stella and Armand Beaudry, children of Mr. and Mrs. Beaudry.

To Keep Straightest, Unrullest Hair in Curl

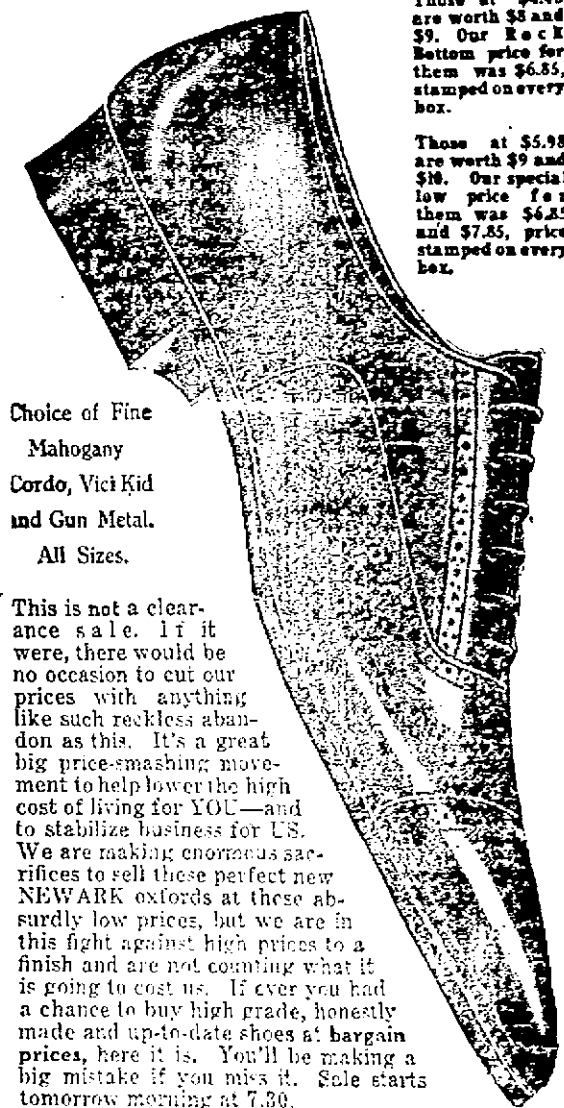

The straightest, curliest hair can be kept in curl, even in the hottest or dampest weather, by such simple and harmless means, that the use of the drying, singeing, blistering, curling iron is altogether unnecessary. One need only get a few ounces of plain liquid shearing from the drugist and apply a little to the hair before doing it up. The result is quite remarkable. The hair is delightfully wavy and beautifully glossy, without being in the least greasy, gummy or streaked. The effect lasts very much longer than where curlers alone or waving irons are used. The shimmer is kept on with a clean tooth brush, drawing this through the hair from crown to tip. Preferably after dividing it into sections. The application seems to gradually improve the texture and health of the hair. Adv.

Are Women Naturally Despondent?

A prominent writer so claims. Women are constituted with a delicate organism and in nine cases out of ten mental depression may be attributed to an abnormal condition of the system, which expresses itself in nervousness, sleeplessness, backaches, headaches, causing constant misery and as a result despondency. MOORE AS COX MANAGER

His Convention Battle Recommends Ohio Man to Party Leaders

BY MAX STERN,
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—"The greatest little fighter in the United States."

This is the reputation held and once more lived up to by Hon. Edmund H. Moore, known to his friends as "Ed," and to the democratic convention as the man who shipped the ship of Governor Cox through the stormy waters that have ruffled the democratic party since the Baltimore convention in 1912.

"Well," he sighed as he sat at breakfast the morning after the nomination opening a stack of congratulatory telegrams, "it sure was a hard fight. We haven't any fingernails left. We were hanging on so long with 'em. Everything is looking fine. The administration forces which fought us are in the fiercest spirits. Just had a visit from Tom Love, and we're all pulling together for the great victory in November."

For Moore thrives on a fight against odds. At the age of 31 in 1904 he was carried on the shoulders of his fellow citizens of Youngstown, Ohio, after being elected democratic mayor in a republican city, an achievement he repeated again in four years. Incidentally, while Ed was being mayor of Youngstown, his father, also an old democratic war horse, was mayor of Canfield.

He started out at the age of 17 to teach school, and at the age of 21 was admitted to the bar. When Bryan arose as prophet of free silver Moore espoused his cause and managed the Bryan campaign for his county. In 1912 he was Gov. Harmon's manager. In 1910 he was Sen. Pomeroy's right bower, and he has twice successfully managed the Cox for governor campaigns.

His political genius is so recognized by the leaders of the party that while there were two ex-governors of Ohio, both over 70, in the Ohio delegation, everyone deferred to Moore. He seemed ubiquitous among the delegations on the floor during the long battle of ballots, and the way he nursed the Cox strength from 134 votes in the first to victory in the 44th ballot, was a revelation to even the old timers.

Moore has refused several important political posts. He prefers his own profession in the law. But when his party needed him as organizer in a hot campaign, he has never failed. His loyalty, good nature and general likability, coupled with a genuine belief in the liberal ideals of Ohio's governor, lead the party leaders here to believe that he will not refuse to carry the fight for Cox to the people of the nation in the coming months.

QUAINT FROCK REMINDS ONE OF LONG AGO

New York's Fashion Authority
NEW YORK, July 16.—Very likely you have a picture somewhere in the family of a great-grandmother when she was a girl, all dressed 'up' in a frock quite like this one—white dotted Swiss trimmed with narrow black valencienne lace insertion, a shirred tucker, a pointed basque laced with narrow velvet ribbon and short sleeves.

A New York designer made it for Juliette Scott, the Paramount star, and the idea of it has created quite a sensation so that "Daguerreotype" frocks promise to develop into a fad. As for the black lace, it is always quaint used with white but the designers today are not stopping at black but making use of dyes to introduce colored effects in similar ways.

Black insertion alternating with white is another popular feature brought out in the "Daguerreotype" frocks.

"I felt it my duty to write you a letter of thanks for your wonderful Peter's Ointment. I had a running sore on my left leg for one year. and from which a great food supply of high importance is drawn, is doomed to extinction unless the consumption of salmon can be balanced by artificial propagation. And efforts in that direction have thus far fallen short of success.

Prof. John N. Cobb, director of the College of Fisheries of the University of Washington and formerly the representative of the United States bureau of fisheries in Alaska, says that salmon will commercially be in the class with the buffalo unless something intervenes.

Died After Spawning

"Salmon are peculiarly exposed to the peril of extinction," Prof. Cobb explained, "because the bulk of this fish is taken during the spawning runs. The adult fish, after growing to maturity in the open sea, ascends fresh water rivers to spawn at the age of four years, and after spawning, dies. Fishermen and packers are well aware of the unrestricted catching of salmon would presently put them out of business, but hatchery projects and protection periods have been more than offset by the expansion of the fishing industry in response to market demand."

The pack of salmon reached its high mark during the war. Last year, the output of all canneries on the Pacific, including those in Japan, British Columbia and Siberia, was $3,510,511 cases. Americans produced $630,347 cases of this amount. A case contains 45 one-pound cans.

Salmon Mystery Fish

In all the rivers of the entire Pacific coast of North America, the mysterious life-cycles of the five species of salmon are completed under varying conditions. But whatever the spawning habit of a given species in any water, the taking of each salmon means the destruction of a large quantity of spawn. The taking of salmon is forbidden during specified days of each week to permit a percentage to reach the spawning beds, and in addition the hatcheries plant millions of spawn each season.

But man is cutting into nature's reserves faster than he is replenishing them.

STORM IN DRACUT

A large apple tree near the Collinsville postoffice was blown down during the storm yesterday and a telephone pole near the Coburn farm on Lakeview avenue was struck by lightning.

Simple Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it; then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fully lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Adv.

RED PILLS

Restore the Blood of Anaemic women to its normal condition

I took RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women, four years ago, before my marriage, as at the time I was suffering from general debility. Eight boxes of RED PILLS were sufficient, as under their influence, I began to pick up nicely and soon was enjoying the best of health.

Two months ago I was made very anaemic by a long sickness. I still remembered RED PILLS, however, and as soon as I was out of bed, although still suffering and very weak, I started to take them again. I can safely say that it is due to the excellent results which I obtained from their use that I am to-day strong and well.—Mrs. J. L. Allard, 67 Brook Street, Woonsocket, R.I.

Women who are suffering from Anaemia have pains in the back and sides, have little appetite, and their stomach is unable to digest the food they eat.

The least effort, or the least work which they are called upon to do quickly exhausts them, and they are unable to look after their daily duties without suffering much pain and misery.

One generally meets women suffering from Anaemia amongst those who have to work too hard, mothers of large families, who have not given themselves the necessary care, all girls suffering from poverty of blood. Anaemia is a hard disease, and very common amongst women.

RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women give strength and purify the blood. They help anaemic sufferers and rid them of the usual headaches, and pains which as a rule accompany Anaemia.

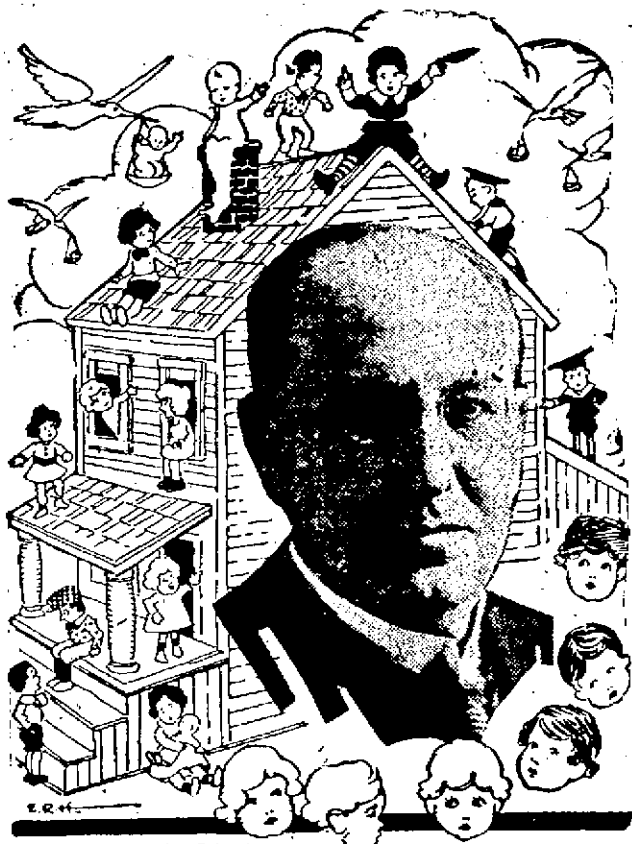

RED PILLS are sold in boxes of 50 pills, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes, $2.50. If they are not at your merchant's they will be sent to you by mail on receipt of price.—Franco American Chemical Company Limited, 212 Milk Street, Boston.

I was a victim of anaemia. During eight years I had been gradually losing strength, and was beginning to think I would never enjoy good health, as I was completely run-down. I had palpitations and flutterings of the heart, could scarcely eat any food and suffered from constipation. These symptoms, together with constant pains in the sides, back and stomach made my life very miserable, and at times even impeded my respiration.

I was advised by one of my neighbors to try RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women. This woman praised them so highly that I in turn became confident and have been using them for the past two months. I find it hard to express my gratitude for the good they have done me.—Mrs. Theophile Brien, 79 Division St., Central Falls, R.I.

If You Haven't Any Children You
Needn't Come Around, Fulkerson's Motto

WALTER P. FULKERSON
N.E.A. Staff Specialist

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 15.—"May his tribe increase!"

This is the substance of hundreds of letters of praise received by Walter P. Fulkerson, banker, since his announcement a few days ago that he would build houses for people with children; that only those who had children could rent his homes; that new-comers who had no child at the end of a year must give way to those in whose home the happy laughter of little children rang!

Fulkerson has received from 200 to 300 letters from Maine to California, praising him as a pilot who is blazing forth the dawn of a better day for children.

And his office in the bank of Buchanan county, of which he is president, is the scene of a continuous stream of visitors who want a house—a home where children will be welcome, where they may bring up their kiddies in a decent community and start them in life's struggle at least not with the handicap so many are now forced to bear through banishment to homes none would live in, except as a last resort. Fulkerson is simply a plain, straight-forward American business man who wants to do his bit. For

NEW YORK. If you are feeling run-down, weak, nervous, tired-in-the-morning, and generally ailing, these are the symptoms that should warn you to take care of your health.

Four persons in every ten are needing more phosphorus in their bodies. When you see thin and fretful people, or those who are anemic, pale, frail, off dependent or lacking in energy, you may look for the need of certain elements that make for a strong constitution.

Some people, after relying upon preparations composed chiefly of salts, quinine, drastic drugs, iron, calomel, cod-liver oil, etc., wonder why they find no benefit. That is easily explained by the fact that such persons need the phosphoric element, which is a most potent essential to health, and contained in BITRO-PHOSPHATE, the famous health preparation. Now obtainable everywhere.

The right thing for you to do is make a trial of BITRO-PHOSPHATE beginning at once. It is not a patent medicine, the formula is prescribed by many physicians for the ailments and weaknesses mentioned above.

With every box of BITRO-PHOSPHATE are a few simple health rules and a $300 guarantee. Buy a box of BITRO-PHOSPHATE. It is sold and recommended by A. W. Dows, and all good druggists everywhere.—Adv.

WORST FLYING WEATHER OF HIS CAREER

TOKIO, July 16.—Lieut. Ferrarin, one of the two famous Italian aviators who flew from Rome to Tokio, encountered such rough air conditions while crossing the length of Korea that they made him seasick. The tempest met in the Hakone mountains was unparalleled.

"In my entire flying experience," he said, "I had never before met with such conditions. The air was so disturbed over Korea that the machine pitched like a small boat in a heavy swell, and for the first time in my life I knew what it was to be seasick. As soon as I reached the straits, where an escort of Japanese destroyers was waiting for me, the air conditions improved and the rest of my flight to Tokio, except for the storm in the Hakone, was made in ideal weather."

One of the most difficult parts of his flight to Tokio, he explained, was between Rangoon and Bangkok where very heavy fogs were encountered, making it difficult to keep on the course. Between Udon and Hanoi, Lieut. Ferrarin was forced to follow a train for about three hours in order to keep on the right course.

"The most exciting part of my trip occurred in Asia Minor," he said, "about 100 miles from Aleppo I was subjected to heavy machine gun fire by the Arab rebels. Again in Baluchistan, when I was forced to land on account of minor engine trouble, I was captured by the natives, imprisoned and not allowed to leave until I succeeded in establishing my identity. They thought I was a British aviator, but when they learned I was an Italian I was liberated."

years he has been known in St. Joe as a "community builder."

"I didn't know what I started when I made my announcement," he said, "I'd been thinking a long time about the way landlords place a premium on childlessness. I never could see anything wrong in children. I have two mighty fine children myself. Their mother is dead."

"I've been in school board work for a long time—guess because I'm rather good-natured and like dealing in problems of the children. When other business men begged off with the excuse they were too busy, they always turned to me. Then, subconsciously, I suppose, what Theodore Roosevelt preached on race suicide helped plant the idea."

Fulkerson explained that he had read in a local paper an advertisement of homes for rent with these two words in big type: "NO CHILDREN."

"Next day I talked with a local newspaper man," said Fulkerson. "Why, that ad is an insult to all children. I told him. What have children done to deserve such sweeping condemnation? I told him I believed I would build a bunch of houses in one of our best residential districts for no one but families with children. That was the announcement."

Fulkerson took me out in his car to view the houses he is building. They are in an attractive district, just off St. Joe's "Lover's Lane," that Eugene Field longer for and made famous.

Each will cost about $500, exclusive of lot. They will rent for from $10 to $30. The houses—he plans to build 26—will face a beautiful park. A new school is nearby. The houses will be real homes in every sense of the word—gardens, room for a tennis court, etc.

"The other system's all wrong. It forces families to turn to race suicide. If others here and in every city will follow me I will feel I have been amply rewarded."

When the stork visits one of Fulkerson's houses, that month's rent is to be returned.

PATROLMAN SEEKS REIMBURSEMENT

Major Perry D. Thompson gave a hearing in his reception room at city hall this forenoon to Patrolman Michael O'Connell on his petition for reimbursement for time lost as the result of an accident alleged to have been suffered while he was on duty in South Lowell on April 7, 1919.

Several witnesses testified at the hearing including Supt. Redmond Welch of the police department, Sgt. Thomas McClooughy, Patrolman Owen J. Tansey, Constable Ezra E. Manour and Patrolman O'Connell. The alleged accident was caused by Patrolman O'Connell's falling into a well near the house of Peter Gray in Woburn street, South Lowell, on the date in question when in company with Sgt. McClooughy and Patrolman Tansey he went to the Gray property to protect Constable Manour from anticipated assault. The testimony brought out at this morning's hearing indicated that Patrolman O'Connell had been instructed to go to the rear of the house to call a truckman to remove belongings of Mr. Gray and in doing so stepped into the well which was concealed by wire netting. He suffered serious injury to his leg and clothing and was incapacitated for 29 days.

TENANTS FACE BIG INCREASE IN RENT

Tenants of the Hildreth building in Merrimack street, one of the largest office buildings in the city, have just been notified by the new owners, Charles and James Brown of Providence and Lawrence, of an increase in rent effective August 15 ranging from 100 to 125 per cent.

The building has only recently passed into the hands of the new owners and the increase, which will go into effect next month, will be the second within a year, the other owners having increased the rental fees during the past winter.

Some of the small offices where the rent has been $20 per month, will pay $44 beginning August 15. Other offices where the rent has been $21 will call for a $55 monthly payment under the new rates. The previous rates amounted to about 25 per cent. As far as can be learned, only one office, that of a prominent law firm, is exempt from the August increase, as its tenants succeeded in securing an extended option at the old rates when the new owners took over the building.

FOUGHT FOR FIVE HOURS AT MONTEREY

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., July 16.—Rebels under Gen. Krinco Villareal, who attacked Monterey Wednesday morning, fought for five hours before they were repulsed, according to details reaching here.

The attacking body numbered about 200 men.

The first fighting occurred at the Gelfo railroad station, where a trainload of federal soldiers, with their women and children, were caught asleep and killed.

blows on the telephone service, regardless of whether or not there are electrical storms. Often on a morning at this time of year, as many as 500 people will take down their receivers to call "central" and find that there is no response from the other end of the line. This does not indicate that the hello girl is asleep, but that there is trouble caused by too much moisture in the air. The normal number of cases that go to the "trouble desk" each day, at this time of the year, is at least 200. Last Saturday, this number was multiplied several fold and very nearly a new record was established.

The way in which General Humidity causes trouble, as explained by Manager Leathers, is by affecting the carbon protectors that are installed on every line to prevent destructive currents from getting into a house over the line either from crosses with high tension light or power wires or from currents in the air during storms.

These protectors, that are commonly located in cellars, are made up of two pieces of carbon with a piece of mica, 1-500 of an inch in thickness between them. Normally, the telephone current passes around this protector. A heavy current, however, causes the pieces of carbon to come into contact and the current is thereby grounded. The same thing happens when the carbons absorb an abnormal quantity of moisture from the atmosphere.

Several Kinds of Protectors

There are two sets of carbon protectors on every line, one in the central station and the other in the home. There are also several other protectors on every line. These include a heating-coil protector in the central plant and fuse protectors on the poles and in the houses. The carbon protectors are installed for the purpose of catching and cutting out what are called "snark" currents that might get past the fusible plugs.

The damages resulting from yesterday's storm were not confined to either particular kind of protector. In some cases, fuses were burned out and in others the carbon protectors went by the board. The only way in which the nature of the trouble can be corrected is by a careful inspection of each line.

For the purpose of making repairs the city is divided into districts and a gang of men is placed in each district with instructions to go carefully and thoroughly over the section assigned to them and clean up every case of interference with the service in their particular territory. This morning 15 men were out in the "trouble" gang that is working under the supervision of Wire Chief Wilfred R. Johnson.

"It will not be possible," said Manager Leathers this morning, "to send men especially to look after individual instances where telephones are out of commission. To do so would necessitate keeping men flying about the city from one point to another with the result that much time and effort would be wasted and the clean-up of the whole situation greatly delayed. Therefore individual telephone users whose instruments may be out of commission for a few days should understand that, while it is impossible to give immediate attention to their cases, their lines will be reached and put into condition for service again as soon as possible.

Locating Trouble

It is not believed that the number of telephone, affected by yesterday's storm will be fully known for several days. It frequently happens that one of the fuse protectors is partially melted by the lightning current while enough of it remains intact to permit of conversation being carried on for a time. The connection, however, is so fragile that a sudden jar to the house or other slight causes may break it altogether.

It is good policy whenever a subscriber finds his telephone out of commission to notify the central office, either over a neighbor's line, by mail or a personal call, although the chances are that the trouble will have already become known to the central station employees.

Whenever any of the protectors on the lines are put out of use a ground is established and as a consequence a diminutive electric lamp on the switchboard in front of the operator starts burning. This normally indicates that someone at the other end of the line has sent in a call. If no one responds to the operator's "hello," it is assumed that there is a ground on the line and it is immediately switched into the "trouble" section of the switchboard, and the force detailed to look after breaks in service starts an investigation.

It occasionally happens that the source of the trouble is located in the central station in connection with the wires that connect up the relays. Although the local plant is well-ventilated, and fans are kept in operation to insure a draught of air, it sometimes happens at this time of the year moisture passes through the rubber coating and results in the establishment of a connection between the two wires of a circuit.

Go Up With the Thermometer

The good old summer time is likely to produce occasions of serious stress at the local exchange, whether or not there is heavy humidity and electrical storms, according to Manager Leathers. In very hot weather the number of telephone calls usually increases as the thermometer mounts upward. The same rule applies to very cold days in winter. When a hot wave arrives people are inclined to stay in their own homes and do their calling and ordering of supplies over the wire. This has sometimes sent the number of calls on a hot day in Lowell up to the 200,000 mark and higher. Hello girls have frequently toiled at the boards trying to co-ordinate the 14,000 channels through which the talk was flowing until they have dropped in their places from sheer exhaustion.

"I wish to thank The Sun for its sweep headline in yesterday's paper announcing that 350 telephone lines had been put out of commission by the storm," said Manager Leathers this off-

morning. "It saved me a world of trouble by getting to the public the fact that our service had been crippled and the reason for it. But for The Sun I should have had a world of trouble of my own answering complaints from people whose wire service had been cut this off."

The west claims another victory in the election of William M. Abbott as Grand Exalted Ruler of the B.P.O. Elks of America. He is a San Franciscan. Abbott was elected to succeed Frank L. Rain, in the convention of the order in Chicago. He was organizer and president of the California Elks association, and chairman of the judiciary committee of the grand lodge.

Abbott is a lawyer, was assistant attorney general of California for four years, and is now general counsel of the United Railroads of San Francisco.

LIFE JACKET FROM LUSITANIA FOUND

PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—A life jacket, silent reminder of the tragic sinking of the Lusitania five years ago and bearing a strand of faded blond hair, was picked up yesterday in the Delaware river. The name of the ship the Germans torpedoed still remained, clear and distinct, on the wave-beaten canvas, which has been adrift on the seas through three years of war and two of peace.

It was found by two railroad detec-

(lives covered with slime and seaweed, with one arm strap broken. On one side were the words "Life Belt" and on the other, in large black letters, the inscription "Lusitania.")

REMEDY FOR FARM HELP SHORTAGE

Newspapers throughout the country recently have been calling attention to the fact that within a very short time we may look for famine prices on wheat, corn, potatoes and all other staples of life; that the farm will fall to yield unless something drastic is accomplished immediately in the way of producing an effective factor that will put a stoppage to the exodus of the country youth citywards. "The question of what is to be done" is fundamentally difficult to answer," states a Chicago daily.

Professor T. C. Atkeson of the National Grange is authority for the statement that only one per cent of the boys who left the farms of this country to join in its war service have returned to again take up production from the soil. The other 99 per cent, according to his research and investigation, have chosen as a means of their livelihood the industrial and commercial life which the city offers.

It was upon these men, who were available at one time at planting and harvest time, that the farmer depended for the making and gathering of his crops. Without them there can be no planting of seed, therefore, the impossibility of resulting food products. "What is to be done?" is truly a question which demands the attention of the best minds of the country.

"While serving in the American army for over two years, both in this country and overseas," writes C. Forrest Luby, "I came in contact with hundreds of boys who, until they enlisted in the service of their country, had never before left their home towns. Visiting many of the larger cities in America and Europe, it was not long before they realized that the larger cities offered them many things in the way of amusement and recreation, places of entertainment to go to in the evening,—something entirely lacking in their own home towns. In fact, they frequently remarked that immediately upon their discharge from the service it was their intention to establish themselves in the larger cities and there take advantage of the greater opportunities open to them. As a consequence, when they returned and the glory of their reception and homecoming had worn away, they sought the larger communities and have since settled permanently there."

It is definitely agreed and accepted that a certain amount of exercise and recreation is essential in furnishing the necessary relaxation after a strenuous day at the office or factory. We have establishments where such may be secured in the larger cities. Why is something not done along this line for people in the smaller cities, towns and villages, giving the farm youth a place to go in the evening other than the cross-roads general store? His daily work is far more strenuous than that of his city brethren, and it would seem that for this reason he is proportionately more in need of a medium, a "safety valve," to relieve the tension and ease things up a bit. Perhaps if such a medium be established, farm hands would be more plentiful, at least more so than they have been during the past few years.

John M. McLeod of Columbus, Ohio, has wisely said: "Play is the safety valve of the nation." The officials of our large corporations are realizing more and more each day, the necessity of recreation for their employees. Many of these men of big business have installed devices in their plants where the employees can play at basketball, indoor golf, billiards, bowling, gymnasiums, etc. Why 'not' a community centre wherein these sports and games may be enjoyed by the farmer, his family and his help? It is something that is well worth study. The situation faced by the farmers of the country is a critical one, demanding earnest thought. It is of so serious a character that any movement that may alleviate the distress caused by a lack of farm labor must impress itself upon the thinking men as something to be considered. Contentment with one's environment is one of the chief factors in making for increased production in it of the farm or the factory. The establishment of recreation centres might furnish the very means to establish and develop this contentment. If such were to be the case, a long step forward would have been taken in answering the perplexing and all-important question of "What is to be done?"

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatres' Own Press Agents)

THE STRAND

"The Blood Barrier," which is being shown at the Strand, has not one dull moment. It opens up with a girl struggling with a man and then falling down an embankment. The man turns out to be the girl's husband. He's so jealous that he might be the green-eyed monster himself. From that on, the scene is to the bone-up surprise at the close it's all action and thrill. Don't miss it. Then Taylor Holmes in "Nothing but Lies," provides "nothing but laughs" from beginning to end. Pleasing variety, I'll say, and so will you.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"The Notorious Mrs. Sands," Beasts Harriscall's latest production, being shown at the Merrimack Square theatre on the current program. The drama, adapted for the screen from an original story by M. B. Hovey, abounds in tense dramatic situations. The most gripping of the big scenes is that staged in the courtroom when Mrs. Sands saves her lover from prison. Other scenes show Miss Harriscall as a school teacher and as the most sought after woman of a community's social set. The other big feature is "Law Only in 'The Buttery Man,' a comedy, the international news and a Burton Holmes travel picture round out the bill.

THE OWL THEATRE

"Riders of the Dawn," the breathless dramatic hit made from Zane Grey's novel, "The Desert of Wheat," will be shown at the Owl for the last time today and tomorrow. The gripping quality of this picture is admitted by all who have seen it. Roy Stewart in the part of "Dawn" was never better than in this picture, and Claire Adams is widely adequate. Lovers of action will see plenty of it, for Stewart has been called upon to appear in not fewer than four separate and distinct ways in this battle with the bully is tremendously effective. This picture runs nearly an hour and a half, but there are several hours which will go to make up the full three hours of entertainment, including the first episode of "Lost City," and "Chang and the Faw," and William J. Flynn detective yarn.

Lora, an 8-year-old parrot, in its cage in a window of the Washington Home for the Blind, calls out clearly: "Star, here's your paper, Evening Star!" every afternoon as the newsboys come on R street. When the fruit peddlers approach, Lora shouts: "Strawberries, to cents a quart!" And then says with a chuckle: "April fool!"

PLEADS FOR JITNEY REGULATIONS

A continuation of motor bus jitney service in competition with the street railways of Massachusetts cannot long exist without "disaster to one or both," according to an opinion of the state department of public utilities rendered in the annual report just issued.

The advent of the motor bus form of jitney represents a greater increased "menace" to the street railways, continues the report, which states that if jitney competition were entirely eliminated there "is every reason to believe" that the street railways alone would be able to render cheaper and better service than the street railways and jitneys now furnish together.

The report advances the theory that the failure of Massachusetts to keep pace with the rest of the country in subjecting jitneys to reasonable and proper regulations is responsible for the jitney problem in this state assuming a more acute phase than in any other part of the country.

"It is significant that practically all of the states and cities where the volume of jitney business has been largest in the past, have found it necessary to adopt stringent regulations which have resulted in decreasing the number of jitneys to a point where their operation no longer constitutes a serious menace to existing transportation agencies or to the public. The 1915 statute represents an attempt, in part at least, to bring our policy into line with legislative precedents in other states."

The commission finds that a "candid investigation of the conditions of jitney operation wherever it has been tried is bound to lead to the conclusion that while jitney service may supplement or destroy the street railway, it cannot take its place. Our present street railway systems are the product of years of organization and represent the investment of millions of capital in forms which are not readily adaptable for other uses.

Although the commission admits that if jitneys can furnish a cheaper, more uniform, adequate, reliable and responsible service than the street railway, "it would be folly to attempt to stay the tide of progress," it maintains that if a better service can be furnished by the street railways and if "as the available evidence indicates" the street railway cannot survive under a policy of unrestricted jitney competition, it is "plain that the general public interest demands proper regulation of retaining the existing transportation service."

PERPETUAL CARE AND SINKING FUNDS

In reply to the forecasted opposition of members of the local cemetery commission to the use of $150,000 worth of perpetual care funds for the liquidation of sinking fund loans of the city which become due this year, Mayor Perry D. Thompson wishes to emphasize the fact that the suggestion to meet the depreciation of sinking fund securities in this way is not a plan advocated by him, but rather coming from the office of the state director of accounts, Theodore N. Waddell.

"I fear that the impression has gained ground," the mayor said today, "that I personally am strongly advocating the use of the perpetual care funds to assist in the liquidation of sinking fund loans which become due this year. That is not true; the matter was brought to my attention, and I simply went to Mr. Waddell to see if he had any remedy to offer. The suggestion regarding the perpetual care funds was one of several he offered, and I merely acted in the capacity of messenger in bringing it to the attention of the cemetery commissioners."

COMPANY WILL DO AWAY WITH HORSES

The street railway company plans to do away with all horses used in connection with track and freight work. Manager Lees stated today that the company has a one and a half ton truck on duty now for freight work between Lowell and Lawrence or Haverhill and another smaller truck of the enclosed style for the men of the track department. A new line motor truck is now ready for duty anywhere in the city and a similar two-ton truck is on the way to the Middlesex street car barns. With the introduction of these trucks there are now only two horses out of the original six doing

Woburn, Mass., July 9, 1920.

I returned home recently after serving nearly five years with the British army during the World War. During this period I served in the Dardanelles, Egypt, France, Belgium, and No. 10, had seventeen wounds and was gassed; and when I arrived home I was suffering from stomach trouble very badly which was caused by the gas. I tried everything I could think of, consulted physicians and a specialist, but no results. I happened to see an advertisement in the daily papers about Sister Mary's Compound, and that their representative would be at Houghton & Botton's store in Boston. I went there and saw the representative and he advised me to try Sister Mary's Compound, which I did. I cannot say that it has wholly cured me as I am only on the third bottle, but this I can say, that I certainly do feel much better; can eat lots of things that I had previously refused, and know that it will not take three more bottles of this wonderful compound before I am entirely better. Am coming along grand, and I owe it all to Sister Mary's Compound, and will certainly recommend it to those whom I know are suffering with stomach trouble.

A man in New York who has been making something like $30 a day by just yelling for it has been stopped by the police. His method has been to ring the bell of one tenement after another in an apartment house and yell up the dumbwaiter shaft that he wanted $1.66, or $2.11, or some other convincing sum, for the laundry, sometimes getting the exact amount and sometimes a $5 bill to be changed.

NO LEADERS FOR ZIONIST GROUP

LONDON, July 16 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—The work of the Zionist world conference has been virtually suspended because of the difficulty the leaders are experiencing in creating a new executive committee. The situation is considerably aggravated by the refusal of Justice Louis D. Brandeis, head of the American Zionist delegation, to accept any office. Sir Alfred Mond, the noted British financier, also finds himself unable to accept office because the British premier will not release him from his duties with the cabinet.

The Zionist conference will not meet again in regular session until next Monday.

Cinder Stars at Stadium

West, Murchison and Hayes of the East and Lea Carey of the navy among them.

For the half mile run also quality ran high in Fly of the East, Don Scott of the army, Mehan, Campbell and Joe Ray of the Middle West. Ray has set himself the task of running both the half mile and the mile, with special effort incidental to the latter event to set a new record for 1500 metres.

It was expected that a new world's mark would be made for the 440 yard hurdles event, in which Mehan of the east, former record holder, Desch of the east, who equalled his mark and Norton of the coast, who bettered it, were to meet in this afternoon's trials with Watt, the eastern intercollegiate star, and Smart and Loomis of the middle west.

The junior events, ordinarily the object of close competition and interest, because of the team championship trophy and the individual titles, were overshadowed by the Olympic trials, which brought the country's fastest speedsters into action. Nevertheless, entrants in several of the events were regarded as having the qualities of Olympic contenders and it was expected that the junior games would graduate several athletes into the senior events of tomorrow.

The stadium track, always fast, was in excellent condition today after a week of grooming, without use. Overhead, clear skies and a quartering breeze gave almost perfect weather conditions.

It was decided this morning that athletes selected for the Olympic team who live in the vicinity of Philadelphia and Boston will be allowed to work out there under the direction of coaches between the time of selection and departure. All others chosen will report to Head Coach Jack Moakley at Port Sticum, N. Y., which will be the official rendezvous for the sailing, now set for July 20.

The coach announced that a special course of training will be given at Travers Island to all athletes whom he believes to be in need of more work. Selections, it was indicated, will be made on Sunday from the report of the nominating committee, which will meet Saturday night.

From noon till midnight the parish grounds will be the scene of universal enjoyment.

Breaching and Entering

John R. Curtis and Edwin D. Shea, two Cambridge youths who were found guilty of breaking, entering and larceny from three camps in Billerica a few weeks ago were called today to enter an appeal from the sentences to the Massachusetts reformatory which were imposed. They were ordered under $500 for superior court.

Found Not Guilty

Samuel Schwartz, charged with assault and battery on Philip Vagenheim was discharged upon a finding of not guilty. Both are tenants of the same yard on Chelmsford street. The complainant testified that Schwartz ordered his daughter out of her own yard because she was noisy and that when he tried to learn the cause of the trouble he was pushed up against a wall, receiving considerable scratching on his arm. The court found that Vagenheim was pushed aside by Schwartz's son who separated the two men from fighting.

Munchie Mouse was serving the cheese-cakes to Tingaling, Nancy and Nick, and the Magical Mushrooms, when a speaking-tube in the wall blew a shrill blast.

Munchie laid down the plate he was piling up with goodies and went to answer it.

"Hello," he called. "Yes, this is the janitor. Who? Oh, yes, Mrs. Squirrel. All right, just a minute, I'll call Mrs. Mouse."

Munchie had just served Nancy's plate and was beginning on Nick's when the whistle blew again. So over he went.

"Hello," he called patiently. "Mr. Who? Oh, yes, Mr. Coon. Yes, I sent your ice up at 6 o'clock this morning, just before the shower. No ice! That's queer! No shower either? That's queer too! Oh, I see how it was—you were late getting up, so the ice melted and made the shower. All right, you needn't pay the ice man. I'll pay him."

coffee and went to the speaking-tube.

"Why, Mrs. Squirrel, you didn't have any yellow and orange and green handkerchief in the wash this week, I'm sure," she declared after she had listened a minute to Mrs. Squirrel's complaint. "There was a white and red and red and blue table-cover, and a pink and lemon-colored roller-towel, and a dahlia and gooseberry-colored chair tidy, but no handkerchief like you say. What's that? You've just found it! Mr. Squirrel using it for a shoe cloth! My, My! Oh, that's all right, Mrs. Squirrel, no harm done."

SUN SPOTS TO BLAME FOR JAZZ WEATHER

BY GENE AHERN

Scientists claim that spots on the sun are responsible for the jazz weather we get on Sundays and vacations. Other scientists say the sun spots cause all the bawdy stunts that flourish in the summer, beginning with June, the month of marriages, and ending up with divorces in September.

So it's the sun spots, eh, that makes 'em get that way?

From now on it will be ham gravy for us to understand why bimbos will cavort around on a tennis oven at 103 in the shadows, and wear a handkerchief around their brow to keep the headache from scrambling. These same kookoos will guffaw with pity at a movie of a Hopi Indian unwinding himself loose from a family jawfest by dancing at high noon.

Also the sun spots explain why we go camping, risk our anatomy on a roller coaster, go on picnics, do high diving in knee water, bathe on the sand, wear flon taming shirts and neckties, take snapshots, send vacation postcards, and say, "well, is it hot enough for you," and buy used divorce.

Scientists' comeback is that in the winter the sun spots are out of range, and give us a chance to recuperate, and get back to parking level ideas in our thought garage during the winter scenario. Although some birds don't get over the effects of the summer sun spots, and insist on playing winter golf.

SUPPOSED REPUTABLE CITIZENS INVOLVED

EAST CAMBRIDGE, July 16.—Men who are looked upon as being reputable in business, and who are regarded as respected citizens in their communities, will have their names linked with those of motor thieves and receivers as a result of the investigation which Dist. Atty. Nathan A. Tufts of Middlesex county will have made by two of his assistants.

The present inquiry is an outgrowth of the prosecution which sent Samuel Harris, the kingpin of the new defunct illicit syndicate, to jail, and several lesser lights to state prison.

Asst. Dist. Atty. G. Stanley Harvey is under orders to conduct a recent investigation and then prosecute relentlessly in order to clean up some of the old work of the former Harris syndicate. The Middlesex county prosecutors declare that this investigation has nothing whatever to do with disclosures Herman L. Barney might have made to Asst. Dist. Atty. Henry P.

Second Race on Tomorrow

Continued

Adams, the cup yacht skipper, did not seem unduly chagrined over the accident that robbed him of a fine chance of victory.

Nat Herreshoff, designer and builder of the Resolute, made a careful inspection of the 70 footer and superintended the repairs on board. Herreshoff had no comment to make on the performance of the Shamrock IV. Sailors on the Resolute declared the Lipton challenger cannot lift the cup, pointing out that in the 13-mile heat to windward yesterday in light airs in which the Lipton sloop is supposed to show to best advantage, the Englishman, boat for boat without any advantage that might have come from a time allowance of 5 minutes, 40 seconds, which Resolute is allowed over a 30-mile course. The Shamrock's crew were happy today aboard their tender Killarney, while Sir Thomas Lipton beamed on board his steam yacht the Victoria.

The accident to Resolute, coming on

top of three other major mishaps earlier in the season—the loss of the mast off New Haven, the breaking of the jaws of the gaff and the carrying away of a topmast off Newport—had a tendency to shake the faith in the ability of the Herreshoff creation to hold together until the end of the season.

It was shown, however, in yesterday's race that the Resolute exhibited better weather qualities and that in the light airs she is several minutes faster up the breeze than Shamrock IV, although it was on just such a point of sailing and under just such conditions that the challenger was supposed to be superior.

The two yachts have yet to test their relative abilities down the breeze or broad off under large reaching sails. This is expected to come tomorrow in a 30-mile race over a triangular course.

It was also anticipated today that Designer Nicholson and Capt. Burton of Shamrock IV, would endeavor to obtain a re-measurement of the challenger in the hope of still further reducing the handicap time allowance, since it has been explained that the challenger is using much smaller club top-sail than was included in the original measurement of New York yacht club officials.

UNKNOWN MAN KILLED BY GUN SHOTS

NEW YORK, July 16.—An unidentified, well dressed man, who was found with five gunshot wounds in his body here early today, died as he was being hurried to a hospital. Miss Loretta Leroy, who took the man to the hospital in her limousine, told the police she found him in a dying condition and had him placed in her car by her chauffeur, Wilton Jackson, and an Italian, Pasquale Dinare.

After the slain man was taken into the hospital, a revolver was found in Miss Leroy's automobile, and she and her two companions were held by the police.

Belief was expressed by the police, however, that the victim was shot by a shotgun, because of the size of the wounds. Two shotguns were later found by the police in the basement of the house in front of which the man was picked up, and one of the weapons gave evidence of having been just discharged and reloaded. Five large holes also were found in the slain man's straw hat, indicating he had tried to shield himself when the weapon was discharged.

BELFAST HEARS OF SHAMROCK'S VICTORY

BELFAST, July 16.—News that the Shamrock IV, had won the first race against the Resolute in the series for the America's cup was received amid joyous scenes at Bangor Down last night, because in the event of the ultimate victory of Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht, future races will occur here. Large crowds there for the regatta being held during the present week awaited reports of the result of the race with intense interest.

HARDING'S SPEECH TO SOUND KEYNOTE

MARION, Ohio, July 16.—Senator Harding kept hard at work today on his speech of accepting the republican nomination for president. Although the address is not to be delivered until next Thursday, he kept his callers list at a minimum and devoted virtually all of his time to the manuscript in the hope of completing it by tomorrow night.

As an interpretation of the Chicago platform, the acceptance speech is expected to be the real keynote of the republican campaign. The candidate, therefore, is taking great care to make certain that it touches comprehensively on all the important issues and lays a broad basis for the party's fight for popular support.

He expressed confidence yesterday that the republican platform would be found progressive enough to command the support of both the farming and laboring classes.

Thomas Beaudry, and the Bazzick girl, who was called in by the Beaudry children when the dark clouds made their appearance. Mr. and Mrs. Beaudry were both at work in a local mill, the latter having started to work yesterday morning.

While the children were seated in the kitchen watching the progress of the storm, there was a loud report and the house shook. Then the children saw a ball of fire circling around them in the kitchen, disappearing in the dining room. A portion of the kitchen floor was ripped up, the linoleum in the dining room was badly torn, while the hard wood floor was ripped up for a space of several inches. As far as could be learned the bolt struck the chimney and worked its way into the kitchen, tearing a portion of the wall in one of the bedrooms upstairs. It also raised havoc in the cellar, practically demolishing the stairs and knocking several bricks out of the bottom of the chimney. The house rocked and in some portions of the building the woodwork was torn and split.

The little Bazzick girl, who was the nearest to the chimney when the bolt struck, was knocked down and stunned and the others were badly frightened, but uninjured. The Beaudry home, which is being erected by Mr. Beaudry during his spare moments, is not quite finished in the interior, but the work had reached a point so that the place was quite comfortable. It is estimated that the damage caused by lightning will reach several hundred dollars.

(Special to The Sun.)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 16.—Approximately 2500 ex-service men secured positions during the past year through the public employment offices conducted by the state, figures given out by the department of labor and industries indicate.

In contrast to this, the tabulation shows, there were about 2900 former army and navy men who applied for work but who are not listed as having landed on a job.

The variation is explained as follows:

"The small number of positions secured by service men, as compared with the number of men sent to places, shows what a difficult task it was to place many of them in permanent positions.

"Many of them had seen active service and lived in the open for nearly two years, and a number who had taken an indoor position in good faith found the confinement intolerable, and felt that they must work out of doors 'or suffocate,' as some expressed it. In many instances they summarily left their places of employment, without even informing their employers why they had done so, believing that it would be almost impossible to explain their seemingly abnormal state of mind. Consequently, these employers were disinclined to employ other ex-service men.

"When conversing with other men as to the position they desired, some of them did not hesitate to say that they expected to secure a better position than that held by them before they entered the service, and that they considered themselves of especial consideration on account of their service to the country. This view was only natural, and indeed the men were to be commended for their desire to improve their status in industry. They failed, however, to bear in mind that although their war experiences had given them a broader vision of life, yet such experiences could not be applied in any practical way to the business of earning a livelihood.

"From time to time it was reported that some employers had refused to re-employ men who left their employment for military or naval service. This may have been true in a few instances, but it was generally found that there was a ready response from employers when requested to hire returned service men, and that where one refused to do so there were scores willing to employ them." HOTT.

TOO VALUABLE

Premier Wants to Resign But President Says "No"

PEKING, July 16.—A striking example of the office seeking the man, or rather pursuing him, is afforded by the present cabinet situation. Premier Chin Yun-peng, who became leader of the "Chihli" political faction after the death of former President Feng Kuo-chang, wants to resign his post, but the president won't let him.

The ostensible reason of his desire to quit is the difficulty the government finds in financing itself. The real reason is said to be found in a contest which is in progress between the "Chihli" and "Anfu" factions, the latter being the post of premier.

For the third time the premier has tendered his resignation and three times the president has refused to accept it, offering in lieu a leave of absence, each resignation bringing forth a new extension of the leave. In the meantime Admiral 'Sah Cheng-peng, minister of the navy, is reluctantly filling the post of premier.

Much political maneuvering is going on under the surface and at the moment it is regarded as probable that Chin Yun-peng will eventually resume his post possibly with some changes in the ministries upon which he is said to be insisting.

ADJOURN WITHOUT PLANK OR CANDIDATES

CHICAGO, July 16.—Members of the committee of 48 who Wednesday bolted the fusion movement of the farmer-labor party last night, after a day of futile wrangling, adjourned with no arrangement made to put a separate presidential ticket in the field.

Adjournment was taken over the protest of a minority group and was only accomplished when the committee leaders turned out the lights and ordered the owners to clear the hall.

Prior to adjournment the leaders presented a report providing for the continuation of the organization in each state. The report was adopted. It makes no provision for a national ticket, but does provide that another national convention may be called at some future date.

Parley P. Christensen of Salt Lake City, presidential nominee of the farmer-labor party, threw the dying 48 convention into an uproar by sending it a message characterizing its actions as "foolish."

"Regardless of the action taken at this meeting, however foolish," Christensen's message said, "I am the candidate of the farmer-labor party and will continue in the race."

Three of the minority groups originally subscribing to the fusion movement were represented in today's meeting. Besides a part of the forty-eighters, leaders of the world war veterans' and people's party joined the bolt.

Of all the groups which joined the new party convention Tuesday, the only well-organized faction is left in the farmer-labor ranks, and that is the former labor party. The dominant farmer group in the amalgamation, members of the non-partisan league, stayed to the last, but their organization has repudiated the movement, refused to amalgamate, and has endorsed Senator Robert M. La Follette for president.

The single tax party, the first to withdraw, nominated its own ticket Tuesday night, and adopted a 49-word platform.

Will You FIGHT?

You have been called profiteers, robbers and what not by the public. Because YOU are the man the public deals with and NOT the makers and middlemen, the blame for the high cost of living is falling on YOUR shoulders. This is not fair. It is grossly unjust. But it is a FACT. And no wonder the public thinks you are guilty when you meekly accept the charge instead of FIGHTING it. Will you co-operate with us and other public-spirited merchants and help smash outrageously high prices, and prove that YOUR store, even now, while prices are still rising, can sell dependable goods at low prices? What if you do lose your profit and part of the cost of your goods? What if you do have to pay higher prices when you buy again? Isn't it worth MORE to you to be known as one who did YOUR part to smash high prices? We are in this fight to a finish with our 300 stores all over the U. S. A. Will you come in?

To the Determined Womenfolks of Lowell

It takes TWO to make a bargain. There are already many retail merchants who are trying to help pierce the bubble of high prices by giving you unheard of values. But unless you CO-OPERATE with these merchants you will have to bear the brunt of it all yourselves. We have taken an active part in this movement. We have closed our eyes to cost, value and profit. We are doing MORE than our share, but we do it GLADLY, because the public has responded enthusiastically. Now we are going to cap the climax of value-giving by beginning tomorrow a man Commercial Houses.

ALLEGED TRICKERY

CHRISTIANIA, July 16.—Norwegian business men have protested to the Berlin government against alleged trickery of German commercial concerns whose failure to deliver to Norwegians goods bought and paid for started official and unofficial inquiries which led the Norwegians to believe the delinquencies were deliberate.

Commercial intercourse between Norway and Germany had been steadily increasing. Due to the low exchange rate on German money, until recently when a number of Norwegian concerns were notified by the Germans with whom they had placed large orders that the merchandise could not be delivered because "the government had placed special export taxes which prohibited exportation at the prices at which the goods had been sold."

The Germans are said to have demanded additional sums ranging from 50 to 100 per cent of the prices they had quoted before they would fulfill their contracts.

The Norwegians frequently were compelled to pay the additional sums, having contracted to sell elsewhere the German products. However, complaints that Germans were using this method to evade the unfavorable rate of exchange became so frequent that Norwegian commercial organizations made official representations to Berlin, and it is said the Berlin government issued a statement that official cognizance would be taken of sharp practices by German business men in their international dealings. The government denied the export taxes complained of had been levied, or that other restrictions had been placed on export trade.

Newspapers here for several weeks have carried editorial criticisms of German business methods since the war, and several trade papers have declared the Germans eventually must feel keenly the effect of "commercial trickery," they are alleged to have practiced.

There also is widespread complaint against German life insurance companies operating in Norway and the Norwegian foreign office has been petitioned to protect policy holders who, it is charged, have been paid in marks when the policies call for payment in kroner. Hundreds of thousands of German life insurance policies are held here, especially among farmers.

In this connection it is pointed out that whereas 45,000 kroner, an average life insurance policy, before the war equalled 50,000 marks, the rate of exchange now made such a policy worth 375,000 marks.

THE SNOWDROP'S PRETTY LEGEND

Friendship in adversity, consolation and hope is the significance of the snowdrop in the language of flowers.

To Comfort Eve
The legend of how the snowdrop came to earth follows:

When Adam and Eve were driven from Paradise, Eve, overcome with sorrow and regret, wept bitterly. The Father was touched with pity and sent an angel to comfort her. While the angel was speaking to Eve, a snowflake fell upon her hand. Suddenly it was transformed into a delicate white flower. The angel bade Eve be of good cheer, and said "Let this flower be a symbol of the sunshine and summer that will come again." When the angel left, thousands of beautiful drooping blossoms sprang up where he had been standing.

Snowdrop Revived Hope
Another interesting tale is told about the snowdrop as a symbol of hope and consolation. During the Crimean war, the allied forces, while encamped before Sebastopol, were suffering severe privations and were very discouraged because of the extremely cold and long winter. One day, an excited trooper rushed into a tent, several snowdrops in his hands. The men were overjoyed by the appearance of these harbingers of spring and their hope and courage revived.

A summer farmers' week at the Massachusetts Agricultural college has become a fixed habit. Farmers' week always used to be held during the winter months until a few years ago when the idea of staging the meeting during the summer was suggested. Since then the summer farmers' week has become a habit and a good one.

There are two good reasons why this is so. In the first place the roads are good and in the second place there is something to see, and that after all is the important thing. It is so important, in fact, that the farmers' week this year will be based upon the theory that people want to see things. There will be lots to see and lots of opportunity of seeing them. Every day at 10 a. m. and again at 3 p. m. there will be trips under the guidance of some one familiar with things at the college, to some point or points of interest over the campus and college farms. No matter what a farmer may be growing or is interested in, he will be able to actually see these things under cultivation and can ask as many questions as he likes.

Monday night will be given over to the young people chiefly. There will be lots to interest the junior extension youngsters and they will have a fine time. Tuesday will be Hampshire Pomona day and will also include program for sheep and horse men. Wednesday the dairymen will be in their glory and along with them the State Poultry association will start its convention. Thursday the fruit growers will get together and also the swine breeders. Then, too, the poultry convention will still be going. On Friday tobacco and onions will be the main topic of discussion together with feed cattle in their relation to the tobacco and onions industry.

Women all through this interesting program is an immense amount of material of interest to women, programmed under the direction of the home economics department at the college.

The whole thing is complete; there will be something going all the time of interest to every member of the family from the kiddies down to their grandfathers and grandmothers, not only during the daytime but also in the evenings when interesting programs will be given including movies and addresses by prominent people.

Of course, such an excellent program as this will bring a big crowd to Amherst and just at present living conditions there are much as they are anywhere else. So the thing to do is to write to the college at once asking for a program and also sending a request that room reservation be made.

NEW YORK, July 16.—Slowly, surely, but surely, New York's east side is beginning to awaken to the fact that no real prosperity has come as the result of high wages.

The high cost of living, the mid-tendency of even the thrifty East Siders to spend easily earned money for extravagant clothes and pleasures, and the already felt pinch of the slowing down in domestic trade orders have all combined to bring to a halt the short-lived belief of these sweat shop workers that this was their "day," and that the world was about to lay its wealth at their feet.

Had Their Fyer

"Wages are high," they have argued with themselves. "They can't go down. We will have our fyer and then settle down."

They have had their fyer. They have worn silk shirts, fur coats, and much flattery. But now the silk shirts and fur coats are nearly worn out, wages are no higher than they were a year ago and the cost of living, if anything, has gone up.

The East Side of today is not appreciably any different than it was five years ago. Much costly food is displayed, but malnutrition cases are just as many at the clinics. High rents are being paid but housing conditions, if anything, are worse.

Factory girls are dressed in silks and steredores in tailor-made garments but there is just as much filth as ever in the streets.

Sales Drop Off

"No," said a Canal street shop-keeper to me. "They do not buy so well now. They shake their heads when I show them the silk dress marked down to $24.95 that last summer they did not think good enough."

"Yes, I am getting high prices," said a Tenth avenue curb fruit dealer. "But I sell so little I do not make enough to live on."

And so it appears that New York's East Side is about to settle down to some real saving and forget the illusions that came with the flood of work and high wages during the war and after the armistice.

LACK OF MORALS

IN BORDER STATES

MEXICO CITY, July 16.—Conditions in the northern border states of Mexico were characterized as immoral and disorderly by Roberto V. Pesqueira, financial agent for the Mexican government in the United States, in a statement he has just issued to the Mexican newspapers. Senor Pesqueira said the inscription which appears on signposts along the roads leading to Tijuana, Lower California, "To Mexico—the road to hell," was accurate. For a few years no one had been able to work with security in Chihuahua and, he added, "that in Juarez, as in Lower California, formerly there was enthroned rapine in all its forms. One single example would suffice to show the immorality that exists there. The gambling concession produced $11,500 monthly to the government, and the same concessionaires today are offering to pay $50,000 monthly for the same privilege."

Senor Pesqueira charged that Mexican laborers who crossed the line were being "villainously exploited" by labor agents, with the aid of the Mexican authorities. He likewise attacked the alleged practice of some American merchants who furnish office supplies to Mexican officials, of making out invoices for double the right amount. "This fact shows the robbery that is being systematically committed against the national treasury and illustrates to what point official corruption has reached," Senor Pesqueira commented.

FOREIGN SUGAR COMING TO U. S.

TOKIO, July 16.—Owing to scarcity of sugar in America large quantities of Formosan and Java crop are being exported to the United States by the Japanese shipping concerns. During March and April about 40,000 tons of Java sugar were sold to foreign merchants and a further supply of nearly 60,000 tons of Formosan and Java sugar have been contracted for by the American merchants. The goods are to be delivered at New York, Seattle, San Francisco and other ports.

SAYS RUSSIAN EMPRESS AND CHILDREN BURNED

PARIS, July 16.—The Russian empress and her children were burned alive after the execution of Emperor Nicholas at Ekaterinburg. It is alleged in statements attributed to Alexis Dolrovtz, formerly courier to the empress, published here today. Dolrovtz said he made vain attempts to save his mistress and her children.

The empress and the children, Dolrovtz declared, were taken to a wood near Ekaterinburg. Brush wood was gathered and a huge fire made, into which the royal victims were forced. Every time they sought to get out of the flames Dolrovtz said, they were driven back at the point of the bayonet.

Tatiana, the empress' second daughter, fled from the pyre three times and eventually fell pierced through by a bayonet. The empress and Alexis heir to the throne, clasped in close embrace, walked almost automatically into the flames and disappeared in a whirl of smoke, according to Dolrovtz.

LOWELL PICNICKERS ESCAPED STORM

The store clerks at the various beaches yesterday, were not as hard hit by the storm as were the people of Lowell who remained at home. At Revere, there was nothing but a sprinkle at noon, but in the evening, about 7 o'clock, after all had their fill of pleasure and were getting ready to start Lowellward, a storm broke over the seashore. Just at this time, most of the picnickers happened to be under cover having luncheon or awaiting the homeward call.

The Bon Marche employees had the time of their lives at Nantasket beach. There was something doing every minute. The success of the affair was due to Manager Gilmore, Advertising Manager Walker and Frank Sullivan, Mr. Walker being particularly active.

The clerks of all the stores declared that yesterday's outing was the best ever and they all look forward to a repetition of its pleasures next year.

FRENCH PRESIDENT'S HEALTH IMPROVED

PARIS, July 16.—Reports from Rambouillet that the health of President Deschanel is greatly improved, have been confirmed, says the Journal, which adds he probably will resume his presidential functions in September, in time to participate in the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the founding of the republic.

ANNUAL JULY SALE

DON'T WAIT

My new fall goods are on my tables for your inspection. I have more of them than you ever saw in a tailoring establishment in your life. They are here right now for your selection and the picking is the very best, as to prices. No house on earth can buy goods and linings at present market value and compete with my offerings, while they last.

You may place your order now, with the understanding you don't want it for any two months. Take advantage of this sale and get first pick. Pay for your garment when you get it. This keeps my men busy in the dull season and saves congestion later on. Unless tailors work eight hours a day only.

(Signed) MITCHELL.

MEN OF LOWELL—Give ear to this unusual event, with high prices surging over the land, and invading every avenue of trade, I am forced to take heroic action to make this sale the bargain event it has always been in the past nine years.

With the approach of the tailor's dull month of August, my problem is to keep my force as busy as possible. With that end in view, I figure to give more for the money than any man can reasonably expect any place in this city.

Wholeheartedly and with firm resolve, I sacrifice profits for this annual event. Regardless of Advancing Prices, irrespective of market conditions. This July sale must maintain its past reputation at all costs.

Thirty and Thirty-Five Dollar Suits $22.50 Made to Your Measure for

Here is the largest, newest, highest grade stock in men's fabrics in the city. Thousands of yards, hundreds of styles, new and fresh this season. Thirty Full Pieces of Wanskuk Serges ordered months ago and just received from the commission house, on my tables.

A WARNING—Look out for cotton mixtures next fall. This fabric will sell around thirty-five dollars a suit. It looks good—handles well and contains about 30 per cent cotton. I am not buying this class of merchandise, not while my present stock lasts.

I ask you to look me over at your earliest convenience and pick out what you want for the balance of this season, also your fall suit and overcoat. This sale is rich in the things you want. Blue Serges, Gray Worsteds, Green Homespun, Silk Mixtures, Black Worsteds, Pencil Stripes and Novelties. Even the Blacks, Blues and Dark Staples are included in this sale.

ROOSEVELT BACK IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy and democratic vice-presidential nominee, arrived in Washington today from his home in New York. He went direct to his office at the navy department relieving Admiral Coontz, chief of naval operations, who has been acting secretary during the absence of Secretary Daniels and Mr. Roosevelt.

Mr. Roosevelt will attend the conference Sunday between President Wilson and Governor Cox at the White House and will return to Dayton with the governor Sunday night for the meeting of the national committee Monday and Tuesday. He said plans would be made at this meeting for the speaking tours of the democratic candidates.

"In the north and northwest about 75 per cent of the newspapers are republican owned and controlled," said Mr. Roosevelt. "I feel that the best way we can overcome this handicap is to get out into these states. I also feel that the people are entitled to see the men they are asked to vote for."

"Will Governor Cox and yourself divide the country between you, one going east and the other west?" Mr. Roosevelt was asked.

"That has not been decided, but I should think it might be a good guess," the nominee replied.

Mr. Roosevelt said he would begin his speaking tour immediately after the notification ceremony. The date for this event has not been set, but Mr. Roosevelt believes it will take place at his home at Hyde Park, N. Y., either Aug. 7 or 9.

LITHUANIANS TO OCCUPY VILNA

WARSAW, July 15. By Associated Press.—Polish governmental authorities have agreed with the Lithuanians for the occupation of Vilna by Lithuanian troops, and this step will soon be taken, according to information received in military quarters. The surrender of Vilna to the Lithuanians was conceded by the soviet government of Russia some time ago, in negotiations between the two countries.

Fire Destroys Church

gaining an entrance through one of the windows, rang the church bell, calling the West Chelmsford fire department to the premises. As soon as Chief Fletcher arrived he sent an emergency call to Chief Saunders of the local department with the result that District Engine 6 was sent out, but when it arrived it was handicapped by the lack of water, and the blaze had made such progress that they concentrated their efforts on adjoining property and succeeded in preventing the spread of the fire. The church building, which was erected about 33 years ago and which was of wood construction, was completely destroyed, while none of the contents were saved.

Last evening, a big gathering took place on the lawn adjoining the church, the occasion being a lawn party under the auspices of some church society and the young and old folks enjoyed themselves until close to 11 o'clock. As soon as the party broke up some of the young women in charge of the affair brought back the chairs and settles of the church which had been taken out for the fête, into the building and after locking the doors went to their homes. At that time there was no sign of fire. The pastor of the church is Rev. John H. Parker.

PLAN DANCE HALL IN HOWE BUILDING

Bayard T. De Mallie, who recently took control of the Howe building, has been granted a permit to make alterations on the upper floor of the structure preparatory to opening a public dance hall in the former quarters of the local liberalian divisions. The permit calls for the removal of three partitions and the placing of truss rods on the roof timbers. John H. Johnson is to do the work and the estimated cost is $300.

U. S. OFFICERS WATCH BORDER OPERATIONS

LAREDO, Tex., July 16.—Speculation was rife here today as to the next move of a force of rebels which yesterday attacked Nuevo Laredo, the Mexican town opposite Laredo, and was driven off with casualties.

Since their repulse, no word had been received here as to the whereabouts of the band, said to number about 300 men, but local observers thought another attack would not be attempted.

American army officials were watching the situation closely. Reinforcements for the units here were reported en route to Laredo. Unofficially it was said eight or ten federal soldiers and one or more rebels had been killed.

The rebel band is understood to be under command of Ricardo Gonzalez, former general of the federal army and a nephew of General Pablo Gonzalez.

RUSSIANS GAIN IN NORTHERN SECTOR

LONDON, July 16.—Continued success of the Bolsheviks in their operations against the Poles along the northern sector of the front is announced in Thursday's official statement from Moscow, received by wireless today. The communique says:

"South of the river Vilia, in the Vilia region, we defeated the resisting enemy along the entire front. Our advance is continuing energetically."

(A special despatch from Kovno, received in London Thursday night, reported the occupation of Vilia by the Bolsheviks. This has not been officially confirmed, but Karay's advice today says the Poles have agreed with the Lithuanians for occupation of Vilia by Lithuanian troops. The signing of a peace treaty between Lithuanians and Soviet Russia was reported on July 15.)

George Priest of Belfast, Me., has just found in his garden, resting lightly between two hills of potatoes, a gold-mounted fountain pen that he lost last summer. Although it had been buried under the ground was hoed last fall and plowed and harrowed this spring, having evidently been brought to the surface during this summer's hoeing of the potatoes, it was in perfect condition for immediate use.

ette with hat to match and carried pink roses. The best man was Mr. Jack Lawson. PARIS, July 16.—The exchange of ratifications of the treaty of St. Germain, which established peace between the allies and Austria, took place this morning in the clock room at the foreign office. Jules Cambon presided over the ceremony.

Afterwards, St. Bartholomew, representing Czechoslovakia, signed the agreements for the protection of minorities within the former territory of the Austro-Hungarian empire.

against the government holding him in solitary confinement, and claim this is in violation of the provisions of the constitution of 1907. Legal action by which he can be protected is contemplated, it is understood.

A draft of a plan of revolution, providing for the ousting of all governmental departments functioning at present, was found in the pocket of Gen. Carlos Garcia, chief of staff to Gen. Gonzalez, according to a message from Gen. Trevino, chief of operations in Nuevo Leon, to Gen. P. Elias Calles, secretary of war, says the Herald. The project calls for the appointment of a new provisional president by congress when three-fourths of the states and Mexico City are controlled by the new regime. Frequent reference is made to the supreme chief of the revolution, but no name was mentioned in the draft, it is said.

SEEK DETAILS OF GONZALEZ'S ARREST

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., July 16.—Amplification of official reports that General Pablo Gonzalez, former candidate for the Mexican presidency, had been arrested in Monterey at the order of Provisional President De La Huerta on the ground that Gonzalez was the "intellectual director" of an alleged disloyal movement, was being sought by local Mexican consular officials today.

General Gonzalez has been a prominent figure in Mexican military affairs for several years. In the revolt against President Porfirio Diaz he took an active part and later was a military leader under provisional President Madero. He joined General Carranza in the latter's revolt against President Huerta.

Several months ago he became an active candidate to succeed President Carranza. When the recent victorious revolt against President Carranza began gaining momentum, General Gonzalez threw his forces with those of General Alvaro Obregon. In the political maneuvering which followed the fall of the Carranza regime, General Gonzalez announced the withdrawal of his candidacy.

The present charges against the general, according to President De La Huerta's communication are based upon his alleged activity in the military plans of several officers suspected of disloyalty. An attack on Monterey Wednesday and yesterday's unsuccessful efforts by General Ricardo Gonzalez to capture Nuevo Laredo, are mentioned in the statement, which says:

WOMAN'S GENIUS IS BACK OF SHAMROCK

BY DEAN SNYDER
A woman's genius may be the guiding hand that is to weave the destinies of the Shamrock IV.

She is Mrs. W. P. Burton, wife of the

skipper who is to be at the wheel of the challenger during the sailing struggle off Sandy Hook.

Mrs. Burton, an experienced and skilled skipper herself, often has been at the helm during the trials of the emerald green yacht.

"The sloop was a bit stiff when we first launched her, but she just needs a lot of sailing," says Mrs. Burton.

"Today the Shamrock is tuned up so that she responds to every ounce of breeze. She sails best in a 7 or 10-knot wind.

"Oh, yes," says the woman skipper, "I greatly admire the Resolute. Her beautiful lines and curves naturally appeal to a woman. Your American designers do not neglect to build a graceful looking craft. I call your cup defender the sailing white bird of paradise."

"Our Shamrock isn't what you Americans call pretty. I've heard some of you remark that she is the ugliest of any boat Lipton has sent over."

"She was built with enormous sail spread, and we expect to win with power," she says.

Mrs. Burton is like all English people—that is, she is very diplomatic and prefers to chat about the nice points of the Resolute rather than discuss the Lipton craft.

When sailing she wears a deep blue middie and sometimes it is stained with the salt water spray. She doesn't mind having her hair wind-blown in the least when she's yachting.

At the hotels she is a motherly looking woman and regards the mothering of the Shamrock's crew as one of her chief duties.

Regardless of the fact that she talks mostly of the Resolute, back of her studied English reserve her heart beats with the green Shamrock and the task that lies ahead.

MEN COMMUTE DAILY TO WORK IN AIRPLANES

NEW YORK, July 15.—About 100 business men scattered throughout the United States more or less regularly fly in airplanes between their homes in the country, at the mountains or the shore to their city offices, according to an estimate of the Manufacturers Aircraft association. The number of itinerant aerial "taxi-drivers" who carry passengers on short but remunerative flights is placed at some 300.

"There is a steadily increasing demand for aircraft of the commercial type," says a report made to the association. "but, contrary to some published reports, the demand does not equal the supply. Factories now in operation in the United States could construct ten times the number of aircraft which optimists estimate would be required this year."

A trip throughout the country taken by representatives of the association revealed some interesting views to which aircraft are being put. "In Seattle during the tourist season," the investigation reported, "a passenger airplane makes daily runs over and around Mount Rainier, flying at 20,000 feet, some 5,000 feet above the mountain."

"At the Santa Barbara seaside resort a flying boat is in daily operation over the channel, two of its most interesting passengers during the early part of this year having been the King and Queen of Belgium. Regular flights are being conducted over Southern California with a baby blimp."

"There is considerable agitation for an extension of the aerial forest patrol

of California, which has been instrumental in protecting life and property from fire loss. The California Rice Growers' association, which last year established a service patterned after the forest patrol over 16,000 acres of rice lands, has enlarged this service to guard double that acreage.

"Two flying boats are being used for transporting supplies from Seattle to a mining company in British Columbia."

SHOCKED BY LIVE ELECTRIC WIRE

As a result of being shocked by a live electric wire lying across the fence of the Bartlett school yard early last evening, Edward Vallerand, 12, of 21 Oliver street, is at the Lowell General hospital suffering from burns. He is not on the dangerous list, however. He and some companions were playing in the vicinity of the school yard when the wire fell.

Vallerand, it is said, caught hold of it and was thrown to the ground. He was taken to his home and then to the hospital.

SALES TAX DRIVE BY FLYING SQUADRON

BOSTON, July 15.—Four weeks of the special sales tax drive by the "flying squadron" of internal revenue deputies from the office of Collector John J. Mitchell have resulted in uncovering nearly $70,000 additional taxes in Boston alone, and several thousands more from other cities in the state.

Violations of various forms of tax were found in the investigations, but the greatest number of offenders were found to be smaller shopkeepers, who failed to secure or to return the proper amount of tax on ice cream and soft drinks.

Since the opening week of the campaign when one violation was found which would yield more than $20,000 additional to the government, and another of $5000 was uncovered, no very large amounts have been reported by the investigators, but from another part of the state came among other reports, a return of $1600 additional tax on a proprietor of a theatre.

aign," said Collector Mitchell discussing the activities of the deputies. "at least 1000 places in Boston alone have been visited by investigators and more than $65,000 additional taxes discovered."

"This drive is for the purpose of getting all of the delinquents on soda, ice cream, dance theatre jewelry and similar taxes payable every month. The canvass will include all soda fountains in drug stores, department stores, candy stores, cigar stores, hotels, restaurants, lunch rooms, club houses, fruit stores and even excursion boats. "Stores selling toilet and medicinal preparations will be included and it is found that stamps have not been properly fixed to the taxable articles sold the amount of tax due will be determined as closely as possible and the dealer will be required to purchase and destroy sufficient stamps to cover the tax."

"In cases where records have not been kept as required and which require the information required by investigating officers a penalty of five per cent and interest will be imposed, but a willful violation will mean prosecution."

This special sales tax drive is being conducted by the internal revenue bureau with 12 principal cities of the country as headquarters of "flying squadrons" which operate in adjoining districts in conjunction with the field forces working in their respective territories. In Boston the "drive" is being conducted by Assistant Supervisor H. L. Cather of Washington, who has charge of the general campaign in New England, and Assistant Supervisor P. H. O'Brien. The outside deputies of Collector Mitchell's field force are being directed by Chief Field Deputy Edward L. Murphy of Boston and are operating throughout the state under the same zone system that was organized for the income tax campaign.

"SIMPLY SCANDALOUS" HULL FOLKS SAY

BOSTON, July 16.—Girls, some 25 or 30 of them, from parts unknown, who, complainants to the Hull police say, have been strolling nonchalantly through Hull in nothing but sweaters, who go in bathing during the daytime in the upper half of men's bathing suits only, and during the night in their pajamas and nighties, are being sought by Sergeant Edward Butler for "indecent exposure."

The sergeant has been assigned to the case. For several days now complaints have been rife in Hull. But yesterday matters reached the breaking point. Accordingly Mrs. William Mace, proprietress of the Lake View Park Inn, put it up to the Hull police. Whitman's pond, she testified, is the favorite haunt of the "improperly clothed" bathers. She alleged that the girls coming from Westwood Grove, where they are summering, plunge into the pond in bathing uniforms utterly inadequate. Besides the inadequacy of their bathing suits the complainant alleged that their frolics are simply horrid.

For a case in point, Mrs. Mace mentioned that of a very young woman who marched from Westwood Grove to Lovell's corner in Hull attired in a sailor's white uniform—looking something like the navy poster: "I wish I were a man." She covered the mile distance between the two points as though it were nothing at all and seemed to enjoy the attention she was attracting.

and in anything, the complaints aver, that seemed handy, the girls—whole flocks of them—are wont to mingle in the waters of the pond, splashing each other and by their conduct accentuating the evil of their attire. Sergeant Butler started out to find the "I wish I were a man girl" but failed to discover her. However, the Hull police are on the lookout.

DENIES PROPAGANDA IN LAWRENCE SCHOOLS

LAWRENCE, July 16.—In a 48-page typewritten report submitted to the members of the school committee and made public yesterday, Superintendent of Schools Bernard M. Sheridan, answering charges filed with Mayor William P. White last April by members of John McBride branch, Friends of Irish Freedom, and which allege that British propaganda is rampant in the public schools here, declares that "firm in the belief that the charges presented are groundless," those "to whom the parents of American children have entrusted their education point to their record for devotion to peace and in war to the cause of thorough scholarship and the highest ideals of American democracy," and "ask and expect the full, helpful and discriminating confidence of the community which they are proud to serve."

The charges filed with the mayor and referred by him to the school committee, which in turn turned them over to Superintendent Sheridan for investigation, alleged in substance that the public schools here are used as a medium for the spread of British propaganda and of propaganda in favor of the league of nations, and a list of text books and periodicals used in the schools were quoted from to substantiate this claim.

"Because I have felt the importance of assembling an abundance of testimony that no kind of propaganda exists in the schools, the report is necessarily a long one," says Superintendent Sheridan. Each charge is then discussed at length and in a summary it is pointed out that the national security league, alleged to be a medium for the propaganda, "has had absolutely no connection with the schools since July 1, 1915," and that the only connection they ever had with the organization was "through the Lowell Normal school." On the matter of text books the report says that "sentences had been lifted from their context and thus made to convey a meaning that served the purpose of the critics," but that in every instance a reading of the full context destroys any suspicion of bias.

SAYS ACTION EFFECTS TRAFFIC FROM LOWELL

WOBURN, July 16.—William J. Murphy, president of the Woburn Carpenters' union, protested yesterday against the announced intention of the Bay State trustees to reduce the number of cars operating about Woburn. This action will throw 35 or 40 men out of employment.

The districts to be affected are: Between Woburn and Winthrop square, Medford; between Woburn and North Woburn, and between Woburn and Billerica. Under the new schedule cars will be run on the half-hour instead of the quarter-hour basis. A feature of the new plan is that Woburn cars will be run only to Winthrop square, Medford. Instead of to Sullivan square, as at present, forcing a change of cars at Medford to the Elevated.

The changes are to become effective July 22, and also on that date a one-man car will be operated between Woburn and North Woburn, the first to appear in this district.

In his protest Murphy said: "The Bay State company issues financial statements of a deficit in the Chelsea division, but does not tell the public here that the Woburn division is one of the best paying of the whole service. No excuse exists for cutting the service in this city. The road is hardly able to handle the traffic that now comes into Woburn from Billerica and points north."

Charles Murray, who lends the Amsterdam avenue gate of Trinity cemetery on Washington Heights, N. Y., is on the job every day, winter and summer, although he is 103 years old.

Plum Island Beach

The United Shoe Machinery Band—30 men strong—will lead the way to Plum Island Beach Sunday afternoon. A specially selected program will be presented at the Pavilion, commencing at 3 o'clock and continuing with a brief intermission until 5 p. m.

The music of this magnificent band will be as free to all as the music of the surf on the incoming tides.

Have You Ever Seen Plum Island?

Plum Island lies just off the North Shore, extending for nine miles along the Coast from Ipswich to Newburyport. It is completely surrounded by salt water, being bounded by the Plum Island River, Ipswich Bay, Merrimac Bay and the Atlantic Ocean.

The Island is connected at its northerly end with the town of Newbury, by the Plum Island Turnpike, and a bridge over the River. Electric cars from Market Square, Newburyport, run straight to the Island, and the Company's office. A good dirt road, called Ocean Avenue, leads direct from the Boston State Road to the Island.

We are developing this Island as a place for high-class seashore homes; where people may escape the wicked heat of the cities, and forget the swelter of daily toil. Here you may boat, bathe and fish and revel in the luxury of ocean breezes, gorgeous sunsets, and all the wholesome enjoyments which Nature so lavishly bestows.

More than three hundred families are now living on the Island as owners not only of their cottages, but the ground as well, on which they stand.

The Plum Island Beach Company

is developing as a fine high-class seashore resort, the northerly end of the Island. The company is building a new boulevard one mile and three quarters long through the Island; and has for sale along its course, some five hundred house lots. Every lot is either on the ocean front, or has a good view of the water, and is within a few minutes' walk of the beach.

Give your family what they deserve, a summer home at the seashore, and at the same time build up your own health so as to better fit yourself to cope with your daily work.

COME, ENJOY IT WITH THE HUNDREDS WHO ARE DOING SO

The prices at present are $500 for inside lots and $1000 for ocean front lots. They may be purchased on very easy terms, or if CASH is paid, a TEN PER CENT DISCOUNT will be allowed.

Nowhere else on our beautiful North Shore can you find any such land at any such price or on such terms. Buy early and get your choice.

PLAIN "JIM" TO HIS OLD PALS

"None of That," He Tells Home-Town Folk Who "Mister" Him

Business Dull in Jacksonburg But Presidential Candidate Helps Some

N.E.A. Staff Special
JACKSONBURG, O., July 15.—Jacksonburg is passing away. Its two hotels are gone. Its thriving pork industry has departed. Its population has dwindled to 50, or thereabouts. The tragedy of its passing is like that of a thousand other American villages. Its children have gone away to the cities to "see life," to make money, to work in factories and in offices, to practice medicine and law, to teach, and to marry.

But the other day its favorite son, Jimmy Cox, came back as a candidate for president of the United States!

Still Jim in Old Home

And he stopped at the house of Agnes Margerum (now Breitenbecher) with whom he went to school and who lives just across the road from the house in which he was born.

"Call again, Mr. Cox," said Agnes Margerum.

"None of that, Agnes," said Jim Cox, raising a reproving hand. "I am not Mr. Cox here."

"Jim," she answered softly and though her eyes were a bit filled with tears they could see as plainly as anything down through the years when she and Jimmy were the leading actors in "The Hoosier Schoolmaster" that was given for the benefit of the school, Jimmy playing the part of "Mr. Pierson," the one-legged veteran while she was "Mrs. Pierson."

Jacksonburg today is a little cluster of houses on a road, six miles from Middletown and at the far end stands the house in which Cox was born. And Alf Thomas, Cox's cousin, points out the very room on the first floor front where the candidate for president first raised his voice, crying shrilly.

Alf Thomas works on Cox's farm and his shoes are caked with soil. And so, before he approaches the room, he takes off his shoes and enters in his stocking feet, lest he scratch the polished hardwood floors with which Cox has replaced the old rough timbers.

Room He Was Born In

It's like a shrine to Alf; the scene of a great miracle. He is awed by the wonder of this: That the little boy he hunked corn with on this very farm some 40 years ago should have come up from the soil to contest for the rulership of the republic.

He looks across the broad acres and beyond the years to the place and the time he and Jimmy—a barefoot child scarcely past 12—drugged together in the field under the hot summer's sun.

It was work, work, work, from morning to night and never a complaint from the boy, he says. Up at day-break and at work till dusk! That was the endless program for Jimmy Cox and Alf Thomas, with no vacations.

And on Sunday mornings to church

Alf Thomas (lower left), cousin of Presidential Nominee Cox, who worked with Cox in the fields when they were both boys, can tell the history of the home where Cox was born, in Jacksonburg, O. (Upper center). Mrs. Agnes Margerum Breitenbecher (left) was a schoolmate of Cox. Picture on the right is of Cox when he was three years old. The ledger of the main store in Jacksonburg still contains a charge entry against James Cox, made in 1885 (lower right).

to dust the pews, and sweep out and, in the winter time, to start the fire, for Jimmy Cox was janitor of the United Brethren Congregation.

Then Alf Thomas, still in his stocking feet, leads the way to the second floor

to the room that was Jimmy's bedroom. But it's much changed now and, indeed, the whole house is changed, except for the great fireplace in the room that was the kitchen where Jimmy Cox popped corn and except for the mantel in the room that he was born in.

He has spent much to improve the house, but these cherished things have remained untouched. With antique furniture (the bedsteads are great four-posted affairs) and with antique pictures and antique chinaware and kettles and andirons, he has kept there the spirit and the style of the time in which his grandfather, Gilbert Cox, built the house.

And Alf Thomas points out the painted picture of Gilbert Cox that hangs on the wall of the room wherein Cox was born, while close by hangs a portrait of Cox's grandmother and on another wall a likeness of Jimmy Cox himself at three.

"Knowing the democratic candidate to be an excellent man, I cannot do otherwise than vote for him," explains Alf Thomas, as he puts his shoes back on, for he is now out again in the field where he and Jimmy used to work till the sun set and Jimmy's eyes were heavy with sleep.

Like Old Reader Story

And perhaps Agnes Margerum remembers the old story in McGuffey's reader in which the old mother waits for the return of her favorite boy who has gone to far countries to win fame and fortune.

Then when she is on her deathbed he comes back rich and famous and she dies content because her eyes have seen the glory of her dreams fulfilled.

That's Jacksonburg

Hither come the pilgrims now to view the tiny, forgotten hamlet where a presidential candidate was born; and they call on Agnes Margerum, she who now is Mrs. Breitenbecher, and who went to school with Jimmy Cox, to ask her what sort of a boy he was and what he looked like and was he smart at school.

Cox Was Inquisitive Boy

"We were in the same room in school," she says. And then she goes on to tell how he was always at the head of his class; and how he was ever asking the teacher questions when others were saying nothing; and how he would pore over Venable's School History of the United States and read about the presidents and the Civil war which was then still a new story; and how after school he would often call on an old soldier to consult with him about the battles and to argue disputed points.

"He's a forward kind of a boy," the veteran once said to a relative of Jimmy.

"You don't understand that boy," replied Jimmy's relative. "He's just set on learning."

And Agnes Margerum Breitenbecher says it's wonderful, truly, that in its declining years, Jacksonburg should win national renown because of this boy who was born here and become a place of pilgrimage to which come those who still love the tradition of the homespun old-fashioned America that grew its great men on farms.

Then, after they have spoken to her and inspected the house Jimmy Cox was born in, these pilgrims wander down the road to James Shafer's general store to chat with Shafer about these Jimmy days.

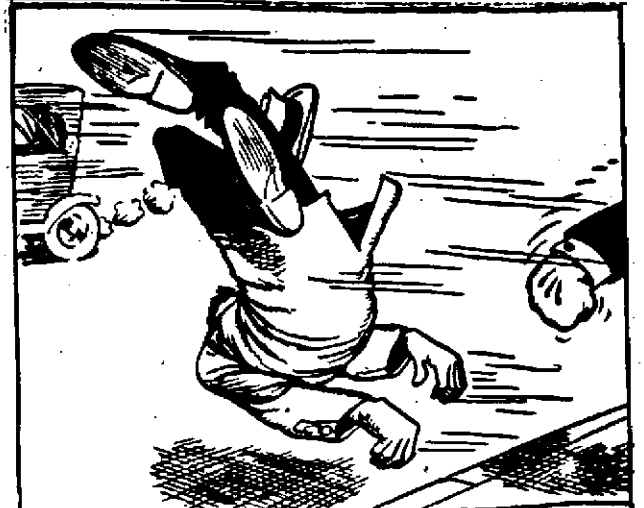

Shafer is an authority on Jimmy. To his store the boy would come to buy groceries for his mother and to stop and listen to debates that went on around the cracker barrel or the stove, and occasionally to venture a question; or to listen to ghost stories that old-timers told, until, as Shafer says, Jimmy was afraid to go home alone.

And there are items that show that on Feb. 12, 1885, Jimmy bought a pen for a cent, and on April 26, he bought blue for 30 cents. Here are the very items:

To Pen by James, $0.1

To Royal blue by James $20.

"That was Jimmy himself," explains Shafer.

When the visitor goes to the church where Cox was janitor and wanders back into the churchyard where his grandparents rest and scans the faded epitaphs on their tombstones, the one inscribed to his grandmother, reading thus:

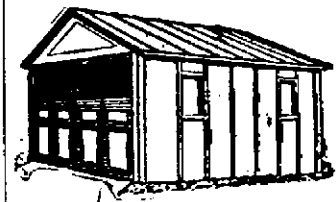

"Sweet is the sleep our mother takes. Till in Christ Jesus she awakes. Then will her happy soul rejoice To hear the blessed saving voice."

Jacksonburg's hotels are gone; and also the blacksmith shop and the pork industry—but "what matters that, after all?" ask the village folks. Jacksonburg's pride is in the children who have gone away and made good, whether in the factory, or as doctors, or lawyers, or in the household, and may-

Frank M. Clark of Hedley, Tex., had just received $5000 insurance on the life of the largest hog in the world, which died on his Silver Crest farm. Not long ago Mr. Clark refused $5000 for the animal. This herd boar of Mr. Clark's weighed 1125 pounds, was 1 years old, and was registered as Mc's Big chief, 331,253.

Buy Options On German Marks Good for Six Months

The fact that German money is selling at a small fraction of its normal value should convince even the most skeptical that purchases now offer a wonderful opportunity for large profits. Exchange experts predict a sharp advance within the next few months.

100,000 MARKS CAN BE CONTROLLED FOR $400.00

Buying options limits your risk as the original cost constitutes your entire liability. The cost of an option involves the use of about one-sixth as much money as would be required to buy marks outright. Should the marks held on option advance to only one-half normal value the returns on $50.00 would be over $100.00.

Send remittance, stating number of marks you wish to option at above rates. We urge prompt action as exchange fluctuates rapidly. Send for explanatory circular.

Buy Options on German Marks GOOD FOR SIX MONTHS

The report that German money can be bought now at about one-tenth of its normal value should convince everyone, as it offers opportunities for great profits. Exchange experts prophesy a sharp advance within the next few months.

10,000 Marks can be controlled for $50.00
100,000 Marks can be controlled for $400.00

The buying of options limits your risk as the original cost comprises all your liabilities. Even should the option advance one-half of the nominal value the profit would be over $300.00 for every $50.00 invested.

Send your money order stating the amount of Marks which you want to buy on option. We advise quick action as the fluctuation is rapid. Send for circulars with particulars.

EIGHTEEN COUNTRIES IN OLYMPIC GAMES

ANTWERP, July 15.—Entry lists for the athletic contests at the Olympic games closed yesterday and were issued today by the executive committee. Show only 18 countries will participate. Accepted, however, were expected from several others including France, Norway, Australia, New Zealand and Japan, but their lists have not arrived, either because of mail or other delays or clerical errors. China, British India, Yugoslavia and Mexico also failed to appear in the list.

It is the general opinion in Olympic circles that the rule calling for the closing of the entries one month before the events take place will not be too closely enforced as clerical errors have been frequent and it is known that many of the entries from the Far East, have been greatly delayed. The nations listed for the athletic contests are Canada, Chile, Egypt, Denmark, Finland, France, Great Britain, Ireland, Hungary, Greece, Holland, Italy, Luxembourg, Poland, South Africa, Sweden, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia and Estonia. Lists of individual competitors are not yet available.

Entries for the fencing, tennis, classical pentathlon and wrestling closed today and the entry list for rowing events, which closes this week, was made available. Fourteen countries will compete in the fencing contests, 11 in tennis, seven in the classical pentathlon, 11 in rowing, and 12 in wrestling. Although entries for rugby football will not close for two weeks, not more than 10 teams are expected to appear in this sport, like golf, may be abandoned in this year's games. Two revised lists in the target archery competition show the United States, Finland, Great Britain and Holland among the entries. Canada, Denmark and Finland have been added to the trap shooting lists, which are closed in a few days. Greece has been added to the rifle and pistol lists, leaving four entries, the United States, Spain, Belgium and Great Britain.

Boxing entries which were made available tonight, showed competitors from the United States, France, Holland, Belgium, South Africa and Switzerland. The British and Great Britain were not shown on the list, but it is understood they will enter candidates in this event.

"My horse ran out of gasoline," was Tom Braden's answer to a query as to how come it that Little Prince didn't get a piece of the money, and Tom said the without faulting an eye, at Northampton next week and many local-lovers of the sport have expressed their intention to see the races there.

NEW YORK, July 16.—"Bang" Ruth, star batter of the New York American league club, knocked out his 23th home run in the home against St. Louis yesterday, equalling the major league record he made last year.

Ruth took but little more than half the season to equal the record. He failed to pound out a circuit smash in April but made an even dozen both in May and June. His best performance came in the home game against St. Louis on June 2, inclusive, in which period he added 10 to his total.

His banner day was June 2, when he hit four home runs in a double-header. He bunched a pair of his favorite four-bash hits in one contest on four occasions, May 11, May 27, June 25 and June 30.

His record for 1920 follows: No. 1—May 1, Pitcher Pennock, Boston team in New York. No. 2—May 2, Pitcher Jones, Boston; in New York. No. 3—May 11, Pitcher Wilkinson, Chicago; in New York. NOT MY WAY OF WINNING, PETER COLEY TAKES $3000 TROT STAKE SAYS SIR THOMAS

TOLEDO, O., July 16.—Two favorites and two outsiders cashed in at Post Miami Park yesterday, where the Grand Circuit meeting was resumed after a day's postponement. The veteran Single G. again took the fast pacers into camp, but the old horse had to go an extra heat to vanquish Grace Direct.

Peter Coley, the Findley stallion, which won the Ohio stake at North Randall, was the big money earner of the day, beating the field in the $3000 Trot, a newspaper published in Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court.

Witness George F. Lawton, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this first day of July, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty.

Single G was a top favorite for the first race and the old horse came from behind in the first heat and beat Grace Direct driving in 2:25 1/2, the last quarter in 29 1/2 seconds. He set the pace in the second and Grace Direct came out from behind in the stretch and was hit down, winning in 2:24 1/2, the last mile in 53 1/2 seconds.

In the final they headed to the half, then split and Single G won, pacing the last half in 53 1/2 seconds. This is the third successive year that he has won the free-for-all pace over the local track.

Peter Coley $200, Brushfield $50, Peter June $40, Direct $30, Grace Direct $20 and the field $30 was the average selling on the 2:30 stake. The Canadian mare, Lou Todd, sprinted out in front and led all the way in the second heat, but Peter Coley no trouble in stalling off the rush of Peter June and Brushfield in the stretch. It was Peter Coley all the way in the final, with Brushfield coming last at the end and landing the place.

The first favorite to be upset was Esther R. In the 2:05 pace Murphy's mare never having a chance to beat the Western star, Royal Star. The second first choice to be bowled over was Job Commodore, who won two races last week at North Randall. Lou Todd again led in the early part of the second mile, but Peter Coley held all the way and this time had no trouble in stalling off the rush of Peter June and Brushfield in the stretch. It was Peter Coley all the way in the final, with Brushfield coming last at the end and landing the place.

The victory gave him no feeling of exultation. He accepted congratulations tendered him, but his interest in the products of the next race called his confidence in Shamrock for future showings was far more marked than his first day's race.

THOUSANDS HONOR CALVIN COOLIDGE
PLYMOUTH, Vt., July 16.—This town yesterday passed through the greatest day in its history when thousands of Vermonters came by automobile, by surrey, by buckboard, by buggy, on horseback and afoot to visit Gov. Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts at the home of his birth and boyhood. The sun shone brilliantly on the assembled throng, as it showed its appreciation of the honor the republican party paid to Vermont's great son.

The highest pitch of patriotic fervor was reached when the Ludlow band, led by Frank W. Agan, a candidate for the republican nomination for Governor of the state and himself a native of Plymouth, marched over the road facing the porch of the Coolidge house, on which were the Governor and Mrs. Coolidge. At the head of the procession was the American flag, borne by the rugged, upstanding John C. Coolidge, the governor's father.

CHIEF REMEDIES FOR HIGH LIVING COST
CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 16.—Public ownership and democratic management as the chief remedies for the high cost of living were the main demands in the campaign of Max S. Hayes, vice presidential candidate of the new farmer-labor party, who has returned from the Chicago convention.

Hayes declared that the new party was arranging to conduct an "aggressive, fighting campaign."

"The time is ripe for the organization of a great third party in this country," he said. "We have a platform that appeals to labor and agriculturists as well as to the business and professional men. It's a party of land and brain workers."

"I shall make one of the paramount issues of my campaign the punishment of profiteers."

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 16.—Stocks were under further restraint at the opening of today's session, largely as a result of yesterday's sudden advance of call money to 11 per cent. Crucial Steel, which led yesterday's sharp setback of prices, made an initial decline of two points. Granger railway shares were heavy, despite very favorable crop prospects. Illinois Central and Great Northern yielded a point each and most specialties eased fractionally. A brief rally within the first half hour was led by oils and metals.

The early rally failed to hold, renewed offerings of steel, oils and copper, forcing many leaders under final prices of the previous session. A few stocks were conspicuous for their strength, however, including American Steel, which gained six points on a few sales, Stromberg 2 1/2, May Department stores 2, and Sumatra Tobacco 1 1/2. The 9 per cent. opening quotation for call money represented the highest initial rate of the week, and pointed to a possible advance over yesterday's maximum figure. Exchange on London was 1 1/2, higher for cables and demand bills.
